Architecture and Identity Peter Herrle, Erik Wegerhoff, 2008 This book brings together complex fields of knowledge and globally splintered discourses on a subject that is experienced not only by scholars but in the everyday lives of people around the world There is a common complaint about the loss of identity which to a substantial degree is being associated with the built environment in cities and specifically with their architecture Architecture and Identity takes a global multidisciplinary look on how identities in contemporary architecture are constructed The general hypothesis underlying this book is that in a globalized world identity in architecture cannot be easily derived from distinct indigenous patterns The book presents forty contributions from various disciplines aiming to destroy the myth of an inheritable or otherwise prefabricated identity Some authors dismantle constructs of identity that have long been considered as solid and unbreakable while others meticulously unravel the construction process of identities in

The Historiography of Modern Architecture Panayotis Tournikiotis, 2001-02-27 The history of modern architecture as constructed by historians and key texts Writing according to Panayotis Tournikiotis has always exerted a powerful influence on architecture Indeed the study of modern architecture cannot be separated from a fascination with the texts that have tried to explain the idea of a new architecture in a new society During the last forty years the question of the relationship of architecture to its history of buildings to books has been one of the most important themes in debates about the course of modern architecture Tournikiotis argues that the history of modern architecture tends to be written from the present projecting back onto the past our current concerns so that the beginning of the story really functions as a representation of its end In this book the buildings are the quotations while the texts are the structure Tournikiotis focuses on a group of books by major historians of the twentieth century Nikolaus Pevsner Emil Kaufmann Sigfried Giedion Bruno Zevi Leonardo Benevolo Henry Russell Hitchcock Reyner Banham Peter Collins and Manfredo Tafuri In examining these writers thoughts he draws on concepts from critical theory relating architecture to broader historical models

The Forgotten Christians of Hangzhou David E. Mungello, 1994-01-01 Based on manuscripts from the once inaccessible former Jesuit library of Zikawei in Shanghai this book breaks new ground in focusing on the generation that followed Matteo Ricci and other luminaries of the early China mission Unusual in its coverage of both Jesuits and their Chinese literati converts The Forgotten Christians of Hangzhou traces the development of the Christian presence in seventeenth century Hangzhou through the work of Jesuit fathers Martino Martini and Prospero Intorcetta and Confucian scholar Zhang Xingyao whose struggle to demonstrate the compatibility of Neo Confucianism with the Lord of Heaven Teaching from the Far West forms the focus of D E Mungello's penetrating study Zhang and his fellow literati converts were in almost all respects highly orthodox Confucians who nevertheless regarded Christianity as complementary to and in some respects transcending Confucianism Their search for an intellectual blending of the two religions shows that contrary to important recent studies Christianity was inculturated into seventeenth century China far more than has been realized Prior to their dissolution at the hands of a hostile imperial government a century later the Hangzhou Christians had built one of the most beautiful churches in East Asia a seminary for training young Chinese priests a library and printing center and a Jesuit cemetery The church and cemetery have since been reopened and the works of Hangzhou Christians are preserved in libraries in Shanghai Beijing and Paris These architectural and literary monuments help reconstruct the features of one of China's most colorful and historical cities and the experiences of some of her most remarkable inhabitants The Forgotten Christians of Hangzhou not only tells us their story but adds a new dimension to our knowledge of the assimilation of Christianity by Chinese culture a process that is still under way today

The Anatomy of Architecture Suzanne Preston Blier, 1994 Blier illuminates the extraordinary architecture of the Batammaliba people of Western Africa revealing these buildings as texts through which we can read the beliefs psychology traditions and social concerns of their inhabitants In doing so she explores the role of vernacular architecture as an expression of culture A splendid analysis of the centrality of architecture in the daily lives of the Batammaliba and its integral role in articulating social values The story is beautifully told in the best of anthropological traditions Judith R Blau Contemporary Society A remarkable study Blier's volume carries the study of African architecture to a qualitatively new level of scholarship It introduces a new dimension whereby the architectural medium can be used to illuminate much of the entire belief system of any culture Labelle Prussin African Arts In this excellent book Blier provides a richly detailed and searching account of what architecture means to the Batammaliba of northern Togo and Benin The finest account I have yet read of the relations between systems of beliefs ritual practices and African aesthetics and plastic arts The ethnography and basic insight should be the envy of any social anthropologist T O Beidelman Man Encyclopedia of the Romantic Era, 1760-1850 Christopher John Murray, 2013-05-13 In 850 analytical articles this two volume set explores the developments that influenced the profound changes in thought and sensibility during the second half of the eighteenth century and the first half of the nineteenth century The Encyclopedia provides readers with a clear detailed and accurate reference source on the literature thought music and art of the period demonstrating the rich interplay of international influences and cross currents at work and to explore the many issues raised by the very concepts of Romantic and Romanticism

