Handbook of the Sociology of Education Maureen T. Hallinan, 2006-11-24 The aim of the Handbook of Sociology of Education is to present the most theoretically grounded and empirically rigorous sociological analyses of schools to date The authors are distinguished researchers in the field Their contributions to the Handbook offer major theoretical perspectives on the schooling process and describe significant empirical studies of schools and their effects on individuals and society The research presented in the Handbook is built on three fundamental tenets of sociology First the authors adopt the perspective that schools are a central institution in society An understanding of the function of schooling in social life is enhanced by viewing schools as interrelated with other societal institutions The study of how the context of schooling influences education processes is critical to an understanding of school outcomes Rather than being determined solely by ascribed and achieved characteristics an individual's cognitive and social development are influenced heavily by the structures and networks in which the individual is embedded Communities families schools and social groups are critical elements in the educative process By viewing the school as a societal institution and highlighting the interaction between context and individual behavior the Handbook chapters provide a broader and deeper understanding of the determinants of learning in contemporary society The second sociological insight that guides the research in the Handbook is that the school is a social system The Capacity to Govern Yehezkel Dror, 2012-12-06 The inadequacies of contemporary forms of governance are increasingly recognized the brain drain from politics distrust of governments the danger of mass media and money dominated elections and the failure of governments to find good policy options on major issues Industry civil society and non governmental organizations however important cannot compensate for government's incapacity to shape the future which only it is democratically entitled to do Radical improvements in governance are urgently needed but salient proposals are scarce This book diagnoses contemporary governments as obsolete and proposes changes in values structures staffing public understanding and political culture to equip governance for the radically novel challenges of the 21st century This is the first Report dealing with governance commissioned and approved by the Club of Rome testifying to the significance of this book
