Shanks, 1997-11-01 Model Foreign Investment Law with Annotations represents a pattern that law makers may use in modernizing existing foreign investment laws or in establishing a market oriented framework to attract foreign investment It utilizes a contractual approach to the relations between the foreign investor and the host State limiting the administrative steps that might hinder the willingness of foreign investors to invest in a system which they perceive as burdensome while at the same time preserving the right of the host State to regulate foreign investment within its borders Included in this volume Annotations explanatory notes definitions of terms and references to additional readings Bibliography articles books and international documents Appendices Sample Foreign Investment Application Form Arbitration Rules of the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law UNCITRAL Convention on the Settlement of Investment Disputes between States and Nationals of Other States      The Silicon Empire Michael B. Likosky, 2018-01-18 Michael Likosky examines the continuities and discontinuities between colonial and present day high tech transnational legal orders His concern is specifically with the colonial characteristics of the legal order which underpins the global high tech economy He distinguishes the democratic and human rights rhetoric of this economy from a reality wherein the legal order is often used to reproduce colonial type relationships Just as in the colonial period the expansion of trans border commerce overlaps with democratic demands and human rights in complex multifaceted and paradoxical ways Through a case study looking at Malaysia s Multimedia Super Corridor a high tech national development plan and foreign direct investment scheme he examines how the transnational leaders of the high tech economy along with the Malaysian political elite react when human rights problems threaten to derail commercial plans      The Legal Framework of EU-China Investment Relations Wenhua Shan, 2005-10-21 EU investment in China has increased dramatically since the early 1990s and is poised to increase further in light of Chinas recent accession to the World Trade Organisation This book explores and critically appraises the existing legal framework governing EU China investment relations particularly EU investment in China The current legal framework is composed of Chinese law EU law and applicable international law but the Chinese law is unsystematic and hard to discover and the EU has acquired only shared external investment competence which is vaguely defined The applicable international treaties are incomplete incoherent or either too general or too specialised Besides this the international fora to settle investment disputes are still not readily available

Furthermore while law has played a very important role in decision making by EU investors the Chinese legal system is generally perceived as ineffective and lacking in effective enforcement of court and arbitration decisions What the book demonstrates is that the time is ripe for a new international legal framework for foreign investment in China and that as EU China economic and political relations continue to improve construction of such a framework is not only necessary but also possible

Micronesia Mining Laws and Regulations Handbook - Strategic Information and Regulations IBP, Inc., 2016-06 2011 Updated Reprint Updated Annually Micronesia Mining Laws and Regulations Handbook The Foundations of International Investment Law Zachary Douglas, Joost Pauwelyn, Jorge E. Viñuales, 2014-05-01 International investment law is one of the fastest growing areas of international law It has led to the signing of thousands of agreements mostly in the form of investment contracts and bilateral investment treaties Also in the last two decades there has been an exponential growth in the number of disputes being resolved by investment arbitration tribunals Yet the legal principles at the basis of international investment law and arbitration remain in a state of flux Perhaps the best illustration of this phenomenon is the wide disagreement among investment tribunals on some of the core concepts underpinning the regime such as investment property regulatory powers scope of jurisdiction applicable law or the interactions with other areas of international law The purpose of this book is to revisit these conceptual foundations in order to shed light on the practice of international investment law It is an attempt to bridge the growing gap between the theory and the practice of this thriving area of international law The first part of the book focuses on the infrastructure of the investment regime or more specifically on the structural arrangements that have been developed to manage foreign investment transactions and the potential disputes arising from them The second part of the book identifies the common conceptual bases of an array of seemingly unconnected practical problems in order to clarify the main stakes and offer balanced solutions The third part addresses the main sources of regime stress as well as the main legal mechanisms available to manage such challenges to the operation of the regime Overall the book offers a thorough investigation of the conflicting theoretical positions underlying international investment law testing their worth by reference to concrete issues that have arisen in the jurisprudence It demonstrates that many of the most important practical questions arising in practice can be addressed by a carefully dosed resort to theory
