Ann Stamp Miller, 2004 This book deals with the intricate connection between the political structure of the East German government and cultural politics Specifically it focuses on the relationship between the government agencies and three authors It explores the difficulties the writers encountered in the 1960s with the government of East Germany and how their works did or did not conform to the cultural policy established by the GDR regime in 1951 The government believed that it was imperative for authors and artists to adhere to the literary policy of social realism prescribed by the East German Ministry of Culture An author's works were expected to conform to the political ideology of Marxism The Ministry of Culture expected writers to depict the society through the glorification of Marxism The East German cultural functionaries evaluated a piece of literature more for the author's devotion to the political doctrine than the aesthetic quality of the work If works did not conform the government agencies such as the Ministry of Culture could apply pressure to the authors in many forms censorship silencing fines prosecution surveillance and for extreme cases expatriation This study assesses three prominent writers of the former East Germany Wolf Biermann a lyricist Christa Wolf a novelist and Heiner Müller a dramatist The analysis is based on the political content of the authors' works and how the West German and East German critics evaluated them Government documents from German State Archives revealed the sensitive nature of the political and writer conferences of the GDR The study analyzes how the writers' interpretation of socialism increasingly deviated from that of the East German regime Over time the writers chose to express themselves in a different manner and thus encountered problems and conflicts with the Ministry of Culture 4. their populations She also examines the viewpoints of scientists writers and scholars with special attention to economic dimensions of the ecology debate The study reveals the increasing sophistication of specialists in influencing public policy by adapting official values to support their positions Through comparison of the Soviet and East German cases the study clarifies the impact of natural resource endowment and legitimacy dilemmas on treatment of the ecology issue The book demonstrates that Marxist Leninist values subtly affect Soviet and GDR responses but at the same time the environmental crisis is forcing a reevaluation of some aspects of Marxist Leninist theory and ideology itself GDR Literature in German Curricula and Textbooks Elizabeth Priester Steding, 2023-09-15 This book analyzes the changing portrayal of GDR literature in German Gymnasium textbooks 1985 2015 Addressing the need for textbook research to broaden its focus from GDR history to GDR literature the author presents case studies of well known GDR authors Bertolt Brecht Johannes R Becher Anna Seghers Wolf Biermann and Christa Wolf each examining a particular aspect of the societal discourse about GDR literature and the tension between literary text and historical context Taken together the case studies reveal the frequently underestimated power of ideology in literature textbooks They also show how attempts to package these authors into simplified categories ultimately reveal the profound complexities of the GDR literary legacy By examining the clear tension between literature and politics in textbooks and curricula the author demonstrates how ideological messages are transmitted in all textbooks as well as the importance of attending to overt and covert ideology Wer's glaubt wird selig!