Publications of the American Folklife Center ,1977 American Architecture and Urbanism Vincent Scully, 2013-04-29 A classic book authored by the foremost architectural historian in America this fully illustrated history of American architecture and city planning is based on Vincent Scully's conviction that architecture and city planning are inseparably linked and must therefore be treated together He defines architecture as a continuing dialogue between generations which creates an environment across time This definitive survey extends beyond the cities themselves to the American scene as a whole which has inspired the reasonable balanced closed and ordered forms and above all the probity that he feels typifies American architecture

Shaping the Surface Stephen Kite, 2022-11-17 Shaping the Surface explores the history of modern British architecture through the lens of surface materiality and decoration Picking up on a trait that art historian Nikolaus Pevsner first identified as a national mania for beautiful surface quality this book makes a new contribution to architectural history and visual culture in its detailed examination of the surfaces of British architecture from the middle of the 19th century up to the turn of the 21st century Tracing this continuing sensibility to surface all the way through to the modern era it explores how and why surface and materiality have featured so heavily in recent architectural tradition examining the history of British architecture through a selection of key cultural moments and movements from Romanticism and the Arts and Crafts to Brutalism High Tech Post Modernism Neo Vernacular and the New Materiality Embedded within the narrative is the question of whether such national characters can exist in architecture at all and indeed the extent to which it is possible to identify a British architectural consciousness in an architectural tradition characterised by its continuous importation of theories ideas materials and people from around the globe Shaping the Surface provides a deep critique and meditation on the importance of surface and materiality for architects designers and historians everywhere in Britain and beyond while it also serves as a thematic introduction to modern British architectural history with in depth readings of the works of many key British architects artists and critics from Ruskin and William Morris to Alison and Peter Smithson Eduardo Paolozzi Richard Rogers and Caruso St John

Architecture and Spatial Culture John Peponis, 2024-03-19 Built space supports our daily habits and our membership of communities organizations institutions or social formations Architecture and Spatial Culture argues that architecture matters because it makes the settings of our life intelligible so that we can sustain or creatively transform them As technological and social innovations allow us to overcome spatial constraints to communication cooperation and exchange so the architecture of embodied experience reflects independent cultural choices and human values The analysis of a wealth of examples from urban environments to workplaces and museums shows that built space functions pedagogically inducing us to specific ways of seeing understanding and feeling and supporting distinct patterns of cooperation and life in common Architecture and Spatial Culture is about the principles that underpin the design and inhabitation of space It also serves as an introduction to Space Syntax a descriptive theory used to model the human functions of layouts Thus it addresses architects students of architecture and all those working in disciplines that engage the design of the built environment and its social effects

Knowledge Economy and the City Ali Madanipour, 2013-03-01 This book explores the relationship between space and economy the spatial expressions of the knowledge economy The capitalist industrial economy produced its own space which differed radically from its predecessor agrarian and mercantile economies If a new knowledge based economy is emerging it is similarly expected to produce its own space to suit the new circumstances of production and consumption If these spatial expressions do exist even if in incomplete and partial forms they are likely to be the model for the future of cities

Design Technics Zeynep Çelik Alexander, John May, 2020-01-21 Leading scholars historicize and theorize technology s role in architectural design Although the question of technics pervades the contemporary discipline of architecture there are few critical analyses on the topic Design Technics fills this gap arguing that the technical dimension of design has often been flattened into the broader celebratory rhetoric of innovation Bringing together leading scholars in architectural and design history the volume's contributors situate these tools on a broader epistemological and chronological canvas The essays here construct histories some panoramic and others unfolding around a specific episode of seven techniques regularly used by the designer in the architectural studio today rendering modeling scanning equipping specifying positioning and repeating Starting with observations about the epistemological changes that have unfolded in the discipline in recent decades but seeking to offer a more expansive meaning for technics the volume casts new light on concepts such as form experience and image that have played central roles in historical architectural discourses Among the questions addressed How was the concept of form immanent in practices of scanning since the late nineteenth century What was the historical relationship between rendering and experience in Enlightenment discourses How did practices of specifying reconfigure the distinction between intellectual and manual labor What kind of rationality is inherent in the designer's constant clicking of the mouse in front of her screen In addressing these and other questions this engaging and timely collection thereby proposes technics as a site for historical and philosophical reflection not only for those engaged in architectural design but also for any scholar working in the humanities today Contributors Lucia Allais Edward Eigen Orit Halpern John Harwood Matthew C Hunter and Michael Osman

