Anne-Marie Mooney Cotter, 2016-05-23 Exploring the key legal issues in combating race discrimination Race Matters provides readers with a detailed understanding of the issue of inequality At its heart is an aim to increase the likelihood of achieving racial equality at both the national and international levels in so doing it examines the primary role of legislation and its impact on the court process It also discusses the two most important trade agreements of our day the North American Free Trade Agreement and the European Union Treaty in a historical and compelling analysis of racial discrimination By providing a detailed examination of the relationship between race and the law the book will be an important resource for those concerned with equality Australia's Toxic Medical Culture Vicki Adele Pascoe, 2018-10-11 This book explores dominance in Australia's medical culture through the positioning of international medical graduates IMGs It argues that IMGs are othered and ultimately positioned as an underclass a positioning validated and reinforced by the intersecting inequalities of class race and nation It also suggests that the positioning of IMGs is organised through the dimensions of structural power hegemonic power and interpersonal power which allow an exploration of power relations between the structures of the health system the Australian medical profession and the agency of IMGs The Australian narrative presented to the world espouses a community of social justice and human rights Instead an historical lens traces the formation and persistence of difference represented in ethnocentrism racism and xenophobia from 1788 to the present The research presented is multidisciplinary in scope An anti oppressive theoretical framework enables the voices of lived experience to penetrate throughout and a social justice platform engages the participants and the reader into the interwoven conversations The data set comprises a focus group 10 individual interviews with IMGs and a selection of inquiry submissions revealing rich and sometimes shocking evidence to paint a stark picture Other medical voices join the conversation via media responses to revelations of experiences not only by IMGs but also by Australian trained doctors It exposes a toxic culture endemic with bullying and sexual harassment This book is of interest to practitioners researchers and administrators in the fields of medical education human resource management legal studies health sciences social sciences health services government departments universities and hospitals as well as those tasked with duty of care and the provision of a safe workplace The voices gifted to this study raise awareness of current issues within medicine in Australia at a very personal level and begin to formulate a policy and practical response to address these disturbing revelations Critical Racial and Decolonial Literacies Debbie Bargallie, Nilmini Fernando, 2024-08-22 This collection offers a unique exploration of critical racial literacy and anti racist praxis in Australia's educational landscape Combining critical race and Indigenous theories and perspectives contributors articulate a decolonial liberatory imperative for our times In an age when decolonization has become a buzzword the book demystifies critical anti racism praxis advocating for critical and multidisciplinary approaches Educators from a range of disciplines including Law Indigenous Studies Health Sociology Policy and the Arts collectively share compelling stories of educating on race racism and anti racism offering strategies that can be put into practice in classrooms activism and structural reforms

Boarding and Australia's First Peoples Marnie O'Bryan, 2022-02-03 This book takes us inside the complex lived experience of being a First Nations student in predominantly non Indigenous schools in Australia Built around the first hand narratives of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alumni from across the nation scholarly analysis is layered with personal accounts and reflections The result is a wide ranging and longitudinal exploration of the enduring impact of years spent boarding which challenges narrow and exclusively empirical measures currently used to define success in education Used as instruments of repression and assimilation boarding or residential schools have played a long and contentious role throughout the settler colonial world In Canada and North America the full scale of human tragedy associated with residential schools is still being exposed By contrast in contemporary Australia boarding schools are characterised as beacons of opportunity and hope places of empowerment and in the best of cultural restitution In this work young people interviewed over a span of seven years reflect in real time on the intended and unintended consequences boarding has had in their own lives They relate expected and dramatically unexpected outcomes They speak to the long term benefits of education and to the intergenerational reach of education policy This book assists practitioners and policy makers to critically review the structures policies and cultural assumptions embedded in the institutions in which they work to the benefit of First Nations students and their families It encourages new and collaborative approaches Indigenous education programs

Understanding Racism in a Post-Racial World Sunshine Kamaloni, 2019-02-27 This book addresses the question how can we talk about race in a world that is considered post racial a world where race doesn't exist Kamaloni engages with the tradition of everyday racism and traces the process of racialisation through the interaction of bodies in space Exploring the embodied experience exposes the idea of post racialism as a response to continued cultural anxieties about race and the desire to erase it Understanding Racism in a Post Racial World presents a broader question about what everyday encounters about race might tell us about the current cultural construction of race The book provides a much needed investigation of the intersection of race bodies and space as a critical part of how bodies and spaces become racialised and will be of value to students and scholars interested in understanding and discussing race across interdisciplinary areas such as cultural studies communication gender studies geography body studies literature studies and urban studies

