Women's Life in Greece and Rome Maureen B. Fant, Mary R. Lefkowitz, 2016-07-28 This highly acclaimed collection the first sourcebook on ancient women and now in its fourth edition provides a unique look into the public and private lives and legal status of Greek and Roman women. The texts represent women of all social classes from public figures remembered for their deeds or misdeeds to priestesses, poets and intellectuals to working women such as musicians, wet nurses and prostitutes to homemakers. The editors have selected texts from hard to find sources such as inscriptions, papyri and medical treatises many of which have not previously been translated into English. The resulting compilation is both an invaluable aid to research and a clear guide through this complex subject. The brand new design of the fourth edition integrates the third edition's appendix and adds many new and unusual texts and images as well as such student friendly features as a map and chapter overviews. Many notes and explanations have been revised with the non classicist in mind. Its readings cover women's legal status, domestic conditions, health issues and relations with other people. The emphasis throughout is not so much on what ancient writers thought about women as on what women actually did both within the home and outside it from their intellectual achievements, benefactions and religious roles to humble jobs and acts of physical and moral courage.

Religion and Life with Christianity Ina Taylor, 2005. At the right depth for Religion and Life options. Religion and Life with Christianity provides everything you need for Unit B of the Edexcel specification without any redundant material.

Text and Image in Women's Life Writing Valérie Baisnée-Keay, Corinne Bigot, Nicoleta Alexoae-Zagni, Stephanie Genty, Claire Bazin, 2022-01-12. This book examines the relationship between words and images in various life writing works produced by nineteenth to twenty first century American and British women. It addresses the politics of images in women's life writing contending that the presence or absence of images is often strategic. Including a range of different forms of life writing, chapters draw on traditional auto biographies, travel narratives, memoirs, diaries, autofiction, cancer narratives, graphic memoirs, artistic installations, quilts and online performances as life writing moves from page to screen and other media. The book explores a wide range of women who have crossed the boundary between text and image: painters who have become writers, novelists who have become painters, writers who hesitate between images and words, models who seize the camera and artists who use the frame as a page.

Women's Life Writing, 1700-1850 D. Cook, A. Culley, 2016-04-13. This collection discusses British and Irish life writings by women in the period 1700-1850. It argues for the importance of women's life writing as part of the culture and practice of eighteenth century and Romantic auto biography, exploring the complex relationships between constructions of femininity, life writing forms and models of authorship.

British Women's Life Writing, 1760-1840 A. Culley, 2014-07-22. British Women's Life Writing 1760-1840 brings together for the first time a wide range of print and manuscript sources to demonstrate women's innovative approach to self representation. It examines canonical writers such as Mary Wollstonecraft, Mary Robinson and Helen Maria Williams amongst others.

Mafia Life Federico Varese, 2017-06-29. We see mafias as vast powerful organisations harvesting billions of dollars across the globe and wrapping its tentacles around everything from governance to finance. But is this the truth? Travelling from mafia initiation ceremonies in far flung Russian cities to elite gambling clubs in downtown Macau Federico Varese sets off in search of answers Using wiretapped conversations interviews and previously unpublished police records he builds up a picture of the real men and women caught up in mafia life showing their loves and fears ambitions and disappointments as well as their crimes Mafia Life takes us into the real world of organised crime where mafia henchmen worry about their bad managers and have high blood pressure assassinations are bungled as often as they come off and increasing pressure from law enforcement means that a life of crime is no longer lived in the lap of luxury As our world changes so must the mafia Globalisation migration and technology are disrupting their traditions and threatening their revenue streams and the mafiosi must evolve or die Mafia Life is an intense and totally compelling look at an organisation and the daily life of its members as it gets to grips with the modern world Out now in paperback Publishing

Women's Life Stories in France, 1647-1720 Elizabeth C. Goldsmith, 2017-03-02 In this new study Elizabeth Goldsmith continues her pursuit of issues treated in her earlier books on conversation epistolary writing and the female voice in literature She examines how French women in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries first came to publish their private life stories in doing so she explores what the writers have to say about why they decide to write about themselves what they choose to write how they get their stories circulated and printed and what they do to defend themselves against the threat to personal reputation and credibility that was implied by such public self exposure Goldsmith scrutinizes the autobiographical writing of six women all of whom were for different reasons the objects of fairly intense publicity during their lifetime at the historical moment when the idea of publicity via the printed word was still a new concept Three of the women Jeanne des Anges Marie de l'Incarnation and Jeanne Guyon were charismatic religious figures whose writings were widely circulated The other three writers the sisters Hortense and Marie Mancini and Madame de Villegieu are more worldly but like their spiritual counterparts they undertook self publication as a form of conversation with the world and a way of participating in other forms of public discourse Publishing Women's Life Stories in France 1647-1720 considers the different forms that the life writing of these three women took autobiographies letter correspondences which in four of the six cases have never before been published trial transcripts testimonials published as part of other authors works and written self portraits that were circulated among friends Drawing on the work of Michel de Certeau on voice and communities of readers in the 17th century as well as the work of Roger Chartier and other historians of the book and print culture Goldsmith retraces the complicated networks of human interaction that underlie these early a The Oxford Dictionary of Women's Life-writing Linda S. Coleman, 1997 The essays in this collection offer readers vivid and varied evidence of the female response to recurring attempts by culture to artificially limit identity along the gendered lines of private and public experience Calling on voices both familiar and little known British and American black and white young and old poor and rich heterosexual and lesbian the essayists explore how women within unique personal and historical conditions used life writing as a means of both self understanding and connection to a community of sympathetic others real or imagined The life writings within this anthology span the modern history of the genre itself with writers drawn from as early as the seventeenth century and as late as the 1990s

Genre and Women's Life Writing in Early Modern England Michelle M. Dowd, Julie A. Eckerle, 2016-04-15 By taking account of the ways in which early modern women made use of formal and generic structures to constitute themselves in writing the essays collected here interrogate the discursive contours of gendered identity in sixteenth and seventeenth century England The contributors explore how generic choice mixture and revision influence narrative constructions of the female self in early modern England Collectively they situate women's life writings within the broader textual culture of early modern England while maintaining a focus on the particular rhetorical devices and narrative structures that comprise individual texts Reconsidering women's life writing in light of recent critical trends most notably historical formalism this volume produces both new readings of early modern texts such as Margaret Cavendish's autobiography and the diary of Anne Clifford and a new understanding of the complex relationships between literary forms and early modern women's selves This volume engages with new critical methods to make innovative connections between canonical and non canonical writing in so doing it helps to shape the future of scholarship on early modern women