C.G. Jung and the Humanities Karin Barnaby, Pellegrino D'Acierno, 2017-03-14 C G Jung has been and continues to be a pervasive yet often unacknowledged presence in twentieth century art and intellectual life This timely volume is the first comprehensive attempt to assess this presence and to demonstrate Jung's far reaching cultural impact The distinguished contributors represent a number of views from traditional Jungian to the most contemporary post Jungian stances including feminist non Jungian and anti Jungian positions Jung as seen in this volume addresses a wide range of contemporary issues related to creativity gender religion popular culture and hermeneutics The essays reveal dimensions of his work that extend far beyond psychoanalytical theory and that show his hermeneutics to be a much more subtle and sophisticated methodology than previously allowed by his critics This methodology appears in fact to have anticipated significant aspects of contemporary critical principles and practice The contributors to the volume were among the participants in a major international conference sponsored by Hofstra University and the C G Jung Foundation of New York held in 1986 at Hofstra University They include Thomas Belmonte Robert Bly Joseph Campbell Edward S Casey Stanley Diamond Jean Erdman Leslie Fiedler James Hillman Paul Kugler Ibram Lassaw Neil Levine David L Miller Lucio Pozzi Gilles Quispel Robert Richenburg Carol Schreier Rupperecht Andrew Samuels Harold Schechter and June Singer Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Surface and Deep Histories Anuradha Chatterjee, 2014-06-26 Surface in architecture has had a deeper and a more pervasive presence in the practice and theory of the discipline than is commonly supposed Orientations to the surface emerge collapse and reappear sustaining it as a legitimate theoretical and artefactual entity despite the twentieth century disciplinary definition of architecture as space structure and function Even though surface is defended for its pervasiveness Kurt Forster its function as a theoretical motif with generative power Andrew Benjamin and in constituting the operative principles of modern architecture as a visual phenomenon Mark Wigley it occupies the interstice or the space of the unconscious within architectural discourse from where it defends its legitimacy as architecturally valuable or functional as opposed to merely visually pleasurable Surface and Deep Histories positions surface within the scholarship of critical theory and design based approaches and invites academics and designers and art and architectural historians based in Australia to consider the uses, figurations, scales and typologies of surfaces. The collection choreographs contributions that focus on a variety of topics such as montage and construction of colonial modernity and visual culture. Molly Duggins: wallpaper, rational space and femininity; Anna Daly: the inter-constituted nature of bodies, clothes and cities; Stella North: the reconstruction of the urban surface through a true integration of information and topology; M. Hank Haeusler: James Fergusson's theory of ornament; Peter Kohane: traditional and new verandahs in Australia; Chris Brisbin: contradictory effects of surface in Green architecture debates; Flavia Marcello and Ian Woodcock: and the thickness of thin curtain walls in contemporary Australian architecture; Anuradha Chatterjee: Surface and Deep Histories shows that surface is not thin spatially or conceptually. It demonstrates that the practice of surface is simultaneously superficial and pervasive, symbol and space, meaningful and functional, static and transitory, and object and envelope.

Medieval Italy (2004). Christopher Kleinhenz, 2017 Architectures of Occupation in the Australian Short Story

Patrick West, 2024-05-28. Patrick West's Architectures of Occupation in the Australian Short Story cultivates the potential for literary representations of architectural space to contribute to the development of a contemporary politics of Australian post-colonialism. West argues that the predominance of tropes of place within cultural and critical expressions of Australian post-colonialism should be re-balanced through attention to spatial strategies of anti-colonial power. To elaborate the raw material of such strategies, West develops interdisciplinary close readings of keynote stories within three female-authored pan-twentieth-century Australian short story collections: Bush Studies by Barbara Baynton (1902), Kiss on the Lips and Other Stories by Katharine Susannah Prichard (1932) and White Turtle: A Collection of Short Stories by Merlinda Bobis (1999). The capacity of the short story form to prompt creative and politically germinal engagements with species of space associated with architecture and buildings is underscored. Relatedly, West argues that the recent resurgence of binary thought on local, national and international scales occasions an approach to the short story collections shaped by binary relationships like a dichotomy of inside and outside. Concluding his argument, West connects the literary and architectural critiques of the story collections to the wicked problem linked to ongoing colonial violences of improving Australian Indigenous housing outcomes. Innovative and interdisciplinary, this book will be of interest to scholars and students of Literary, Architectural and Postcolonial Studies.
