

Misunderstanding

In this concrete jungle,
We are often misunderstood,
If you realize this more or less,
You understand the world's mystery,
Far better than most people.

Yes I was also misunderstood,
Left to be misunderstood,
And my eyes opened because of it,
As I could look beyond the misunderstandings.

Old and gold nature was so pure,
It could never deceive you,
As earlier life was so easy in the midst of nature,
But now beautiful nature is slowly fading away,
As if it has to hug the unstoppable death,
Which is the saddest fate,

But still I will never lose faith,
I will face misunderstandings like never before,
And live my life without misunderstanding myself,
And my loved ones,
For which my life will become,
A fulfilled treat,
A sight to behold,
In which I always wish to retreat,
And all my misunderstandings will accept defeat,
Will not my life be worth living?
In this tough wide world,

Where nobody gives us a kind wording.

The Misunderstanding of Nature Sophie Cabot Black, 1994 Sophie Cabot Black is an unabashedly passionate poet Her language is exquisite each word falling perfectly into precise structures of vision Whether in a loose sonnet form or in a taut longer line these poems are exercises in the extension of the soul Devotional and pure Sophie Cabot Black's voice is one of inconstant waiting of meditation on edge The Misunderstanding of Nature encompasses two New Worlds the contemporary one and the one of seventeenth century New England At its epiphany this collection presents a long poem called The Arguments a monologue in the voice of Dorothy Bradford one of the first Englishwomen to have set foot in America Through her complicated search for transcendence we overhear the movements of learning to belong caught at the rim of the wilderness

The Nature-study Review, 1923 The Nature-study Review Maurice Alpheus Bigelow, Fred Lemar Charles, Elliot Rowland Downing, Anna Botsford Comstock, 1922 Prose Poems of the French Enlightenment Fabienne Moore, 2017-11-30 By examining nearly sixty works the author traces the prehistory of the French prose poem demonstrating that the disquiet of some eighteenth century writers with the Enlightenment gave rise to the genre nearly a century before it is habitually supposed to have existed In the throes of momentous scientific philosophical and socioeconomic changes Enlightenment authors turned to the past to revive sources such as Homer the pastoral Ossian the Bible and primitive eloquence favoring music to construct alternatives to the world of reason The result the author argues were prose poems including F. L. 's Les Aventures de T. Maque Montesquieu's Le Temple de Gnide Rousseau's Le L. de Ephraïm Chateaubriand's Atala as well as many lesser known texts most of which remain out of print The author's treatment of Bible criticism and eighteenth century religious reform movements reveal the often neglected spiritual side of Enlightenment culture and tracks its contribution to the period's reflection about language and poetic invention The author includes in appendices four unusual texts adjudicating the merits of prose poems making evidence of their controversial nature now accessible to readers
