Natural Language Parsing Psychological Computational And Theoretical Perspectives Studies In Natural Language Processing:

Natural Language Parsing David R. Dowty, Lauri Karttunen, Arnold M. Zwicky, 2005-11-24 This is a collection of new papers by leading researchers on natural language parsing In the past the problem of how people parse the sentences they hear determine the identity of the words in these sentences and group these words into larger units has been addressed in very different ways by experimental psychologists by theoretical linguists and by researchers in artificial intelligence with little apparent relationship among the solutions proposed by each group However because of important advances in all these disciplines research on parsing in each of these fields now seems to have something significant to contribute to the others as this volume demonstrates The volume includes some papers applying the results of experimental psychological studies of parsing to linguistic theory others which present computational models of parsing and a mathematical linguistics paper on tree adjoining grammars and parsing Theoretical Issues in Natural Language Processing Yorick Wilks, 2018-10-24 Accompanying continued industrial production and sales of artificial intelligence and expert systems is the risk that difficult and resistant theoretical problems and issues will be ignored The participants at the Third Tinlap Workshop whose contributions are contained in Theoretical Issues in Natural Language Processing remove that risk They discuss and promote theoretical research on natural language processing examinations of solutions to current problems development of new theories and representations of published literature on the subject Discussions among these theoreticians in artificial intelligence logic psychology philosophy and linguistics draw a comprehensive up to date picture of the natural language processing field The Handbook of Computational Linguistics and Natural Language Processing Alexander Clark, Chris Fox, Shalom Lappin, 2013-04-24 This comprehensive reference work provides an overview of the concepts methodologies and applications in computational linguistics and natural language processing NLP Features contributions by the top researchers in the field reflecting the work that is driving the discipline forward Includes an introduction to the major theoretical issues in these fields as well as the central engineering applications that the work has produced Presents the major developments in an accessible way explaining the close connection between scientific understanding of the computational properties of natural language and the creation of effective language technologies Serves as an invaluable state of the art reference source for computational linguists and software engineers developing NLP applications in industrial research and development labs of software companies Artificial Intelligence Margaret A. Boden, 1996-06-20 Artificial Intelligence is the study of how to build or program computers to enable them to do what minds can do This volume discusses the ways in which computational ideas and computer modeling can aid our understanding of human and animal minds Major theoretical approaches are outlined as well as some promising recent developments Fundamental philosophical questions are discussed along with topics such as the differences between symbolic and connectionist AI planning and problem solving knowledge representation learning expert systems vision natural language creativity and human computer interaction This volume is suitable for any psychologist philosopher or computer scientist wanting to know the current state of the art in this area of cognitive science Up to date account of how computational ideas and techniques are relevant to psychology Includes discussions of classical symbolic AI of connectionism neural nets of evolutionary programming and of A Life Discusses a wide range of psychology from low level vision to creativity
