Mixed International Arbitration Studies In Arbitration Between States And Private Persons:

Mixed International Arbitration Stephen J. Toope, 1993-01-01 This book focuses on the process of arbitration between States and private persons On the basis of an examination of this process particularly the manner through which tribunals are created and by which they render judgment the author assesses the role of the parties the relative importance of their interests the sources of law and the role of the adjudicator Part one is an exploration of some central difficulties both theoretical and practical that arise in mixed international arbitration In the forefront of these is the question of the applicable law and particularly the question of the delocalisation of both the procedural and the substantive law Part two contains extensive studies of the three most important regimes of mixed international arbitration currently in operation the International Chamber of Commerce the World Bank Centre for the Settlement of Investment Disputes and the Iran US Claims Tribunal

International Contracts and National Economic Regulation: Dispute Resolution Through International Commercial Arbitration Mahmood Bagheri, 2000-12-06 The growth of national economic regulation and the process of globalisation increasingly expose international transactions to an array of regulations from different jurisdictions These developments often contribute to widespread international contractual failures when parties claim the incompatibility of their contractual obligations with regulatory laws The author challenges conventional means of dispute resolution and argues for an interdisciplinary approach whereby disciplines such as international economic law conflict of laws contract law and economic regulations are functionally united to resolve international and multifaceted regulatory disputes He identifies the normative foundation of contract law as an important determinant in this process contending that contract law is essentially neutral and underpinned by the concept of corrective justice while economic regulations are mainly prompted by distributive justice Applying this corrective distributive justice dichotomy to international contracts the author critically assesses major conflict of laws approaches such as proper law the Rome Convention and governmental interest analysis which could disregard either public interest or private rights The author taking these theories into account proposes an alternative two dimensional interest analysis approach He tests the viability of this approach with reference to arbitral awards and court decisions in various jurisdictions and concludes that it uniquely fits into the structure of international commercial arbitration In adopting this approach arbitrators would take into account both corrective and distributive justice and to the extent that corrective justice prevails would be able to avert a total failure of the contract

The Settlement of International Disputes Nii Lante Wallace-Bruce, 2023-09-20 The first part of this book deals with the general principles relating to international disputes settlement It starts by looking at the nature of an international dispute in contemporary international law and by discussing the principles governing the ascertainment of the existence of an international dispute It then moves on to a consideration of the diplomatic means of an international dispute settlement The book not only focuses on the peaceful means but also considers other means in particular countermeasures A separate chapter is devoted to the International Court of Justice enabling in depth treatment of the issues The book critically analyses the cases in which Australia and New Zealand have been involved first as applicants and then as respondents thereby assessing the contributions made by these two countries to the development of the law relating to international disputes settlement

Carbonneau on International Arbitration Thomas E. Carbonneau, 2011-01-01 The chapters of this volume represent the majority of Professor Carbonneau's scholarly writings on the subject of international commercial arbitration They reflect his interest over the course of thirty years of law teaching in international litigation comparative law and of course international arbitration Some of the chapters are of a recent vintage while others were written a decade or two ago Whatever their date of production the chapters have a continuing professional interest Each addresses some of the major issues of trans border arbitration law A number of chapters emphasize the importance of courts in developing and maintaining a legal culture that is hospitable to arbitration The work of the courts has been instrumental to the reception of arbitration in the United States and in several European jurisdictions The courts can make or break arbitration by upholding arbitration agreements and enforcing arbitral awards Other chapters underscore that arbitration can operate as a complete legal system It not only provides workable trial procedures but arbitrators can also create law in their rulings With the addition of an internal arbitral appellate mechanism arbitrations can function with almost absolute independence The world law on arbitrations seems to favor the a national and a juridical operation of the arbitral process A few of the chapters recognize that arbitration is being increasingly employed to resolve political or mixed political and commercial disputes Investment arbitration and BITs are the most recent expression of this development it had been apparent in WTO and NAFTA dispute resolution The Iran U S Claims Tribunal presented the first great occasion for assessing the vocation of arbitration in a mixed dispute situation While arbitration has made significant inroads in this area political sovereignty remains resistant to the imposition of limitations In many less visible political cases determinations are nonetheless made and rendered enforceable The concluding chapters address more specific developments in the field of ICA A number of cases point to the strong perhaps overweening support of the judiciary for arbitration The courts in some jurisdictions support arbitration unequivocally and are bent upon a single outcome no matter the impact on doctrine Lawyer presence in the arbitral process has lead to increased formalization in some proceedings The judicialization of arbitration tilts the process toward the protection of rights and hinders its ability to function effectively and reach finality Lawyers can readily misunderstand and undermine the gravamen of arbitration The concluding chapters also establish that the UK Arbitration Act 1996 is one of the world's outstanding arbitration statutes It rivals and bests the UNCITRAL Model Law on ICA and is the equal of the French codified law on arbitration Finally the express text of the New York Arbitration Convention appears to have been altered significantly by court practice The possible limitations of national law have been neutralized and the provisions of the Convention articulate a truly trans border regulation of the enforcement of awards In sum the chapters in this book reflect the author's lifetime work in the area of international arbitration and are required reading for all those practicing in the field law students arbitrators academics and practicing lawyers International Investment Law and Arbitration C.
