Whiteness Interrupted Marcus Bell, 2021-06-28 In Whiteness Interrupted Marcus Bell presents a revealing portrait of white teachers in majority black schools in which he examines the limitations of understandings of how white racial identity is formed Through in depth interviews with dozens of white teachers from a racially segregated urban school district in Upstate New York Bell outlines how whiteness is constructed based on localized interactions and takes a different form in predominantly black spaces He finds that in response to racial stress in a difficult teaching environment white teachers conceptualized whiteness as a stigmatized category predicated on white victimization When discussing race outside majority black spaces Bell s subjects characterized American society as postracial in which race seldom affects outcomes Conversely in discussing their experiences within predominantly black spaces they rejected the idea of white privilege often angrily and instead focused on what they saw as the racial privilege of blackness Throughout Bell underscores the significance of white victimization narratives in black spaces and their repercussions as the United States becomes a majority minority society

Whiteness and Racialized Ethnic Groups in the United States Sherrow O. Pinder, 2012-01-01 Whiteness and Racialized Ethnic Groups in the United States in order to account for the never ending discrimination toward racialized ethnic groups including First Nations blacks Chinese and Mexicans revisits the history of whiteness in the United States It shows the difference between remembering a history of human indignities and recreating one that composes its own textual memory More specifically it reformulates how the historically reliant positionality of whiteness as a part of the everyday practice and discourse of white supremacy would later become institutionalized Even though whiteness studies with the intention of exposing white privilege has entered the realm of academic research and is moving toward antiracist forms of whiteness or at least toward antiracist approaches for a different form of whiteness it is not equipped to relinquish the privilege that comes with normalized whiteness Hence in order to construct a post white identity whiteness would have to be denormalized and freed of it of its presumptive hegemony
