Misunderstanding Media Brian Winston, 2016-10-04 The 1980s saw constant reports of an information revolution This book first published in 1986 challenges this view It argues that the information revolution is an illusion a rhetorical gambit an expression of profound historical ignorance and a movement dedicated to purveying misunderstanding and disseminating disinformation In this historically based attack on the information revolution Professor Winston takes a hard look at the four central information technologies telephones television computers and satellites He describes how these technologies were created and diffused showing that instead of revolution we just have business as usual He formulates a law of the suppression of radical potential a law which states that new telecommunication technologies are introduced into society only insofar as their disruptive potential is contained Despite the so called information revolution the major institutions of society remain unchanged and most of us remain in total ignorance of the history of technology Misunderstanding News

Audiences Eiri Elvestad, Angela Phillips, 2018-04-09 Misunderstanding News Audiences interrogates the prevailing myths around the impact of the Internet and social media on news consumption and democracy The book draws on a broad range of comparative research into audience engagement with news across different geographic regions to provide insight into the experience of news audiences in the twenty first century From its inception it was imagined that the Internet would benignly transform the nature of news media and its consumers There were predictions that it would for example break up news oligarchies improve plurality and diversity through news personalisation create genuine social solidarity online and increase political awareness and participation among citizens However this book finds that while mainstream news media is still the major source of news the new media environment appears to lead to greater polarisation between news junkies and news avoiders and to greater political polarisation The authors also argue that the dominant role of the USA in the field of news audience research has created myths about a global news audience which obscures the importance of national context as a major explanation for news exposure differences Misunderstanding News Audiences presents an important analysis of findings from recent audience studies and in doing so encourages readers to re evaluate popular beliefs about the influence of the Internet on news consumption and democracy in the West Media, Technology and Society Brian

Winston, 2002-09-11 Challenging the popular myth of a present day information revolution Media Technology and Society is essential reading for anyone interested in the social impact of technological change Winston argues that the development of new media forms from the telegraph and the telephone to computers satellite and virtual reality is the product of a constant play off between social necessity and suppression the unwritten law by which new technologies are introduced into society only insofar as their disruptive potential is limited Media, Ritual and Identity James Curran, Tamar Liebes, 2002-09-11

Media Ritual and Identity examines the role of the media in society its complex influence on democratic processes and its participation in the construction and affirmation of different social identities It draws extensively upon cultural anthropology

Singer,2012 Handbook of Children and the Media brings together the best known scholars from around the world to summarize the current scope of the research in this field      The Future of Post-Human Mass Media Peter Baofu,2009-01-14 Why should mass media be informational and accurate as much as its proponents would claim and conversely disinformational and propagandistic as much as its critics would argue Contrary to the conventional wisdom held by many since the modern era of mass media neither of the two opposing views is correct to the extent that a total analysis of media influence has yet to be adequately explored and understood Something fundamentally vital to the analysis of communication has been missing This is not to say however that the literature on media studies hitherto existing in history has been much ado about nothing on the contrary indeed much can be learned from different theoretical approaches in the field But the important point to remember here is that this book aims to show an alternative better way to understand the nature of mass media which goes beyond both the pros and cons in the literature on media influence while learning from them all If true this seminal view will alter the way of how mass media are to be understood with its enormous theoretical implications for going beyond the existing paradigms on the future of communication in a small sense and for predicting the future of open and closed societies in a large sense      The New Media Theory Reader Hassan, Robert,Thomas, Julian,2006-09-01 The study of new media opens up some of the most fascinating issues in contemporary culture bringing together key readings on new media what it is where it came from how it affects our lives and how it is managed It encourages readers to pay attention to the new in new media as well as consider it

The Europa Lectures, 2002-2014 Martin Holland, Serena Kelly, 2017-11-01 Commencing in 2001 the Europa Lecture has become a high profile fixture on the EU New Zealand calendar As witnessed by the fifteen lectures reproduced in this new volume the speakers were selected for both their high level profile as well as their importance to this bilateral dialogue This volume includes speeches from three Prime Ministers a President four European Commissioners as well as four Foreign Ministers both European and New Zealanders Each lecture naturally reflects the important issues of their day and cumulatively they produced a unique record of how EU New Zealand relations have evolved matured and continued to converge since the start of the new millennium The earlier lectures reflect a general optimism in the European integration project perhaps best highlighted by the historic enlargement of 1st May 2004 However with the onset of the global financial crisis and then subsequent Eurozone debt crisis the anticipated trajectory towards a supranational ever closer union was interrupted and the EU found itself confronting a period of both internal and external criticism and anxiety It was in these less than auspicious times that significant effort towards enhancing New Zealand's bilateral relations with the EU gained momentum These initiatives are expected to bear fruit in 2016 with the signing of a Partnership Agreement on Relations and Cooperation and BREXIT notwithstanding a fully fledged EU NZ Free Trade Agreement before 2020 This collection of lectures ends just as the rise in Euroscepticism became evident and the first serious murmurings of BREXIT could be detected within British politics The impact the UK's decision will have on EU New Zealand relations remains uncertain although as the introductory chapter to this volume suggests since 2015 New Zealand's media have seemingly begun to conflate coverage of the EU as being tantamount to BREXIT If this trend does come to dominate the New Zealand media landscape then Kiwi perceptions towards Europe run a risk of becoming unbalanced and a Back to the Future perspective reflecting the difficulties of the 1970s may again come shape perceptions
