and more Alexander von Humboldt was the most celebrated modern chronicler of North and South America and the Caribbean and this translation of his essay on New Spain the first modern regional economic and political geography covers his travels across today's Mexico in 1803-1804. The work canvases natural scientific and cultural scientific objects alike combining the results of fieldwork with archival research and expert testimony. To show how people, plants, animals, goods and ideas moved across the globe Humboldt wrote in a variety of styles bending and reshaping familiar writerly conventions to keep readers attentive to new inputs. Above all he wanted his readers to be open minded when confronted with cultural and other differences in the Americas. Fueled by his comparative global perspective on politics, economics and science he used his writing to support Latin American independence and condemn slavery and other forms of colonial exploitation. It is these voluminous and innovative writings on the New World that made Humboldt the undisputed father of modern geography, early American studies, transatlantic cultural history and environmental studies. This two volume critical edition, the third installment in the Alexander von Humboldt in English series, is based on the full text including all footnotes, tables and maps of the second revised French edition of Essai politique sur le royaume de la Nouvelle Espagne from 1825 to 1827, which has never been translated into English before. Extensive annotations and full color atlases are available on the series website.

Cuban-American Literature of Exile Isabel Alvarez-Borland, 1998 The Cuban revolution of 1959 initiated a significant exodus with more than 700 000 Cubans eventually settling in the United States. This community creates a major part of what is now known as the Cuban diaspora. In Cuban American Literature of Exile Isabel Alvarez Borland forces the dialogue between literature and history into the open by focusing on narratives that tell the story of the 1959 exodus and its aftermath. Alvarez Borland pulls together a diverse array of Cuban American voices writing in both English and Spanish often from contrasting perspectives and approaches over several generations and waves of immigration. Writers discussed include Guillermo Cabrera Infante Reinaldo Arenas Roberto Fernandez Achy Obejas and Cristina Garcia. The author's analysis of their works uncovers a movement from narratives that reflect the personal loss caused by the historical fact of exile to autobiographical writings that reflect the need to search for a new identity in a new language to fictions that dramatize the authors constructed Cuban American personae. If read collectively she argues these sometimes dissimilar texts appear to be in dialogue with one another as they all document a people's quest to reinvent themselves outside their nation of origin. Cuban American Literature of Exile encourages readers to consider the evolution of Cuban literature in the United States over the last forty years. Alvarez Borland defines a new American literature of Cuban heritage and documents the changing identity of an exiled literature.
