Constitutional and Environmental Factors Related to Serum Lipid and Lipoprotein Levels William R. Harlan, Albert Oberman, Robert E. Mitchell, Ashton Graybiel, Robert J. Wherry (Jr.), 1967 Serum lipoproteins and lipids were measured in 657 men age 48 and were correlated with multiple constitutional and environmental variables. The two lipoprotein groups Sf 0-12 and Sf 20-400 had a low intercorrelation and each correlated with different factors. The Sf 0-12 lipoproteins were related to constitutional obesity, cigarette smoking, and family history of vascular disease. The Sf 20-100 and Sf 100-400 lipoproteins were related to acquired obesity, carbohydrate tolerance, and aggressiveness and sociability as determined by personality survey. Carbohydrate tolerance, obesity, and personality were apparently independent variables. Serum triglyceride levels correlated with the same variables as the Sf 20-400 lipoproteins. Serum cholesterol levels were related to factors that correlated with both lipoprotein groups. High levels above 90th percentile of each lipoprotein fraction and each lipid were associated with significantly greater quantities of the variables found to be correlated with each lipid fraction. The prevalence of familial hyperlipidemias was low, approximately 3-4%, but 18 per cent of individuals with elevated cholesterol and a high risk of coronary heart disease could be tentatively classified as having a type of familial hyperlipidemia. Environmental cleaning and infection prevention and control in health care facilities in low and middle income countries. This training package was designed to improve the competencies of healthcare facility cleaners through a practical adult learning approach. By focusing on both process and impact evaluation, this guide aims to provide robust and actionable insights for future implementations and adaptations of the training package. Key considerations include examining the delivery of the intervention, assessing its final outcomes and effects, and utilizing mixed methods (qualitative, quantitative, and microbiological) to capture the multifaceted nature of the training package as a complex intervention. The intended audience for this guide is primarily those tasked with designing and delivering a process and/or impact evaluation, whether in the context of a research study or a type of programme audit. Monthly Weather Review

Handbook of Environmental Economics Karl-Goran Maler, Jeffrey R. Vincent, 2005-12-09 Much applied environmental economics is concerned with the valuation of changes in environmental quality. Obtaining reliable valuation estimates requires attention to theoretical and econometric issues that are often quite subtle. Volume 2 of the Handbook of Environmental Economics presents both the theory and the practice of environmental valuation. It synthesizes the vast literature that has accumulated since the publication of the Handbook of Natural Resource and Energy Economics two decades ago. It includes chapters on individual valuation methods written by researchers responsible for fundamental advances in those methods. It also includes cross-cutting chapters that deal with aspects of welfare theory, uncertainty, experimental methods, and public health that are pertinent to valuation. Throughout the volume, attention is paid to research and policy issues that arise not only in high-income countries where most of the theory and econometrics that underlie applied valuation methods have been developed but also in poorer parts of the world. The volume provides a state-of-the-art reference for scholars and practitioners alike.
