Brooke, 2006-06-30 Humans are builders we make structures to span rivers to connect points of land to offer shelter Indeed throughout history civilizations have created structures of such immense scale requiring such tremendous resources that they might have been thought impossible From the Taj Mahal to the Suez Canal from Solomon's Temple to the Trans Alaska Pipeline these feats of macro engineering are a testament to the creativity and foresight of engineers architects government officials and diplomats Who came up with the ideas for these projects How did they see them through to completion What obstacles diplomatic legal logistical and engineering had to be overcome for these structures to be built What impact did these engineering projects have on the economies and cultures of their societies This encyclopedia answers all these questions showing how central these great engineering projects are to the history of civilization It includes the legal documents that launched them Building the World comprises detailed entries on over forty of the most important engineering projects in world history such as Washington D C the Eiffel Tower and the Channel Tunnel The rich illustration program includes 66 photographs and 30 illustrations maps and drawings that document the most important structures ever built Each entry includes a detailed history of the planning and construction of the project and a discussion of its subsequent importance A unique feature of the encyclopedia is an extensive primary source collection that illustrates how the decision to create such a structure came to be demonstrating the importance of individuals in imagining planning and building some of the most famous engineering landmarks in the world

Mobilizing in Uncertainty Anastasia Shesterinina, 2021-03-15 Winner of the Davis Center Book Prize in Political and Social Studies Co winner of the Charles Taylor Book Award How do ordinary people navigate the intense uncertainty of the onset of war Individuals mobilize in different ways some flee some pick up arms and some support armed actors Drawing on nearly two hundred in depth interviews with participants and nonparticipants in the Georgian Abkhaz war of 1992 1993 Mobilizing in Uncertainty explores Abkhaz mobilization decisions during that conflict Anastasia Shesterinina uncovers that to make sense of the violence Abkhaz leaders local authority figures and others relied on shared understandings of the conflict and their roles in it collective conflict identities that they had developed before the war People consolidated mobilization decisions within small groups of family and friends and based their actions on whom they understood to be threatened and mobilized to protect Their decisions shaped how the Georgian Abkhaz conflict unfolded Mobilizing in Uncertainty sheds light on broader processes of violence which have lasting effects on societies marked by intergroup conflict

How Organizations Develop Activists Hahrie Han, 2014 Why are some civic associations better than others at getting and keeping people involved in activism From MoveOn.org to the National Rifle Association, Health Care for America Now to the Sierra Club, membership-based civic associations constantly seek to engage people in civic and political action. What makes some more effective than others? Using in-person observations, surveys, and field experiments, this book compares organizations with strong records of engaging people in health and environmental politics to those with weaker records. To build power, civic associations need quality and quantity or depth and breadth of activism. They need lots of people to take action and also a cadre of leaders to develop and execute that activity. Yet models for how to develop activists and leaders are not necessarily transparent. This book provides these models to help associations build the power they want and support a healthy democracy. In particular, the book examines organizing, mobilizing, and lone wolf models of engagement and shows how highly active associations blend mobilizing and organizing to transform their members' motivations and capacities for involvement. This is not a simple story about the power of offline versus online organizing. Instead, it is a story about how associations can blend both online and offline strategies to build their activist base. In this compelling book, Hahrie Han explains how civic associations can invest in their members and build the capacity they need to inspire action.

Mobilization for Violent Politicized Islam Hawa Noor, 2024-08-05. This book focuses on the involvement of some Kenyans in al Shabaab, an affiliate of Al Qaeda based in Somalia, despite their country's relative stability compared to Somalia. It discusses the origin of the Kenyan state and how colonization created social stratification that benefited elites closer to the center while excluding marginalized groups at the periphery. The argument is that this pattern still prevails despite attempts to enhance equality, such as the adoption of a new constitution in 2010 promoting the devolution of power and resources. The persistence of this condition, it is argued, is what initially handed al Qaeda and later al Shabaab opportunities for mobilization enabled by its creative politicization of religion. The heavy-handed tactics employed by security forces under the auspices of the War on Terror further catalyzed this process, resulting in more Kenyan individuals joining the group. Using an historical and political process approach, the book shows how the interplay of structural conditions and al Shabaab's mobilization strategy linked with individuals' motivations for joining the group. Based on individuals' own narratives about their participation, the latter is empirically demonstrated to be non-linear, incorporating motivations beyond rational ones, contrary to the overemphasis on ideology in the literature on participation in groups similar to al Shabaab. This book will be of much interest to students of political violence, African politics, Islamic studies, and International Relations.

