Gifts, Romance, and Consumer Culture Yuko Minowa, Russell W. Belk, 2018-09-05 How do people communicate their romantic feelings Gift giving is one way Giving and receiving of gifts is a characteristic of intimate relationships Gifts are a message a form of communication with a tangible material object about love affection or concern for the recipient The romantic gift evokes a multitude of intertwined meanings passion intimacy affection persuasion care celebration altruism and nostalgia They can also connote the negative images of obligation and reciprocity Romantic gift giving may be practiced at rituals during rites of passage or for casual occasions to affirm the continued importance of the romantic relationship We may even romanticize the giving of gifts to the self to nonhuman companions and to others we do not know personally If loving and giving are a practice then romantic gift giving is a practice of loving with intimate or would be intimate others This book addresses gift giving among consumers attempting to express and construct romantic love It lies at the intersection of consumption markets and culture In societies shaped by the globalizing neo liberal economic order increasing wealth disparity and a partially digitized social environment that they help to co construct it may be time to rethink romantic love Gift giving is a key arena to do so as gifts make love tangible and act as carriers of meaning as well as cultural symbols In gift giving the meanings of romance are renewed renegotiated and reconstructed Gifts Romance And Consumer Culture demonstrates a wide variety of scholarly work bearing on romantic gift giving using an interpretive consumer research perspective The book introduces critical studies by scholars in this unfolding and new interdisciplinary field

Cherishing Men from Afar James Louis Hevia, 1995 In the late eighteenth century two expansive Eurasian empires met formally for the first time the Manchu or Qing dynasty of China and the maritime empire of Great Britain The occasion was the mission of Lord Macartney sent by the British crown and sponsored by the East India Company to the court of the Qianlong emperor Cherishing Men from Afar looks at the initial confrontation between these two empires from a historical perspective informed by the insights of contemporary postcolonial criticism and cultural studies The history of this encounter like that of most colonial and imperial encounters has traditionally been told from the Europeans point of view In this book James L Hevia consults Chinese sources many previously untranslated for a broader sense of what Qing court officials understood and considers these documents in light of a sophisticated anthropological understanding of Qing ritual processes and expectations He also reexamines the more familiar British accounts in the context of recent critiques of orientalism and work on the development of the bourgeois subject Hevia s reading of these sources reveals the logics of two discrete imperial formations not so much impaired by the cultural misunderstandings that have historically been attributed to their meeting but animated by differing ideas about constructing relations of sovereignty and power His examination of Chinese and English language scholarly treatments of this event both historical and contemporary sheds new light on the place of the Macartney mission in the dynamics of colonial and imperial encounters      The New Age ,1920
