Present at a Hanging and Other Ghost Stories Ambrose Bierce, 2013-07 My peculiar relation to the writer of the following narratives is such that I must ask the reader to overlook the absence of explanation as to how they came into my possession. Withal my knowledge of him is so meager that I should rather not undertake to say if he were himself persuaded of the truth of what he relates. Certainly such inquiries as I have thought it worth while to set about have not in every instance tended to confirmation of the statements made. Yet his style for the most part devoid alike of artifice and art, almost baldly simple and direct, seems hardly compatible with the disingenuousness of a merely literary intention. One would call it the manner of one more concerned for the fruits of research than for the flowers of expression. In transcribing his notes and fortifying their claim to attention by giving them something of an orderly arrangement, I have conscientiously refrained from embellishing them with such small ornaments of diction as I may have felt myself able to bestow which would not only have been impertinent even if pleasing but would have given me a somewhat closer relation to the work than I should care to have and to avow
