Natural Rights and the Birth of Romanticism in the 1790s R. Imagining the Dead in British Literature and Culture, 1790-1848 David McAllister, 2018-09-29 This book offers the first account of the dead as an imagined community in the early nineteenth century It examines why Romantic and Victorian writers including Wordsworth Dickens De Quincey Godwin and DIsraeli believed that influencing the imaginative conception of the dead was a way to either advance or resist social and political reform This interdisciplinary study contributes to the burgeoning field of Death Studies by drawing on the work of both canonical and lesser known writers reformers and educationalists to show how both literary representation of the dead and the burial and display of their corpses in churchyards dissecting rooms and garden cemeteries responded to developments in literary aesthetics psychology ethics and political philosophy Imagining the Dead in British Literature and Culture 1790-1848 shows that whether they were lauded as exemplars or loathed as tyrants rendered absent by burial or made uncannily present through exhumation and display the dead were central to debates about the shape and structure of British society as it underwent some of the most radical transformations in its history

Romanticism and the Cultures of Infancy Martina Domines Veliki, Cian Duffy, 2020-08-29 This collection of essays explores the remarkable range and cultural significance of the engagement with infancy during the Romantic period Taking its point of departure in the commonplace claim that the Romantics invented childhood the book traces that engagement across national boundaries in the visual arts in works of educational theory and natural philosophy and in both fiction and non fiction written for children Essays authored by scholars from a range of national and disciplinary backgrounds reveal how Romantic period representations of and for children constitute sites of complex discursive interaction where ostensibly unrelated areas of enquiry are brought together through common tropes and topoi associated with infancy Broadly new historicist in approach but drawing also on influential theoretical descriptions of genre discipline mediation cultural exchange and comparative methodologies the collection also seeks to rethink the idea of a clear cut dichotomy between Kant in Coleridge's thought is traditionally seen as the start of the poet's turn towards an internalized Romanticism. Demonstrating that Coleridge's discovery of Kant came at an earlier point than has been previously recognized, this book examines the historical roots of Coleridge's life-long preoccupation with Kant over a period of 20 years from the first extant Kant entry until the publication of his autobiography. Drawing on previously unpublished contemporary reviews of Kant and seeking socio-political meaning outside the literary canon in the English radical circles of the 1790s, Monika Class here establishes conceptual affinities between Coleridge's writings and that of Kant's earliest English mediators and in doing so revises Coleridge's allegedly non-political and solitary response to Kant.