Media, Mobilization and the Umbrella Movement Francis L. F. Lee, 2018-05-16. The Umbrella Movement in Hong Kong caught the world's attention and imagination at the end of 2014. The 79-day occupation campaign took on some of the characteristics of the recent wave of large-scale protest movements around the world, including the prominent roles played by the media, both conventional and digital, in the mobilization and communication processes of the movement. This edited volume, Media, Mobilization and the Umbrella Movement, brings together nine contributions which examine various aspects of the media-movement nexus, including the power of televised images to mobilize people the role of social media in the insurgent public sphere young activists social media strategies media influence on citizens understanding of civil disobedience the government's response to digital media tactics public discourses about the rule of law and local and foreign media coverage of the movement We believe that this high quality collection can not only enhance our understanding of the Umbrella Movement but also facilitate and trigger more research and dialogue comparing the Umbrella Movement with other similar protest movements around the world This book was originally published as a special issue of the Chinese Journal of Communication

Decolonizing Patagonia Lucas Savino, 2022-02-25 In Decolonizing Patagonia Mapuche Peoples and State Formation in Argentina Lucas Savino examines Indigenous efforts for self determination territorial autonomy and decolonization in Northern Patagonia Argentina Through an analysis of the ways in which Mapuche activists organize in particular localities in the province of Neuquén this book contributes to broader theoretical understandings of collective identity formation and Indigenous activism under multicultural neoliberal regimes of citizenship Building on interdisciplinary contributions on state formation citizenship and collective identity formation Savino demonstrates that territorial struggles and the importance of the local political level are crucial for understanding how collective identities are configured

Individual Choice and State-Led Nationalist Mobilization in China Wen Zha, 2015-05-11 This book presents a comparative historical analysis of state led nationalist movements in Chinese history which counters current claims that popular nationalism in present day China is strong enough to sustain costly expansionist wars Popular nationalism in China has been on the rise since the early 1990s to the concern of many observers Some have even asked whether China will become another Germany A comparative historical analysis of pre war and wartime nationalist mobilization helps us better understand how individuals formulate their opinions under extreme conditions It concludes that the public's weak perception of foreign threats taken together with pro minority domestic institutions may significantly undermine the state's efforts at nationalist mobilization and thus limit its capability to pursue external expansion or other strategic goals

Global Perspectives on NGO Communication for Social Change Giuliana Sorce, 2021-11-03 This book examines the central role media and communication play in the activities of Non Governmental Organizations NGOs around the globe how NGOs communicate with key publics engage stakeholders target political actors enable input from civil society and create participatory opportunities An international line up of authors first discuss communication practices strategies and media uses by NGOs providing insights into the specifics of NGO programs for social change goals and reveal particular sets of tactics NGOs commonly employ The book then presents a set of case studies of NGO organizing from all over the world ranging from Sudan via Brazil to China to illustrate the particular contexts that make NGO advocacy necessary while also highlighting successful initiatives to illuminate the important spaces NGOs occupy in civil society This comprehensive and wide ranging exploration of global NGO communication will be of great interest to scholars across communication studies media studies public relations organizational studies political science and development studies while offering accessible pieces for practitioners and organizers      Institutions, Ethnicity, and Political Mobilization in South Africa J. Piombo, 2009-08-03 An investigation of post apartheid South Africa which is notable for a history of politicized ethnicity a complicated network of ethnic groups and for an expectation that ethnic violence would follow the 1994 political transition that did not occur following democratization
