Creative Ship Model Making Gerhard O.W. Fischer, It is often annoying that every kit model built from the same kit of the same company is like one egg from the other This is what creative ship modelling aims to change Using prefabricated hulls it is mainly a matter of the superstructure which must be redesigned sawn out and further processed and further processed without the need for a construction template The conversion of kit models shows how to convert ready built models to a completely new model by converting them to jet propulsion Finally the author presents four examples how larger display models can be converted into real driving models to properly running RC ship models by installing a remote control system From the content Construction of models according to own designs Building description of two creative models Building a police boat according to own ideas Two creative construction models The MULTIBOAT A speedboat and a mega luxury yacht Conversion of kit models The FLORIDA as a jet model The RAPIDO 600 as a jet model A customs cruiser and a fishery protection boat Conversion of display models to RC models Cruise ship QUEEN MARY 2 Sea rescue cruiser HERMANN MARWEDE German submarine class VII C American submarine GATO class REVELL RC ship model already at the end of the 50s Architectural Modelmaking Second Edition Nick Dunn, 2014-09-08 The physical model is an important communication tool for architects Although the proliferation of CAD programs has enabled the creation of increasingly complex computer models and virtual environments there is also a growing need to address the three dimensional qualities of architecture that may be lost when using such media This book focuses on the inspiring possibilities for modelling the built environment with all the different media and techniques available In describing the use of different models in different contexts the book provides a practical guide to how and why models are used and what they are used for This second edition includes more detailed step by step exercises expanded discussion of materials and techniques updated coverage of digital techniques and new case studies Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2004 Building Models for Marketing Decisions Peter S.H. Leeftang, Dick R. Wittink, Michel Wedel, Philippe A. Naert, 2013-06-29 This book is about marketing models and the process of model building Our primary focus is on models that can be used by managers to support marketing decisions It has long been known that simple models usually outperform judgments in predicting outcomes in a wide variety of contexts For example models of judgments tend to provide better forecasts of the outcomes than the judgments themselves because the model eliminates the noise in judgments And since judgments never fully reflect the complexities of the many forces that influence outcomes it is easy to see why models of actual outcomes should be very attractive to marketing decision makers Thus appropriately constructed models can provide insights about structural relations between marketing variables Since models explicate the relations both the process of model building and the model that ultimately results can improve the quality of marketing decisions Managers often use rules of thumb for decisions For example a brand manager will have defined a specific set of alternative brands as the competitive set within a product category Usually this set is based on perceived similarities in brand characteristics advertising messages etc If a new marketing initiative occurs for one of the other brands the brand manager will have a strong inclination to react The reaction is partly based on the manager's desire to maintain some competitive parity in the marketing variables EBOOK: Analytical Models for Decision-Making Colin Sanderson, Reinhold Gruen, 2006-03-16 Health care systems are complex and as a result it is often unclear what the effects of changes in policy or service provision might be At the same time resources for health care tend to be in short supply which means that public health practitioners have to make difficult decisions This book describes the quantitative and qualitative methods that can help decision makers to structure and clarify difficult problems and to explore the implications of pursuing different options The accompanying CD ROM provides the opportunity to try out some of the proposed solutions The book examines Models and decision making in health care Methods for clarifying complex decisions Models for service planning and resource allocation Modelling for evaluating changes in systems Series Editors Rosalind Plowman and Nicki Thorogood Popular Science, 1923-01 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better

Designing San Francisco Alison Isenberg, 2024-09-24 A major urban history of the design and development of postwar San Francisco Designing San Francisco is the untold story of the formative postwar decades when U S cities took their modern shape amid clashing visions of the future In this pathbreaking and richly illustrated book Alison Isenberg shifts the focus from architects and city planners those most often hailed in histories of urban development and design to the unsung artists activists and others who played pivotal roles in rebuilding San Francisco between the 1940s and the 1970s Previous accounts of midcentury urban renewal have focused on the opposing terms set down by Robert Moses and Jane Jacobs put simply development versus preservation and have followed New York City models Now Isenberg turns our attention west to colorful pioneering and contentious San Francisco where unexpectedly fierce battles were waged over iconic private and public projects like Ghirardelli Square Golden Gateway and the Transamerica Pyramid When large scale redevelopment came to low rise San Francisco in the 1950s the resulting rivalries and conflicts sparked the proliferation of numerous allied arts fields and their professionals including architectural model makers real estate publicists graphic designers photographers property managers builders sculptors public interest lawyers alternative press writers and preservationists Isenberg explores how these centrally engaged arts professionals brought new ideas to city regional and national planning and shaped novel projects across urban suburban and rural borders San Francisco s rebuilding galvanized far reaching critiques of the inequitable competition for scarce urban land and propelled debates over responsible public land stewardship Isenberg challenges many truisms of this renewal era especially the presumed male domination of postwar urban design showing how women collaborated in city building long before feminism s impact in the 1970s An evocative portrait of one of the world s great cities Designing San Francisco provides a new paradigm for understanding past and present struggles to define the urban future The Methodology of Economic Model Building (Routledge Revivals) Lawrence A. Boland, 2014-05-01 The major methodological task for modern economists has been to establish the testability of models Too often however methodological assumptions can make a model virtually impossible to test even under ideal conditions yet few theorists have examined the requirements and problems of assuring testability in economics In The Methodology of Economic Model Building first published in 1989 Lawrence Boland presents the results of a research project that spanned more than twenty years He examines how economists have applied the philosophy of Karl Popper relating methodological debates about falsifiability to wider discussions about the truth status of models in natural and social sciences He concludes that model building in economics reflects more the methodological prescriptions of the economist Paul Samuelson than Popper s falsificationism This title will prove invaluable to both students and researchers and represents a substantial contribution to debates about the scientific status of economics

Building Implementable Marketing Models Philippe A. Naert, Peter S.H. Leeflang, 2013-12-01 The observation that many models are built but few are used has almost become a commonplace in the management science and operations research literature Nevertheless the statement remains to a large extent true today also and perhaps even more so where marketing models are concerned This led Philippe Naert now about four years ago to write a concept text of a few hundred pages on the subject of how to build implementable marketing models that is models that can and will be used One of the readers of that early manuscript was Peter Leeflang He made suggestions leading to a more consistent ordering of the material and proposed the addition of some topics and the expansion of others to make the book more self contained This resulted in a co authorship and a revised version which was written by Peter Leeflang and consisted of a reshuffling and an expansion of the original material by about fifty per cent Several meetings between the co authors produced further refinements in the text and the sequence of chapters and sections after which Philippe Naert again totally reworked the whole text This led to a new expansion again by fifty per cent of the second iteration The third iteration also required the inclusion of a great deal of new literature indicating that the field is making fast progress and that implementation has become a major concern to marketing model builders

Family Centred Group Care: Model Building Frank Ainsworth, 2018-10-26 Published in 1997 this study focused on building and empirically validating a model of family centred group care This is an alternative to the traditional model of group child care that is primarily child centred and which reflects the notion of group care as a substitute for parental care The model represents a step forward in the conceptualization of group care practice as both child centred and family affirming The Family Centred Group Care instrument used in the study is unique in that this is the first to measure a model of group care empirically The book will be of interest to child welfare practitioners social workers child care workers and other human service personnel as well as managers of agencies that provide group care services for children and at risk youth Researchers and policy makers will also find this book useful as the study advances the application of empirical methodology to human service programs
