Mit Moerike Und Mozart:

Mit Mörike und Mozart Albrecht Goes, 1988 Hugo Wolf and his Mörike Songs Susan Youens, 2000-06-22 Viennese composer Hugo Wolf produced one of the most important song collections of the nineteenth century when he set to music fifty three poems by the great German poet Eduard Mörike Susan Youens reappraises this singular collaboration to shed new light on the sophisticated interplay between poetry and music in the songs Wolf is customarily described as the Poet's Composer someone who revered poetry and served it faithfully in his music Yet as Youens reveals this cliché overlooks the rich terrain in which his songs are often at cross purposes with his chosen poetry Although Wolf did much to draw the world's attention to the neglected Swabian poet his musical interpretation of the poetry was also influenced by his own life psychology and experiences This book examines selected Mörike songs in detail demonstrating that the poems and music each have their own distinctive stories which at times intersect but also diverge Mozart's Journey to Prague and Selected Poems

Levin, 2008-11-15 What happens when operas that are comfortably ensconced in the canon are thoroughly rethought and radically recast on stage What does a staging do to our understanding of an opera and of opera generally While a stage production can disrupt a work that was thought to be established David J Levin here argues that the genre of opera is itself unsettled and that the performance of operas at its best clarifies this condition by bringing opera's restlessness and volatility to life Unsettling Opera explores a variety of fields considering questions of operatic textuality dramaturgical practice and performance theory Levin opens with a brief history of opera production opera studies and dramatic composition and goes on to consider in detail various productions of the works of Wagner Mozart Verdi and Alexander Zemlinsky Ultimately the book seeks to initiate a dialogue between scholars of music literature and performance by addressing questions raised in each field in a manner that influences them all
