Previous Convictions:

Previous Convictions at Sentencing Julian V Roberts, Andreas von Hirsch, 2010-07-12 This latest volume in the Penal Theory and Penal Ethics series addresses one of the oldest and most contested questions in the field of criminal sentencing should an offender's previous convictions affect the sentence This question provokes a series of others Is it possible to justify a discount for first offenders within a retributive sentencing framework How should previous convictions enter into the sentencing equation At what point should prior misconduct cease to count for the purposes of fresh sentencing Should similar previous convictions count more than convictions unrelated to the current offence Statutory sentencing regimes around the world incorporate provisions which mandate harsher treatment of repeat offenders Although there is an extensive literature on the definition and use of criminal history information the emphasis here as befits a volume in the series is on the theoretical and normative aspects of considering previous convictions at sentencing Several authors explore the theory underlying the practice of mitigating the punishments for first offenders while others put forth arguments for enhancing sentences for recidivists The practice of sentencing repeat offenders in two jurisdictions England and Wales and Sweden is also examined in detail

Sentencing and Criminal Justice Andrew Ashworth, 2010-02-04 Andrew Ashworth expertly examines the key issues in English sentencing policy and practice including the mechanisms for producing sentencing guidelines He considers the most high profile stages in the criminal justice process such as the Court of Appeal's approach to the custody threshold the framework for the sentencing of young offenders and the abiding problems of previous convictions in sentencing Taking into account the Criminal Justice and Immigration Act 2008 and the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 the book's interdisciplinary approach places the legislation and guidelines on sentencing in the context of criminological research statistical trends and theories of punishment By examining the law in relation to elements of the wider criminal justice system including the prison and probation services students gain a rounded perspective on the relevant principles and problems of sentencing and criminal justice

Towards a European Criminal Record Constantin Stefanou, Helen Xanthaki, 2008-05-22 The success of the four core freedoms of the EU has created fertile ground for transnational organised crime Innovative transnational legal weapons are therefore required by national authorities The availability of data on criminal convictions is at the forefront of the debate But which mechanism for availability can be used effectively while at the same time respecting an increasingly higher level of data protection at national level In the fluid post Reform Treaty environment the EU is moving towards the creation of a European Criminal Record which will ultimately secure availability of criminal data beyond the weaknesses of Mutual Legal Assistance mechanisms Examining the concept of a European Criminal Record in its legal political and data protection dimensions this multidisciplinary study is an indispensable exploration of a major initiative in European Criminal Law which is set to monopolise the debate on EU judicial co operation and enforcement
