Del Mar Neal Snidow, 2016-06-01 This remarkable book joins the company of self work deep acts of memory that serve to illuminate the present by shining the clear light of careful regard on the past The book finds company in the work of D J Waldie's Holy Land Didion's Slouching Towards Bethlehem and the profound My Struggle by Karl Ove Knausgaard In 1996 Neal Snidow found himself at a personal impasse as he and his wife struggled in vain to have a child Locked in sadness at their predicament in mid career as a college teacher and unpublished writer and at the first daunting steps of open adoption as a kind of solace Neal began taking black and white photos of his old neighborhood in southern California The film was slow the camera on a tripod the process awkward and the goal no more than Garry Winogrand's famous dictum that he made pictures to find out what something will look like photographed But as this process unfolded and the images began to accumulate slowly but surely the pictures unlocked the past and he began to delve into family history opening out the secret and the unspoken and evoking the lost pleasures and losses of the beach town where he had grown up The chapters that followed like the photos that now accompanied them were quietly observant of an ordinary surface around which gathered an aura of struggle gaiety and loss He titled the book Vista Del Mar for the street that ran past his old apartment to the edge of the Pacific and gave it the subtitle a memoir of the ordinary in testimony to the everydayness of the experiences he explored The chapters move back and forth in time and place to Virginia to a homestead in Wyoming to depression era Nebraska to the Second World War Aunts uncles ancestors beach denizens characters of film noir and finally a miraculous new baby all populate the pages which despite the struggles they relate conclude on a major chord of reconciliation and hope

The Man Who Lost the Sea Theodore Sturgeon, 2013-04-23 By the winner of the Hugo the Nebula and the World Fantasy Life Achievement Awards this latest volume finds Theodore Sturgeon in fine form as he gains recognition for the first time as a literary short story writer Written between 1957 and 1960 when Sturgeon and his family lived in both America and Grenada finally settling in Woodstock New York these stories reflect his increasing preference for psychology over ray guns Stories such as The Man Who Told Lies A Touch of Strange and It Opens the Sky show influences as diverse as William Faulkner and John Dos Passos Always in touch with the zeitgeist Sturgeon takes on the Russian Sputnik launches of 1957 with The Man Who Lost the Sea switching the scene to Mars and injecting his trademark mordancy and vivid wordplay into the proceedings These mature stories also don't stint on the scares as The Graveyard Reader one of Boris Karloff's favorite stories shows Acclaimed novelist Jonathan Lethem's foreword neatly summarizes Sturgeon's considerable achievement here
