Race in Britain, 1980 Race, Faith and Planning in Britain Richard Gale, Huw Thomas, 2020-09-21 Race Faith and Planning in Britain adopts a Critical Race Theory perspective to analyse and discuss challenges of planning in contemporary multi ethnic Britain Exploring how planning is affected by and affects the racialisation of social relations this book charts the history of the UK planning system s approach in terms of the spatial consequences of immigration and discourses of diversity cohesion citizenship and belonging Authors Richard Gale and Huw Thomas pay special attention to the experiences of minority groups in Britain including Gypsies and Travellers and British Muslims They underline that the struggle over planning in racialised societies must be construed as part of a wider political struggle over equality This book is an essential read for students and practitioners of planning in multi cultural contexts Citizenship and Immigration in Postwar

Britain Randall Hansen, 2000-06-01 In this contentious and ground breaking study the author draws on extensive archival research to provide a new account of the transformation of the United Kingdom into a multicultural society through an analysis of the evolution of immigration and citizenship policy since 1945 Against the prevailing academic orthodoxy he argues that British immigration policy was not racist but both rational and liberal In this ground breaking book the author draws extensively on archival material and theoretical advances in the social science literature Citizenship and Immigration in Post war Britain examines the transformation since 1945 of the UK from a homogeneous into a multicultural society Rejecting a dominant strain of sociological and historical inquiry emphasizing state racism Hansen argues that politicians and civil servants were overall liberal relative to the public to which they owed their office and that they pursued policies that were rational for any liberal democratic politician He explains the trajectory of British migration and nationality policy its exceptional liberality in the 1950s its restrictiveness after then and its tortured and seemingly racist definition of citizenship The combined effect of a 1948 imperial definition of citizenship adopted independently of immigration and a primary commitment to migration from the Old Dominions locked British politicians into a series of policy choices resulting in a migration and nationality regime that was not racist in intention but was racist in effect In the context of a liberal elite and an illiberal public Britain s current restrictive migration policies result not from the failing of its policy makers but from those of its institutions Representing Race John D H Downing, Charles Husband, 2005-02-01 Well informed thoughtful and transnational in its perspectives Downing and Husband s work is likely to become the key text in the field The book is essential reading for anyone interested in the politics of race and representation Professor Daya K Thussu University of Westminster The media play a diverse and significant role in the practical expression of racism and in the everyday politics of ethnicity Written by two veterans of research on media and race this book offers a fresh comparative analyses of the issues and sets out the key agendas for future study Representing Race Racisms Ethnicities and Media Provides a conceptual framework for understanding the role of the media Addresses a number of pressing political concerns including racial justice and the drift to the Right Includes a wide range of examples from Britain the USA Europe and Australia Analyzes the growth of indigenous people s media Assesses current strategies for reforming professional media practice in this sphere Drawing on years of research this book provides both a major intervention in the debate as well as a comprehensive introduction to the area It will be required reading for anyone interested in race representation and the media 'Race', Sport and British Society

Ben Carrington,Ian McDonald,2002-01-04 Contrary to the popular belief that sport is an arena largely free from the corrosive effects of racism this book argues that racism is evident throughout British sport From playing fields and boardrooms of sports organisations to the offices of sports policy makers and the media this book breaks new ground in showing how discourses of race and nation continue to pervade our sporting life Looking at a range of sports including football rugby league and cricket this book covers key topics such as British nationalism and nationalist ideology racial science and the images of Asian and black physicality sport racism and the law black feminism and the issues of race gender and sport the role of the media in perpetuating and challenging racial stereotypes Challenging the prevailing liberal view that sport is one area of society where good race relations are developed this book offers a wealth of research material and a strong theoretical perspective on contemporary British sport It will therefore be of vital interest to sociologists sports studies students sport policy makers and anyone with an interest in contemporary British sport Anti-Racist Social Work

Gurnam Singh,Shepard Masocha,2019-12-04 Welfare health education conflict security and migration are examples of phenomena that are prevalent across all societies With chapters from leading scholars from around the world this exciting new book draws upon the impacts of globalisation colonialism and capitalism to explore the common challenges facing nations across the globe and provide an insight in to the history theory and practice of a new anti racist social work

From 1930 to 1962 the idea of race was studied across a range of academic disciplines. This book explores expert thinkings on race in the period and explains the relationship between scientific racial research, social policy and attitudes regarding immigration, ultimately offering new insight into the evolving understanding of the idea of race. Crossing Ben Rampton, 2017-10-10. Focusing on urban youth culture and language crossing, this foundational volume by Ben Rampton has played a pivotal role in the shaping of language and ethnic identity as a domain of study. It focuses on language crossing: the use of Panjabi by adolescents of African Caribbean and Anglo descent; the use of Creole by adolescents with Panjabi and Anglo backgrounds; and the use of stylized Indian English. Crossing's central question is how far and in what ways do these intricate processes of language sharing and exchange help to overcome race stratification and contribute to a new sense of mixed youth class and neighbourhood community. Ben Rampton produces detailed ethnographic and interactional analyses of spontaneous speech data and integrates the discussion of particular incidents with theories of discourse, code switching, social movements, resistance and ritual drawn from sociolinguistics, sociology, anthropology and cultural studies. Now a Routledge Linguistics Classic with a new preface which sets the work in its current context, this book remains key reading for all those working in the areas of applied linguistics, sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology. Discourse and Communication Teun A. van Dijk, 2011-07-13. No detailed description available for Discourse and Communication. Mental Health in a Multi-Ethnic Society Dr Suman Fernando, Frank Keating, 2008-08-21. This new edition of Mental Health in a Multi-Ethnic Society is an authoritative comprehensive guide on issues around race, culture and mental health service provision. It has been updated to reflect the changes in the UK over the last ten years and features entirely new chapters by over twenty authors expanding the range of topics by including issues of particular concern for women, family therapy and mental health of refugees and asylum seekers. Divided into four sections, the book covers issues around mental health service provision for black and minority ethnic (BME) communities, including refugees and asylum seekers; critical accounts of how these issues may be confronted with examples of projects that attempt to do just that; programs and innovative services that appear to meet some of the needs of BME communities; a critical but constructive account of lessons to be drawn from earlier sections and discussion of the way ahead. With chapters on training, service user involvement, policy development and service provision, Mental Health in a Multi-Ethnic Society will appeal to academics, professionals, trainers and managers as well as providing up-to-date information for a general readership. Economic Restructuring And Social Exclusion Canterbury. Phillip Brown; Rosemary Crompton, both of the University of Kent, 2020-04-03. This book is intended for undergraduate and postgraduate courses in social structure and political sociology as well as academic sociologists and libraries. It should have significant appeal to researchers and students in European studies and others interested in European integration. The Routes of Resistance Máirín Kenny, 2019-05-20. First published in 1997, this study is an attempt to read and critique answers to that question: answers offered in policy and provision and answers to those answers in talk and texts and in classroom.
