Nature Of Religious Man:

The Nature of Religious Man Dennis Butler Fry,1982 In the modern world the subject of religion assumes an ever growing importance despite a widely held view to the contrary On the one hand there is the evidence of a strong impulse towards ecumenism on the part of the established religions and on the other the very widespread trend among individuals towards seeking out and following religious beliefs and practices of a much less formal and less organized kind The Nature of Religious Man is the report of a symposium designed to bring together the realm of tradition featuring representative students of Hinduism Judaism and Christianity and of experience featuring specialists in Zen Yoga and Christian mysticism

Alexander O'Connor,2017-07-05 With his 1954 book The Nature of Prejudice American psychologist Gordon Allport displays the crucial skill of reasoning producing and organizing an argument that was persuasive enough to have a major impact not only in universities but also on government policy The question that Allport tackled was an old one why are people so disposed to prejudice against those from other groups Earlier psychologists had suggested a number of reasons especially in the case of racial prejudice Some had suggested that racism was a learned behaviour conditioned by negative experiences of other races others that there was an objective rationale to negative racial stereotypes Allport however reasoned that prejudice is essentially a by product of the necessary mental shortcuts the human brain uses to process the vast amount of information it takes in Because our brains want to use as little effort as possible they regularly fall back on simple stereotypes which easily generate prejudice Gathering strong evidence for this hypothesis he reasoned clearly and persuasively that our natural cognitive approach is the most significant factor in accounting for prejudice. Going further still, Allport also reasoned that once this was better understood, social scientists would be able to influence policy makers to curb discrimination by law.
