Nutrition And Poverty:

Nutrition and Poverty Siddiquir Rahman Osmani,1992 This volume deals with an ongoing debate relating to the definition and measurement of nutritional status It focuses on the problems of measuring undernutrition and its links with poverty both as a cause and an effect New Findings on Poverty and Child Health and Nutrition National Research Council and Institute of Medicine,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Board on Children, Youth, and Families,1998-06-06 The Link Between Poverty and Malnutrition Maurice W. Schiff,Alberto Valdés,1990 Past studies have identified nutrition exclusively with nutrient intake A better definition of nutrition as the one used here would critically affect the link between poverty and malnutrition and would affect the implications for policies designed to improve the nutritional status of the poor Nutrition and Poverty Rae Simons,2014 This book is a revised and updated edition of Nutrition Poverty ISBN 978 1 934970 30 0 published in 2009 by Alpha House Publishing Food Security, Nutrition and Poverty Alleviation in Ethiopia Agricultural Economics Society of Ethiopia. Conference,1995 Poverty and Nutrition in Bolivia ,2002-01-01 Annotation This book defines the nature and extent of the malnutrition problem in Bolivia its causes and its occurrence relative to wealth location and ethnicity It also identifies the underlying reasons for the failed response The Link between Poverty and Malnutrition Maurice Schiff,2017 Past studies have identified nutrition exclusively with nutrient intake A better definition of nutrition would critically affect the link between poverty and malnutrition and would affect the implications for policies designed to improve the nutritional status of the poor This paper focuses on the relationship between household income and their nutritional and health status It presents new evidence on these interactions and suggests a framework for the analysis of the interactions between income transfers the publicly provided inputs and the household s response as reflected in the effect on nutrition and health Such framework can be applied in the evaluation of public policies designed to reduce malnutrition and improve the health status among the poor in urban and rural areas The State of Food Security and Nutrition in the World 2019 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,International Fund for Agricultural Development ,World Food Programme,World Health Organization,United Nations Children's Fund,2019-07-15 This year s report presents evidence that the absolute number of people who suffer from hunger continues to slowly increase The report also highlights that food insecurity is more than just hunger For the first time the report provides evidence that many people in the world even if not hungry experience moderate food insecurity as they face uncertainties about their ability to obtain food and are forced to compromise on the quality and or quantity of the food they consume This phenomenon is observed globally not only in low and middle income countries but also in high income countries The report also shows that the world is not on track to meet global nutrition targets including those on low birthweight and on reducing stunting among children under five years Moreover overweight and obesity continue to increase in all regions particularly among school age children and adults The report stresses that no region is exempt from the epidemic of overweight and obesity underscoring the necessity of multifaceted multisectoral approaches to halt and reverse these worrying trends In light of the fragile state of the world economy the report presents new evidence confirming that hunger has been on the rise for many countries where the economy has slowed down or contracted Unpacking the links between economic slowdowns and downturns and food insecurity and malnutrition the report contends that the effects of the former on the latter can only be offset by addressing the root causes of hunger and malnutrition poverty inequality and marginalization

Constructing a nutrition deficiency index: Applications for the Democratic Republic of the Congo under a decade of humanitarian crises Mirindi, Patrice L., Das, Mousumi, Mirindi, Patrick N., Babu, Suresh Chandra, 2021-02-03 The Democratic Republic of the Congo DRC is perennially plagued by prolonged phases of poverty conflict and increased internal migration as well as pandemic outbreaks such as Ebola and COVID 19 and limited livelihood opportunities Such unexpected or catastrophic events have rendered households vulnerable and resulted in poor health outcomes Given this background we intend to analyze the nutritional profile of households for a period spanning almost a decade using the Household Consumption Expenditure Survey HCES We construct a composite nutrition deficiency index NDI capturing intake of 14 different macro and micronutrients which we refer to as dimensions namely calories protein calcium zinc folate thiamine niacin iron vitamin A vitamin B12 vitamin D vitamin B6 vitamin C and vitamin E using the popular Alkire Foster methodology This methodology usually used to construct multidimensional poverty indexes in this case helps measure the incidence intensity and combined extent of multinutrient deprivation DRC s values on the multidimensional NDI vary regionally from 0.13 to 0.73 Urban DRC performs worse than rural DRC Regions subject to the conflict and Ebola crises are the worst affected of the nutritionally deprived regions Deficiency in calorie and protein intake contributes to the highest values of the NDI but we also find evidence of a double burden of malnutrition with households lacking consumption of both macro and micronutrients South Kivu is the worst performing of all regions and Mongala the best The northern parts of DRC have fewer nutritionally deprived households as compared with the central and southwestern parts Our main policy recommendation is to help improve market access in urban areas so that people consume a more diverse diet In rural areas the government should support improving nutrition sensitive agricultural production Although the World Food Programme has a sustained presence in the country uplifting households from severe hunger active participation by the government and collaboration with multiple stakeholders is called for
