Missionaries Of Revolution Soviet Advise:

Missionaries of Revolution Clarence Martin Wilbur, Julie Lien-ying How, 1989 During the 1920s the Soviet Union made a determined effort to stimulate revolution in China sending several scores of military and political advisers there as well as arms and money to influence political developments The usual secrecy surrounding Soviet foreign intervention was broken when the Chinese government seized a mass of documents in a raid on the Soviet military headquarters in Peking in 1927 Missionaries of Revolution weaves together information gleaned from these documents with contemporary historical materials

Making the Foreign Serve China Anne-Marie Brady, 2003 This book provides the first detailed analysis of a distinctive element of Chinese foreign policy waishi the external policies intended to influence and control both foreigners themselves as well as Chinese citizens contact with and perception of outsiders The term also comprises China's external relations both official state to state and unofficial or people to people diplomacy Anne Marie Brady argues that by encompassing all matters related to foreigners and foreign things not merely diplomacy waishi has proven to be one of the most effective tools in the CCP's repertoire for building and then sustaining its hold on power The author's groundbreaking research is based on a previously unexplored genre of classified waishi materials extensive interviews with waishi officials and foreign participants of the system as well as extensive archival research

Revolutionary States, Leaders, and Foreign Relations Houman A. Sadri, 1997-04-16 This book compares and contrasts the foreign relations strategies of China Cuba and Iran in the first decade of their post revolutionary periods Among a variety of explanatory variables leadership particularly the type of revolutionary leaders played a significant role in explaining the outcome of the policymaking process in each case Three distinct patterns of foreign relations strategies are evident among all three revolutionary regimes in the ten year period Two Track Conflictual and Conciliatory This book is a valuable source for both experts and non experts alike in providing insight into the foreign relations of revolutionary regimes in developing countries and in helping U S policymakers anticipate behaviors of future revolutionary leaders A focal point of this book is the examination of the nonalignment strategies of these prominent developing countries during the infancy of their regimes Each state's particular strategy is described and explained in detail and then contrasted and compared Although there are differences among their foreign policies considering their geographic locations size wealth military capabilities leadership characteristics and political institutions there are significant similarities regarding their foreign policy goals and trends in their foreign relations with the Great Powers Among explanatory factors leadership played a significant role in the policy making process although the foreign relations strategies of these revolutionary regimes were fed by a combination of national and international variables In all three states the tone of foreign policy was set by revolutionary leaders who were either idealists or realists Idealists tended to take a more active and conflictual approach toward one or both of the superpowers while Realists were more cautious and less willing to resort to a conflictual posture This book also investigates the gap between the theoretical and practical nonalignment stance of each state This cross regional study provides policy analysts with clues about the foreign policies of other revolutionary developing countries in similar situations Finally it makes suggestions about how a Great Power may relate to a developing country during its first post revolution decade A World Mission Robert Anthony Wright,1991 Between the two world wars leaders of the mainline Protestant denominations in Canada Anglican Methodist Presbyterian United and Baptist were engaged in a sustained effort to formulate and apply a form of Christian internationalism that would b Laboratory of Socialist Development Artemy M. Kalinovsky,2018-05-15 Focusing on the Tajik Soviet Socialist Republic this book places the Soviet development of Central Asia and the Soviet hope for communism s bringing prosperity to a supposedly backward area in global context In the Soviet House of Culture Bruce Grant,2020-10-06 At the outset of the twentieth century the Nivkhi of Sakhalin Island were a small population of fishermen under Russian dominion and an Asian cultural sway The turbulence of the decades that followed would transform them dramatically While Russian missionaries hounded them for their pagan ways Lenin praised them while Stalin routed them in purges Khrushchev gave them respite and while Brezhnev organized complex resettlement campaigns Gorbachev pronounced that they were free to resume a traditional life But what is tradition after seven decades of building a Soviet world Based on years of research in the former Soviet Union Bruce Grant s book draws upon Nivkh interviews newly opened archives and rarely translated Soviet ethnographic texts to examine the effects of this remarkable state venture in the construction of identity With a keen sensitivity Grant explores the often paradoxical participation by Nivkhi in these shifting waves of Sovietization and poses questions about how cultural identity is constituted and reconstituted restructured and dismantled Part chronicle of modernization part saga of memory and forgetting In the Soviet House of Culture is an interpretive ethnography of one people s attempts to recapture the past as they look toward the future This is a book that will appeal to anthropologists and historians alike as well as to anyone who is interested in the people and politics of the former Soviet Union Millard's Review of the Far East ,1934 Vol 34 includes Special tariff conference issue Nov 6 1925

Socialist Internationalism and the Gritty Politics of the Particular Kristin Roth-Ey,2023-04-06 This collection takes a case study approach to enter into and explore spaces of Second Third World interaction during the Cold War From the dining halls of a university to hospital wards construction sites military barracks pubs and more the chapters drop the scale down from the global to the particular to better see understand and interpret the complex nature of these spaces These ordinary spaces are examined to understand how they were conceived constructed shaped and reshaped by people over time Many are physical places of encounter while others are more abstract embodying ideological goals In exploring these spaces the contributors show how the Second and Third World actors understood them and connected them to ideas such as gender and space the space of the nation of the modern and of the self Essentially it seeks to unravel how these spaces between Second and Third Worlds worked and what if anything was distinctive and consequential about them Second Third World

Spaces in the Cold War explores the ways in which these Second and Third World actors collaborated and clashed in these everyday spaces and brings these multi faceted multi actor histories to a vital centre ground Russian Baptists and Spiritual Revolution, 1905-1929 Heather J. Coleman,2005-04-20 a fascinating read for everyone interested in Russia religion and modernity Nadieszda Kizenko In the early 20th century Baptists were the fastest growing non Orthodox religious group among Russians and Ukrainians Heather J Coleman traces the development of Baptist evangelical communities through a period of rapid industrialization war and revolution when Russians found themselves asking new questions about religion and its place in modern life Baptists faith helped them navigate the problems of dissent of order and disorder of modernization and westernization and of national and social identity in their changing society Making use of newly available archival material this important book reveals the ways in which the Baptists own experiences and the widespread discussions that they generated illuminate the emergence of new social and personal identities in late Imperial and early Soviet Russia the creation of a public sphere and a civic culture and the role of religious ideas in the modernization process
