Tierra Y Libertad Steven Bender, 2010-09-29 One of the quintessential goals of the American Dream is to own land and a home a place to raise one's family and prove one's prosperity Particularly for immigrant families home ownership is a way to assimilate into American culture and community However Latinos who make up the country's largest minority population have largely been unable to gain this level of inclusion Instead they are forced to cling to the fringes of property rights and ownership through overcrowded rentals transitory living arrangements and at best home acquisitions through subprime lenders In Tierra y Libertad Steven W Bender traces the history of Latinos struggle for adequate housing opportunities from the nineteenth century to today's anti immigrant policies and national mortgage crisis Spanning southwest to northeast rural to urban Bender analyzes the legal hurdles that prevent better housing opportunities and offers ways to approach sweeping legal reform Tierra y Libertad combines historical cultural legal and personal perspectives to document the Latino community's ongoing struggle to make America home

Race Rules Baodong Liu, James M. Vanderleeuw, 2007-10-15 Race Rules Electoral Politics in New Orleans 1965-2006 examines one of the innumerable ramifications of Hurricane Katrina a reversal in the decades long process of racial transition from white dominant to black dominant The electoral consequences of such a racial change in a city where race has historically played a pronounced social economic and political role are potentially dramatic In light of the 2006 New Orleans mayoral election the following emerges as a significant question Does a change in the population's racial composition mean a reversal in the political status of African Americans in New Orleans To address this question Liu and Vanderleeuw investigate racial voting patterns in New Orleans municipal elections over a forty year span from 1965 to 2006 Race Rules argues that as an enduring influence in urban politics race manifests as either electoral conflict or electoral accommodation but not as acceptance of the political empowerment of other race members