The ethics of researching the far right Antonia Vaughan, Joan Braune, Meghan Tinsley, Aurelien Mondon, 2024-05-07 At a time when far radical and extreme right politics are becoming increasingly mainstream globally sometimes with deadly consequences research in these fields is essential to understand the most effective ways to combat these dangerous ideologies Yet engaging with texts and movements that do physical and verbal violence raises a number of urgent ethical issues Until recently this has remained understudied as scholarship on the far right rarely delves explicitly and critically into the ethics of research This book seeks to remedy this significant gap in an otherwise extensive and growing literature Originating from a workshop series in 2020 in which an international group of academics at various career stages shared the ethical challenges and best practices they had developed in their research this edited collection draws together insights from these ongoing conversations offering urgent critical reflections on key ethical issues Australia's Doomed-Race Protective Myth Grant Rodwell,2024-12-27 Periodically in Australian society racial chasms emerge portraying the great divide between Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians exposing the sustained influence of the doomed race protective myth and its residue This book exposes that a long and powerful influence on Australian society economy culture and history has been the doomed race protective myth While most nations harbour protective myths of one form or another often endorsed by Australian governments at all levels and steeped in a cruel racism and inter alia a quest for pastoral lands Australia s doomed race protective myth has asserted an undue influence on First Nations people This book argues the doomed race protective myth warped the vision of power elites politicians and bureaucrats For centuries sustained by representations in official and public history schools churches and a whole host of public institutions the doomed race protective myth has been voiced by almost every facet of non Indigenous Australian society with pastoral Australia particularly benefiting This book opens fresh vistas to the continuing racism in Australian society through an examination of the long politicised doomed race protective myth which was foisted on First Nations people and with vested interests in pastoral Australia Key events in Australia s race relations history such as the 2023 First Nations Voice to Parliament Referendum have new light shed on them Transnational themes relevant to Indigenous history have been examined People with an interest in non Indigenous Indigenous affairs academics politicians and bureaucrats and students will enjoy this book Australia's Rural, Remote and Indigenous Health Janie Dade Smith,2016-02-06 Australia s Rural Remote and Indigenous Health 3e is a practical guide to the delivery of health care in rural and remote Australia Drawing on personal experiences of rural and remote practitioners historical accounts literature analysis and epidemiology this frank and engaging text examines the economic social and political forces that shape healthcare in rural and remote Australia With limited current resources to support studies in rural and remote healthcare this title bridges the gap by offering valuable insights into Indigenous life and social determinants of health through the use of storytelling It is the perfect guide for anyone working in or planning to work in rural remote or Indigenous Australia and for those undertaking cultural studies or social policy Only text covering both rural and remote health in Australia Placement preparation with StudentConsult video interviews of experienced rural and remote practitioners providing first hand experience of rural and remote practice Pause and Think questions provide a framework to apply learned knowledge to practice Pause and think question boxes train the reader to critically assess and apply concepts to practical situations New Chapter Working with Indigenous Australians Written by Shannon Springer describes how to consult with Indigenous

The Discourse of Perceived Discrimination Sol Rojas-Lizana, 2019-09-26 This book offers a way forward toward a better understanding of perceived discrimination from a critical discourse studies perspective. The volume begins with a discussion of quantitative studies on perceived discrimination across a range of disciplines and moves toward outlining the ways in which a discourse based framework drawing on tools from cognitive linguistics and discursive psychology offers valuable tools with which to document and analyze perceived discrimination through myriad lenses. Rojas Lizana provides a systematic account grounded in a critical approach of perceived discrimination drawing on data from discourse from two minority groups self identified members of an LGBTIQ community and Spanish speaking immigrants in Australia and explores such topics as the relationship between language and discrimination the conditions for determining what constitutes discriminatory acts and both the copying and resistance strategies victims employ in their experiences. A concluding chapter offers a broader comparison of the conclusions drawn from both communities and discusses their implications for further research on perceived discrimination. This volume will be of particular interest to students and scholars in critical discourse studies social policy gender and sexuality studies and migration studies.

Australia's New Migrants Maria Elena Indelicato, 2017-09-22 This book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of the tropes employed in the categorization of international students living and studying in Australia. Establishing the position of migrant students as subjects of the border the author employs various models of emotion in an analysis of the ways in which public debates on migration and education in Australia have problematised international students as an object of national compassion or resentment in relation to other national concerns at the time such as the country's place in the Asia Pacific region the integrity of its borders and the relative competitiveness of its economy. Applying an innovative methodology which combines the breadth of a diachronic study with the depth afforded by the close analysis of a diverse range of case studies including the protests staged by Indian international students against a spate of violent attacks which led to their labelling as soft targets in national discourses Australia's New Migrants constitutes an important contribution to our understanding of the ways in which emotions shape national collectives orientation towards others. As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural studies and education with interests in migration race and emotion.
