 the mass transfer mechanism geochemical cycle and influence of human activity on the natural environment This book presents fundamental theories thermodynamics kinetics mass balance model coupling models such as the kinetics fluid flow alteration formation of groundwater quality and the seawater system The interaction between fluids atmosphere water and solid phases rocks minerals occurs both in low temperature and also in high temperature systems This book considers the complex low temperature cycle with the high temperature cycle a combination that has not been dealt with in previous books concerning Earth systems Humanity is a small part of the biosphere however human activities greatly influence Earth's surface environments atmosphere hydrosphere biosphere soils rocks Thus the influences of humans on other subsystems particularly mass transfer in the deep underground geologic environment composed of host rocks and groundwater are discussed in relation to high level nuclear waste geologic disposal and CO₂ underground sequestration topics that have not been included in other books on environmental science

Grain World ,1923 Origin of the Earth and Moon Robin M. Canup, Kevin Righter, 2000-11 The age old question of how our home planet and its satellite originated has in recent times undergone a minor revolution The emergence of the giant impact theory as the most successful model for the origin of the Moon has been difficult to reconcile with some aspects of the Earth and the development of an integrated model for the origin of the Earth Moon system has been difficult for this reason However recent technical advances in experimental and isotopic work together with intensified interest in the modeling of planetary dynamics have produced a wealth of new results requiring a rethinking of models for the origin of the Earth and Moon This book is intended to serve as a resource for those scientists working closely in this field while at the same time it provides enough balance and depth to offer an introduction for students or technically minded general readers Its thirty chapters address isotopic and chemical constraints on accretion the dynamics of terrestrial planet formation the impact triggered formation of the Earth Moon system differentiation of the Earth and Moon the origin of terrestrial volatiles and conditions on the young Earth and Moon Covering such subjects as the history and origin of the Moon's orbit water on the Earth and the implications of Earth Moon interactions for terrestrial climate and life the book constitutes a state of the art overview of the most recent investigations in the field Although many advances have been made in our ability to evaluate competing models of the formation of the Earth Moon system there are still many gaps in our understanding This book makes great strides toward closing those gaps by highlighting the extensive progress that has been made and pointing toward future research
