The Promise Leonard Shengold, 2018-05-15 Our sense of identity begins our psychological birth sometime in the first year of life with the feeling that we are the centre of the universe protected by godlike benevolent parents who will enable us to live happily ever after This is the Promise that is never given up lurking in the unconscious part of our minds We must learn reluctantly that our parents are unable to protect us from the passage of time from decline and from death Yet we retain even as adults the delusion that while others may die we never will This adds fuel to the murderous anger we are born with and must master alongside the contradictory vertical split in the mind that we are destined to die The Promise is described in patients and in examples from biography and fiction in relation to anniversaries and specific holidays The book ends with a specific illustration in relation to an eight month old infant

The Rise of the Memoir Alex Zwerdling, 2017 The Rise of the Memoir traces the growth and extraordinarily wide appeal of the memoir Its territory is private rather than public life shame guilt and embarrassment not the achievements celebrated in the public record What accounts for the sharp need writers like Rousseau Woolf Orwell Nabokov Primo Levi and Maxine Hong Kingston felt to write and to publish such works when they might more easily have chosen to remain silent Alex Zwerdling explores why each of these writers felt compelled to write them as that story can be reconstructed from personal materials available in archival collections what internal conflicts they encountered while trying and how each of them resisted the private and public pressures to stop themselves rather than pursuing this confessional route against their own doubts without a reasonable expectation that such works would be welcome in print and eventually find an empathetic audience Reconstructing this process in which a dubious project eventually becomes a compelling product a memoir that will last illuminates both what was at stake and why this serially invented open form has reshaped the expectations of readers who welcomed a vital alternative to the official story Julia Duckworth Stephen Diane F. Gillespie, Elizabeth Steele, 1987-12-01 An illustrated critical edition of the stories and essays of Julia Stephen the mother of the novelist Virginia Woolf Includes biographical information notes and some drawings by her husband The Cambridge Companion to Literature and Psychoanalysis Vera J. Resisting Theologies and the Everyday Wren Radford, 2025-06-26 This powerful volume provides dynamic ways of constructing theologies of resistance and liberation by engaging with the everyday practices of marginalised communities In doing so this collection of theological experts reject abstracted concepts of bodes and taxonomies of race gender sexuality and disability Readers will find this a dynamic book with a variety of approaches that provide ways of constructing theologies of resistance and liberation Experiences of marginalisation have provided a powerful reference point for developing theologies of justice and liberation however theological and political frameworks often reduce the complexity of lived experiences into categories and themes Daily practices of resisting and surviving are frequently considered too fleshy domestic or banal to be of theological meaning Therefore Radford and their coterie of academics draw on understandings of the everyday in feminist womanist Latinx and decolonial theologies as well as in cultural theory This allows critical reflection on how theological approaches can shape alternative relations to self society and the sacred In recognising the lived and felt realities of struggling against oppressive colonial and racialised systems contributors engage with academic and activist debates about the possibilities of remaking social relations and creating other ways of knowing and being From Black theology to disabled activists on social media to queer clergy in South Africa this volume holds together differences in contributors approaches modelling the view that there is not just one form of resistance nor a single approach to constructing theology
