Living on the Margins: Social Access to Shelter in Urban South Asia Navtej K. Purewal, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 The privatization of former social state housing through recent public private partnerships is becoming increasingly prevalent in Third World as well as in Western countries In most Third World countries this shift has had profound effects upon the patterns of access of shelter Drawing on studies of South Asian and other Third World contexts as well as original in depth empirical research from Amritsar a city in North West India this book offers an analysis of the withdrawal of state housing provision It develops and applies a unique model based on social status to analyze the new routes of access to housing and land by the urban poor Its conclusions argue that these new privatization policies largely rely upon already existing informal and self help settlements which continue to attract the poor and to be the largest housing providers in many cities thus providing a ready made safety net for such policies The inter linkages between the private state and the public market make up a highly diversified and complex picture of shelter arrangements being accessed by the poor which is reflected in the social differentiation and increasingly stratified housing market The book argues that these partnership policies therefore have long term implications upon social patterns of inclusion and exclusion which must be addressed

Approaches to History Sabyasachi Bhattacharya, 2011 History as a social science is arguably more self reflective than associated disciplines in that family Other social scientists seem to see little reason to look beyond the paradigm they are developing in the present times Historians on the other hand tend to depend on the cumulative process of the development of their craft and the fund of accumulated knowledge Yet while this is acknowledged in the practice of research Historiography in itself as a subject of study has rarely found its place in the syllabi of Indian universities Knowledge of Historiography is taken for granted when a scholar plunges into research In an attempt to address this lacuna the Indian Council of Historical Research ICHR has planned a series of volumes on Historiography comprising articles by subject specialists commissioned by the ICHR The first volume in the series Approaches to History Essays in Indian Historiography brings to the readers the first fruits of that endeavour While the essays encompass areas of research presently at the frontiers of new research scholars will also find the bibliographies accompanying the essays of significant appeal

Social City Sadan Jha, 2022-12-15 This book examines urban experience from the vantage point of the global South Drawing upon narratives coming from three key axes communities neighbourhoods and market places it lays bare the specificities of urban experience in contemporary Surat It discusses a host of issues including the ambiguity of urban experience its uncomfortable ties with frames of the capital and the politics of urban belonging that operate at multiple levels shaping the contours of urban society Musing on the subjectivities pertaining to the social and the spatial in a milieu of a fast transforming urban landscape of

Surat Gujarat the book is an exploration of how people perceive and associate with their surroundings how they aspire how they stigmatise others the relation between the city and its migrants and castes and at a broader level between the capital and the city An important contribution to the study of cities the volume sheds light on how urban experience can be approached as a socially and spatially embedded concept It will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of social history urban sociology urban studies global South and South Asia Potters without a Wheel Saswati

Bhattacharya,2022-06-24 This book is an ethnographic study of clay idol makers of Kumartuli in Kolkata India Much of the visibility and identity of Kolkata s creative culture has been dependent upon the clay artists of Kumartuli for the last 100 years or so This book explores the nature of the carefully constructed identity of these idol makers as mritshilpis or clay artists who as opposed to ordinary potters work with their hands instead of a wheel It looks at how the mritshilpis consciously embrace and expand their market based on this variation and elevated status as artists instead of artisans and studies the embeddedness of this identity within the commodity markets It also shows that commodity markets in this case the market of clay idols are an outcome of trends of urbanisation popular demand corporatisation and commodification of culture all of which have shaped the contours of clay idol making as not only an occupation but a brand identity Drawing on extensive fieldwork and in depth interviews the book highlights the larger structural relationship between urbanisation indigenous occupational categories and identity politics It will be indispensable to scholars and researchers of sociology social anthropology political studies cultural history urban economy art history urbanisation cultural studies and urban sociology The Routledge Companion to Mobile Media Gerard Goggin,Larissa Hjorth,2014-05-09

Gender and Human Rights in a Global, Mobile Era Laura A. Hebert, 2022-06-15 Gender and Human Rights in a Global Mobile Era delves into feminist debates surrounding the relationship between gender and human rights through engaging feminist perspectives on the multifaceted issue of human trafficking Building on analyses of domestic servitude commercial sex and labor trafficking by military contractors and grounded in intersectional feminist cosmopolitanism and feminist theorizing on vulnerability precarity and ethical interdependence Laura Hebert makes several interrelated contributions As she explores how a feminist gender analysis illuminates the structures and norms enabling trafficking Hebert simultaneously considers the future of feminist rights advocacy Emphasizing the sociality of human rights she encourages feminist scholars and activists to look beyond states as the duty bearers of human rights and the assumption that human rights are made meaningful mainly through the establishment of legal rights at the national level She challenges the idea that feminism can be reduced to advocacy on behalf of women s rights She also encourages critical reflection on how divisions associated with feminist politics have impeded opportunities for the building of feminist solidarities across differences aimed at the realization of the human rights of all Strongly interdisciplinary Gender and Human Rights in a Global Mobile Era will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities
