Missile Gap A Study Of The Formulation Of Military And Political Policy:

The Missile Gap Edgar M. Bottome, 1967      History of the Office of the Secretary of Defense Alfred Goldberg, Steven L. Rearden, 1984      Strategic Studies and Public Policy Colin S. Gray, 2021-09-15 Strategic studies as a field of civilian scholarship has developed along distinctive lines in the United States since World War II The rapid proliferation and increasing sophistication of weapons technology have required constant revision of strategic theory while the shifting political climate both internationally and in the United States has had an equally powerful impact One of the field's leading theorists now examines the history and development of American strategic studies the varied roles assumed by civilian strategists and their relationship with those charged with developing and carrying out American military and diplomatic policy This provocative book clearly demonstrates the importance of a sound strategic theory if America is to survive in an age of high arms technology and increased world tensions      A Companion to John F. Kennedy Marc J. Selverstone, 2014-06-03 b A COMPANION TO JOHN F KENNEDY A COMPANION TO JOHN F KENNEDY Marc J Selverstone has compiled an indispensable volume of essays on John F Kennedy and his presidency written by a stellar cast of scholars What stands out in sharp relief in this wide ranging and authoritative book is how consequential were Kennedy's thousand days for the United States and for the world and how controversial is his legacy Fredrik Logevall Stephen and Madeline Anbinder Professor of History Cornell University Marc J Selverstone has brought together a remarkable group of scholars who illuminate the many important ideas of and events that occurred during this brief administration This book is the best record of the Kennedy years Alan Brinkley Allan Nevins Professor of American History Columbia University This collection of talented scholars and their research and thoughts on John F Kennedy is an invaluable resource a deeply informed conversation for the ages Richard Reeves writer syndicated columnist and senior lecturer at the Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Southern California      Military Planning in the Twentieth Century Mary Ann Robinson, 1984 The essays commentaries and speeches which form this volume were presented at the Eleventh Military History Symposium held at the United States Air Force Academy on 10 12 October 1984 This conference is a biennial event sponsored jointly by the Department of History and the Association of Graduates of the United States Air Force Academy Begun in 1967 the series seeks to address problems in military history which have received limited attention and to provide a forum in which scholars may present the results of their research In this manner we hope to stimulate and encourage interest in military history among civilian and military scholars members of the armed forces and the cadets of the United States Air Force Academy      The Engineer Studies Center and Army Analysis William C. Baldwin, 1982      Rationalizing Capitalist Democracy S.M. Amadae, 2003-09-15 In Rationalizing Capitalist Democracy S M Amadae tells the remarkable story of how rational choice theory rose from obscurity to become the intellectual bulwark of capitalist democracy Amadae roots Rationalizing Capitalist Democracy in the turbulent post World War II era showing how rational choice theory grew out of the RAND Corporation's efforts to develop a science of military and policy decisionmaking. But while the first generation of rational choice theorists William Riker, Kenneth Arrow, and James Buchanan were committed to constructing a scientific approach to social science research, they were also deeply committed to defending American democracy from its Marxist critics. Amadae reveals not only how the ideological battles of the Cold War shaped their ideas but also how those ideas may today be undermining the very notion of individual liberty they were created to defend.

Civil Defense In The United States Thomas J. Kerr, 2019-03-04 This book traces the endeavor in U.S. to develop a means of protecting the people from the effects of nuclear war. It shows how the policies that have emerged are as much products of the political process as of weapons technology. Great Warrior Leaders/thinkers, 1989 Special Bibliography Series United States Air Force Academy. Library, 1957? Special Bibliography Series, 1957

Cold War Strategist Linda McFarland, 2001-08-30 This study of Cold War politics explores the attitudes of William Stuart Symington, a consummate Cold Warrior and Democratic senator from Missouri. The book focuses on his transition from being an avid supporter of the military and the CIA to his dovish position on the Vietnam War as he questioned all foreign commitments as well as military and CIA budgets. His ideas influenced presidential administrations ranging from Truman's to Nixon's. He exposed covert activity associated with the Vietnam War and worked to restore the constitutional balance between the executive and legislative branches of the government. Symington held several appointive positions within the Truman administration where he was instrumental in the unification of the armed services; he served as the first Secretary of the Air Force, a post responsible for the conduct of the Berlin Blockade. As a senator, he was a strong voice for the military and he openly criticized President Eisenhower for his defense policies and meager budgets. A vociferous advocate of the big bomber and ICBMs, he helped establish the missile gap myth, providing the Democratic Party with a key issue in the 1960 presidential race. This well-documented study highlights the importance of and the interplay among significant personalities, circumstances, and public policy at a key point in our nation's history.

Space and Security Peter L. Hays, 2011-03-03 This thorough examination of the roots and motivations for U.S. national security space policy provides an essential foundation for considering current space security issues. During the Cold War era, space was an important arena for the clashing superpowers, yet the United States government chose not to station weapons there. Today, new space security dynamics are evolving that reflect the growing global focus upon the broad potential contributions of space capabilities to global prosperity and security. Space and Security: A Reference Handbook examines how the United States has developed and implemented policies designed to use space capabilities to enhance national security, providing a clear and complete evaluation of the origins and motivations for U.S. national security space policies and activities. The author explains the Eisenhower Administration's quest to develop high technology intelligence collection platforms to open up the closed Soviet state and why it focused on developing a legal regime to legitimize satellite overflight for the purposes of gathering intelligence. Chinese and Indian Strategic Behavior George J. Gilboy, Eric Heginbotham, 2012-03-12 Politics Government      House of War James Carroll, 2007-06 An analysis of the Pentagon the military and their vast frequently hidden influence on American life argues that the Pentagon has since its inception operated beyond the control of any force in government or society      The ^ASputnik Challenge Robert A. Divine, 1993-03-25 On October 4 1957 the Soviet Union launched a 184 pound metal ball called Sputnik into orbit around the Earth and America plummeted into a panic Nuclear weapon designer Edward Teller claimed that the United States had lost a battle more important and greater than Pearl Harbor and magazine articles appeared with such headlines as Are We Americans Going Soft In the White House President Eisenhower seemed to do nothing leading Kennedy in 1960 to proclaim a missile gap in the Soviet s favor Rarely has public perception been so dramatically at odds with reality In The Sputnik Challenge Robert Divine provides a fascinating look at Eisenhower s handling of the early space race a story of public uproar secret U 2 flights bungled missile tests the first spy satellite political maneuvering and scientific triumph He recreates the national hysteria over the first two Sputnik launches illustrating the anxious handwringing that the Democrats led by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson aggressively played for political gain Divine takes us to private White House meetings showing how Eisenhower worked closely with science adviser James Killian allowing him to take the lead in creating a civilian agency NASA which provided intelligent and forceful leadership for American space programs But the President also knew from priceless intelligence from U 2 flights over the U S S R that he had little to fear from the touted missile gap and he fought to limit the growth and multiplication of military missile programs Eisenhower s assurance however rested on classified information and he did little to instill his confidence in the public Nor could he boast of his early support for the secret spy satellite program which quickly replaced the U 2 plane after Gary Powers was shot down in 1960 So the public continued to worry feeding the national movement for educational reform as well as congressional maneuvering over funding for numerous strategic projects Eisenhower Divine writes possessed keen strategic vision and a sure sense of budgetary priorities but ultimately he flunked a crucial test of leadership when he failed to reassure the frightened public that their fears were groundless As a result he ultimately failed in his goal to limit military spending as well which led to a real missile gap in reverse Incisively written and deeply researched The Sputnik Challenge provides a briskly paced history of the origins of NASA the space race and the age of the ICBM      Studies in Progress Or Recently Completed United States Department of State. External Research Staff, 1967      Why Leaders Lie John J. Mearsheimer, 2011-01-07 For more than two decades John J Mearsheimer has been regarded as one of the foremost realist thinkers on foreign policy Clear and incisive a fearlessly honest analyst his coauthored 2007 New York Times bestseller The Israel Lobby and U S Foreign Policy aroused a firestorm with its unflinching look at the making of America s Middle East policy Now he takes a look at another controversial but understudied aspect of international relations lying In Why Leaders Lie Mearsheimer provides the first systematic analysis of lying as a tool of statecraft identifying the varieties the reasons and the potential costs and benefits Drawing on a trove of examples he argues that leaders often lie for good strategic reasons so a blanket condemnation is unrealistic and unwise Yet there are other kinds of deception besides lying including concealment and spinning Perhaps no distinction is more important than that between lying to another state and lying to one's own people Mearsheimer was amazed to discover how unusual interstate lying has been given the atmosphere of distrust among the great powers he found that outright deceit is difficult to pull off and thus rarely worth the effort Plus it sometimes backfires when it does occur Khrushchev lied about the size of the Soviet missile force sparking an American build up Eisenhower got caught lying about U 2 spy flights in 1960 which scuttled an upcoming summit with Khrushchev Leaders more often mislead their own publics sometimes with damaging consequences Though the reasons may be noble Franklin Roosevelt for example lied to the American people about German U boats attacking the destroyer Greer in 1940 to build a case for war against Hitler they can easily lead to disaster as with the Bush administration's falsehoods about Iraq's weapons of mass destruction There has never been a sharp analysis of international lying Now a leading expert fills the gap with a richly informed and powerfully argued book Defense's Nuclear Agency, 1947-1997 Christian Brahmstedt, 2002 Defense's Nuclear Agency 1947-1997 (DTRA History Series) Defense Threat Reduction Agency, 2003-09 This official history was originally printed in very small numbers in 2002 Defense's Nuclear Agency 1947-1997 traces the development of the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project AFSWP and its descendant government organizations from its original founding in 1947 to 1997 After the disestablishment of the Manhattan Engineering District MED in 1947 AFSWP was formed to provide military training in nuclear weapons operations Over the years its sequential descendant organizations have been the Defense Atomic Support Agency DASA from 1959 to 1971 the Defense Nuclear Agency DNA from 1971 to 1996 and the Defense Special Weapons Agency DSWA from 1996 to 1998 In 1998 DSWA the On Site Inspection Agency the Defense Technology Security Administration and selected elements of the Office of Secretary of Defense were combined to form the Defense Threat Reduction Agency DTRA
