Drawing the Iron Curtain Maya Balakirsky Katz, 2016-07-15 In the American imagination the Soviet Union was a drab cultural wasteland a place where playful creative work and individualism was heavily regulated and censored Yet despite state control some cultural industries flourished in the Soviet era including animation Drawing the Iron

Curtain tells the story of the golden age of Soviet animation and the Jewish artists who enabled it to thrive Art historian Maya Balakirsky Katz reveals how the state run animation studio Soyuzmultfilm brought together Jewish creative personnel from every corner of the Soviet Union and served as an unlikely haven for dissidents who were banned from working in other industries Surveying a wide range of Soviet animation produced between 1919 and 1989 from cutting edge art films like Tale of Tales to cartoons featuring Soviet Mickey Mouse Cheburashka she finds that these works played a key role in articulating a cosmopolitan sensibility and a multicultural vision for the Soviet Union Furthermore she considers how Jewish filmmakers used animation to depict distinctive elements of their heritage and ethnic identity whether producing films about the Holocaust or using fellow Jews as models for character drawings Providing a copiously illustrated introduction to many of Soyuzmultfilm s key artistic achievements while revealing the tumultuous social and political conditions in which these films were produced Drawing the Iron Curtain has something to offer animation fans and students of Cold War history alike

Architecture Iain Fraser,Rod Henmi,1993-12-16 Examples of world renowned masters of architecture are used in this enlightening book that explores the why of architectural drawing rather than the how By emphasizing the value of drawing over technique the authors demonstrate how the drawing itself influences the designer s processes of thought and exerts its own pull on the evolution of the concept Carlsbad Cavern Resource Protection Plan ,2002 Incised Drawings from

Early Phrygian Gordion Lynn E. Roller,2011-09-01 In 1950 the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology began excavations at the ancient Phrygian capital of Gordion in central Turkey The Museum s Gordion Project continues today with researchers from many disciplines and with many specializations contributing to a growing and sometimes changing body of information and understanding about this complex and multifaceted site inhabited by peoples and diverse civilizations for millennia In this volume of Gordion Special Studies Lynn E Roller focuses on a series of stone blocks with incised figural and abstract drawings recovered from early Phrygian structures at Gordion The great majority of the incised stones come from a single structure within the Early Phrygian citadel at Gordion known as Megaron 2 a stone building with several remarkable features and a likely candidate for the citadel s temple The volume begins with a description of the excavation of the stones and a discussion of Megaron 2 Next is an analysis of the subject matter of the drawings by type describing scenes of human figures animals architectural drawings geometric patterns and formless marks A discussion follows of the sources from which the drawings could have been taken and of parallels with similar scenes and designs on objects in other media from Gordion and other contemporary sites in Anatolia The fourth section proposes an explanatory hypothesis on the origin of the drawings and considers who could have made them and why Parallels with comparable drawings from Anatolia and the Near East are discussed here The final section summarizes the contribution of the drawings to our understanding of the development of the Early Phrygian material at Gordion University Museum
