Natural Resource Management And Institutional Change:

Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Diana Carney, John Farrington, 2005-06-22 This book examines the effects of recent changes in the way natural resources and supporting services are managed and in the rights and responsibilities of resource users in developing countries in Asia Latin America and Africa Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Diana Carney, John Farrington, 2005-06-22 Using new evidence from a three year programme of research in developing countries in Asia Latin America and Africa the authors describe how government organizations have been privatised decentralised or restructured while private sector organizations both non profit and commercial have taken on increasingly important roles in resource management and service supply This book provides an important and easily accessible point of reference for decision makers and students alike offering unique view in its breadth of coverage across the natural resources sector and a range of different institutional types and approaches to resource management

Institutional Change for Sustainable Development Robin Connor, Stephen Dovers, 2004-01-01 this book makes an interesting and worthwhile contribution to the ever expanding body of literature on sustainable development and therefore is to be recommended Karen Scott Journal of Environmental Law this is an essential text for the study of sustainability and institutional change an invaluable professional development text for the practitioner and a text to ponder slowly in all its complexities for an academic study of sustainability Kate Crowley Australian Journal of Environmental Management Does the road to sustainable development run through institutional reform or better yet institutional learning In this well argued book Robin Connor and Stephen Dovers draw on a range of case studies to demonstrate the critical role that institutions play in determining the course of human environment relations Oran R Young University of California Santa Barbara US Connor and Dovers correctly argue that achieving sustainability is a long term process In this context they analyze broad institutional innovations toward sustainability to date from Europe to New Zealand from sustainability councils to property rights to suggest how the historical process might be improved and accelerated This is among the most constructive efforts I have read Richard B Norgaard University of California Berkeley US It is clear that the transition to ecologically sustainable patterns of development requires significant institutional change yet we face a paradox Although institutions are the primary means of driving reform they are themselves a root cause of unsustainable development and a barrier to positive change This volume moves beyond the current debate by advancing our understanding of the nature of institutional change the features of more appropriate institutional settings and the manner in which change can be enabled Institutional Change for Sustainable Development presents a flexible accessible yet robust conceptual framework for comprehending institutional dimensions of sustainability emphasising the complexity of institutional systems and highlighting the interdependence between policy learning and institutional change This framework is applied and developed through the analysis of five significant arenas of institutional and policy change environmental policy in the EU New Zealand s landmark Resource Management Act strategic environmental assessment emerging National Councils for Sustainable Development and transformative property rights instruments From these explorations key principles for institutional change are identified including the institutional accommodation of a sustainability discourse the interdependence of normative and institutional change reiteration and learning integration in policy and practice subsidiarity and legal change Institutional Change for Sustainable Development will be of interest to researchers policymakers and practitioners concerned with sustainability resource management and environmental policy Natural Resource Management and Institutional Change Joginder Singh Negi,2012 Institutional Change and Irrigation Management in Burkina Faso Charlotte van der Schaaf,2008 Water and land policies form the basis for this study on the realities of policy implementation and outcomes at the local level The empirical study focuses on two small scale irrigation systems in Burkina Faso It contributes to the discussion on the widespread trend to transfer management responsibilities through the ongoing decentralisation process from the state to water user associations The study shows the intra community power structures and changing relationships between state actors and the community and the consequences for the management of these systems and the related natural resources Potentials and Obstacles in the Arena of Conflict and Natural Resource Management Maria Brockhaus,2005

Integrated Natural Resource Management in the Highlands of Eastern Africa Laura Anne German,Jeremias Mowo,Tilahun Amede,Kenneth Masuki,2013-06-17 This book documents a decade of research methodological innovation and lessons learned in an eco regional research for development program operating in the eastern African highlands the African Highlands Initiative AHI It does this through reflections of the protagonists themselves AHI site teams and partners applying action research to development innovation as a means to enhance the impact of their research The book summarizes the experiences of farmers research and development workers and policy and decision makers who have interacted within an innovation system with the common goal of implementing an integrated approach to natural resource management NRM in the humid highlands This book demonstrates the crucial importance of approach in shaping the outcomes of research and development and distils lessons learned on what works where and why It is enriched with examples and case studies from five benchmark sites in Ethiopia Uganda Kenya and Tanzania whose variability provides the reader with an in depth knowledge of the complexities of integrated NRM in agro ecosystems that play an important role in the rural economy of the region It is shown that the struggle to achieve sustainable agricultural development in challenging environments is a complex one and can only be effectively achieved through combined efforts and commitment of individuals and institutions with complementary roles Games for triggering collective change in natural resource management: A conceptual framework and insights from four cases from India Falk, Thomas,Zhang, Wei,Meinzen-Dick, Ruth Suseela,Bartels, Lara,2021-01-20 As resource users interact and impose externalities onto each other institutions are needed to coordinate resource use create trust and provide incentives for sustainable management Coordinated collective action can play a key role in enabling communities to manage natural resources more sustainably But when such collective action is not present what can be done to foster it There is growing awareness that the governance of natural resources has to be adapted to the specific context Interventions are often implemented at small scale and the potential to scale up facilitation intensive approaches is limited Moreover sustainable resource management frequently fails to emerge or breaks down after the project ends To date researchers have typically used behavioral games to study cooperation patterns of communities Recently games have been adapted as learning and stakeholder engagement tools to improve management of the commons strengthen self regulation of resource use and enhance constructive interactions among resource users Combining games with other interventions and tools and facilitated discussions has been proposed as a promising approach to improve collective action institutions through experiential learning a classic approach in education This paper reviews existing literature and synthesizes lessons learned from a series of studies testing the use of behavioral games for institutional capacity development in India We conclude that while games alone will not be the solution to all natural resource management challenges games can provide a structured and therefore replicable approach for influencing behavior They can also improve system understanding raise awareness influence norms facilitate dialogue train for crisis response and increase legitimacy of decisions

NGOs and Organizational Change Alnoor Ebrahim, 2005-05-12 Ebrahim analyses the organizational evolution of NGOs combining case studies with extensive review of literature

Institutional Change in Water Management at Local and Provincial Level in Uzbekistan Kai Wegerich, 2005 The dis integration of the Soviet Union has led to changes in agricultural and natural resource management in the Central Asian successor states The book addresses the reform process in the agricultural and water management sector at the local level in Uzbekistan The focus is on the privatization of agriculture and the shift from state and collective farms to Farm Organizations and to Water User Associations The study uses political theory social theory and new institutional economics to analyze and examine institutions and institutional change Particular attention is given to key stakeholders in the agricultural sector and in water management organizations and to how they implemented the change
