Celadon Books and The New Yorker present the report by the Select Committee to Investigate the Jan 6 Attack on the United States Capitol. On January 6, 2021, insurgents stormed the U.S. Capitol, an act of domestic terrorism without parallel in American history designed to disrupt the peaceful transfer of power. In a resolution six months later, the House of Representatives called it one of the darkest days of our democracy and established a special committee to investigate how and why the attack happened. Celadon Books, in collaboration with The New Yorker, presents the committee's final report, the definitive account of January 6th and what led up to it based on more than a year of investigation by nine members of Congress and committee staff with a preface by David Remnick, the editor of The New Yorker and a winner of the Pulitzer Prize, and an epilogue by Congressman Jamie Raskin of Maryland, a member of the committee Ngo Influence on Forest Legislation Ramon Bravo Gonzalez, 2010-08 In the last two decades, a concern on how federal forests in the United States are managed has provoked concerns among different stakeholders including NGOs. The purpose of this thesis is to contribute to the understanding of NGO influence on forest management legislation Eight aspects were selected and compared in different study cases referring to legislative proposals dealing with forest management in order to define success criteria for a legislative initiative The study indicates that the following criteria are particularly important to fulfill in order to influence forest management legislation The issue to address should be on the political agenda and have high public interest Environmental and social aspects should not be at the expense of economic aspects The legislative initiative should be prepared in multi stakeholder processes including local government and organizations The supporters of the initiative should take part in all decision making processes and advise the Government in aspects related to their areas of expertise NGOs would likely improve their chances of influencing forest management legislation if they hold a flexible position regarding legislative proposals containing similar or even less strict measures than their own initiatives look at market oriented schemes as alternatives to legislation and maintain good relationships with other major stakeholders
