Lucile Morris Upton landed her first newspaper job out West in the early 1920s then returned home to spend half a century reporting on the Ozarks world she knew best Having come of age just as women gained the right to vote she took advantage of opportunities that presented themselves in a changing world During her years as a journalist Upton rubbed shoulders with presidents flew with aviation pioneer Wiley Post covered the worst single killing of US police officers in the twentieth century wrote an acclaimed book on the vigilante group known as the Bald Knobbers charted the growth of tourism in the Ozarks and spearheaded a movement to preserve iconic sites of regional history Following retirement from her newspaper job she put her experience to good use as a member of the Springfield City Council and community activist Told largely through Upton's own words this insightful biography captures the excitement of being on the front lines of newsgathering in the days when the whole world depended on newspapers to find out what was happening Winner 2024 Missouri Literary Award First Place 2024 Missouri Professional Communicators Communications Contest Finalist Society of Midland Authors Book Award

Beadles, 2019-09-10 Packed with villains victims and heroes Stained with Blood and Tears recounts the story of what has been called the equal opportunity lynchings of Will Froggie James who was black and Henry Salznier a white man in the rowdy river town of Cairo Illinois on November 11 1909 This book is the first to focus on one of the most infamous nights of lynching in the history of the United States when about one thousand men and women were transformed into a murderous mob The book also details a lesser known attempted lynching of a suspected purse snatcher by another mob about ninety days later That mob was beaten back by about a dozen mostly African American deputies and a white sheriff Stained with Blood and Tears ends with the saga of the killing of a Cairo policeman in the police station by the sheriff from a neighboring county over an incident that began in a Cairo brothel The book thoroughly examines a dark side of Cairo's past when it had a Jim Crow mind set and crooked policemen and was awash in liquor and teeming with prostitutes and gambling houses The violence of the era led the town's Catholic priest to lament Must this fair city of ours go ever in garments spattered with blood

Larsen,2021-12-14 Operating under an outmoded system of urban development and faced by the vicissitudes of the Civil War and Reconstruction southerners in the nineteenth century built a network of cities that met the needs of their society In this pioneering exploration of that intricate story Lawrence H Larsen shows that in the antebellum period southern entrepreneurs built cities in layers to facilitate the movement of cotton First came the colonial cities followed by those of the piedmont the New West the Gulf Coast and the interior By the Civil War cotton could move by a combination of road rail and river through a network of cities for example from Jackson to Memphis to New Orleans to Europe In the Gilded Age building on past practices the South continued to make urban gains Men like Henry Grady of Atlanta and Henry Watterson of Louisville used broader regional objectives to promote their own cities Grady successfully sold Atlanta one of the most southern of cities demographically as a city with a northern outlook Watterson tied Louisville to national goals in railroad building The New South movement did not succeed in bringing the region to parity with the rest of the nation yet the South continued to rise along older lines By 1900 far from being a failure in terms of the general course of American development the South had created an urban system suited to its needs while avoiding the promotional frenzy that characterized the building of cities in the North Based upon federal and local sources this book will become the standard work on nineteenth century southern urbanization a subject too long unexplored Handheld Pies Sarah
