The Flush Times of Alabama and Mississippi; a Series of Sketches Joseph Glover Baldwin, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1854 edition Excerpt EXAMINING A CANDIDATE FOR LICENSE Some time in the year of Grace 1837 or 8 during the session of the Circuit Court Of N Mississippi Mr Thomas Jefferson Knowly made known to his honor his K s respectful desire to be turned into a lawyer Such requests at that time were granted pretty much as a matter of course Practising law like shinplaster banking or a fight was pretty much a free thing but the statute required a certain formula to be gone through which was an examination of the candidate by the Court or under its direction The Judge appointed Henry G and myself to put him through a task we undertook with much pleasure Jefferson or Jeff as he was called for short had been lounging about the court house for some time refreshing his mind with such information as he could thus pick up on the trial of cases and from the discussions of the bar in reference to the laws of his country Having failed in the drygoods line at the cross roads he was left at leisure to pursue some other calling without being disturbed by any attention to his bill book He had taken up a favorable opinion of the law from the glimpses he had got of its physiognomy and having borrowed an old copy of Blackstone went to work to master its contents as well as he could He had reached about thirtyfive years when this hallucination struck him He was a stout heavy fellow with a head that Spurzheim might have envied though the contents thereof did not give any new proof of Spurzheim s theory He was not encumbered with any learning He had all the apartments of his memory unfilled and waiting to be stored with law An owl like gravity sat on him with a solemnity like the picture of sorrowing affection on a tombstone He was just The Flush Times of Alabama and Mississippi Joseph G. Baldwin, 2017-10-13 LARGE PRINT EDITION title The Flush Times Of Alabama and Mississippi By Joseph G Baldwin SOME of these papers were published in the SOUTHERN LITERARY MESSENGER and having met with a favorable reception from the Public and a portion of the Press the author has yielded to the solicitations of his own vanity and other flattering friends and collected them in a volume with other pieces of the same general character The scheme of the articles he believes to be original in design and execution at least no other work with which he is acquainted has been published in the United States designed to illustrate the periods the characters and the phases of society some notion of which is attempted to be given in this volume The author under the tremor of a first publication felt strongly inclined to offer a sneaking apology for the many errors and imperfections of his work such as the fact that the articles were written in haste under the pressure of professional engagements and amidst constant interruptions and that he has no time or opportunity for correction and revision But he anticipated the too ready answer to such a plea If you had no time to write well why did you write at all Who constrained you If you were not in dress to see company why come unbidden into the presence of the public Why not at least wait until you were fit to be presented He confesses that he sees no way to answer these tough questions unless the apology of Falstaff for rushing into the presence of King Hal before he had time to have made new liveries stained with travel and sweating with desire to see him be a good one as inferring the zeal he had to see him the earnestness of affection the devotion but in poor Jack s case not to deliberate not to remember not to have patience to shift him was not a very effectual excuse for his coming out of sorts and we are afraid that that other Sovereign the Public is not more facile of approach or more credulous of excuses for unfortunately the ardor of an author s greeting is something beyond the heat of the Public s reception of him or as Pat expresses it the reciprocity of feeling is all on one side Without apology therefore he gives these leaves to the winds with that feeling of comfort and composure which comes of the knowledge that let the venture go as it may he loses little who puts but little at hazard From Greenhouse to Icehouse

Donald R. Prothero, Linda C. Ivany, Elizabeth A. Nesbitt, 2003 The marine Eocene Oligocene transition of 34 million years ago was a critical turning point in Earth s climatic history when the warm high diversity greenhouse world of the early Eocene ceded to the glacial icehouse conditions of the early Oligocene This book surveys the advances in stratigraphic and paleontological research and isotopic analysis made since 1989 in regard to marine deposits around the world In particular it summarizes the high resolution details of the so called doubthouse interval roughly 45 to 34 million years ago which is critical to testing climatic and evolutionary hypotheses about the Eocene deterioration The authors goals are to discuss the latest information concerning climatic and oceanographic change associated with this transition and to examine geographic and taxonomic patterns in biotic turnover that provide clues about where when and how fast these environmental changes happened They address a range of topics including the tectonic and paleogeographic setting of the Paleogene specific issues related to the stratigraphy of shelf deposits advances in recognizing and correlating boundary sections trends in the expression of climate change and patterns of faunal and floral turnover In the process they produce a valuable synthesis of patterns of change by latitude and environment A Report on Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant, January 1, 1974-June
