Reference Encyclopedia of the American Indian Barry T. Klein, 2000      Traders, Agents, and Weavers Robert S. McPherson, 2020-03-12 For travelers passing through northern Navajo country the desert landscape appears desolate The few remaining Navajo trading posts once famous for their bustling commerce seem unimpressive Yet a closer look at the economic and creative activity in this region which straddles northeastern Arizona northwestern New Mexico and southeastern Utah belies a far more interesting picture In Traders Agents and Weavers Robert S McPherson unveils the fascinating and at times surprising history of the merging of cultures and artistic innovation across this land McPherson the author of numerous books on Navajo and southwestern history narrates here the story of Navajo economic and cultural development through the testimonies of traders government agents tribal leaders and accomplished weavers For the first half of the twentieth century trading posts dominated the Navajo economy in northwestern New Mexico McPherson highlights the Two Grey Hills post and its sister posts Toadlena and Newcomb which encouraged excellence among weavers and sold high quality rugs and blankets Parallel to the success of the trading industry was the establishment of the Northern Navajo or Shiprock Agency and Boarding School The author explains the pivotal influence on the area of the agency's stern and controversial founder William T Shelton known by Navajos as Tall Leader Through cooperation with government agents American settlers and traders Navajo weavers not only succeeded financially but also developed their own artistic crafts Shunning the use of brightly dyed yarn and opting for the natural colors of sheep's wool these weavers primarily women developed an intricate style that has few rivals Eventually economic shifts including oil drilling and livestock reduction eroded the traditional Navajo way of life and led to the collapse of the trading post system Nonetheless as McPherson emphasizes Navajo weavers have maintained their distinctive style and method of production to this day      The Journal of Arizona History, 1988      Swept Under the Rug Kathy M'Closkey, 2002 Debunks the romanticist stereotyping of Navajo weavers and Reservation traders and situates weavers within the economic history of the southwest      Hubbell Trading Post Erica Cottam, 2015-09-22 For more than a century trading posts in the American Southwest tied the U S economy and culture to those of American Indian peoples and in this capacity Hubbell Trading Post founded in 1878 in Ganado Arizona had no parallel This book tells the story of the Hubbell family its Navajo neighbors and clients and what the changing relationship between them reveals about the history of Navajo trading Drawing on extensive archival material and secondary literature historian Erica Cottam begins with an account of John Lorenzo Hubbell who was part Hispanic part Anglo and wholly brilliant and charismatic She examines his trading practices and the strategies he used to meet the challenges of Navajo exchange customs and a seasonal trading cycle Tracing the trading post's affairs through the upheavals of the twentieth century Cottam explores the growth of tourism the development of Navajo weaving the automobile's advent and the Hubbells' relationship with the Fred Harvey Company She also describes the Hubbell family's role in providing Navajo and Hopi demonstrators for world's fairs and other events and in supplying museums with Native artifacts Acknowledging the criticism aimed at the Hubbell family for taking advantage of Navajo clients Cottam shows the family's strengths their integrity as business operators and the warm friendships they developed with customers and with the artists writers archaeologists politicians and tourists attracted to Navajo country by its unparalleled landscapes and fascinating peoples Cottam traces the preservation efforts of Hubbell's daughter in law after the Great Depression and World War II fundamentally altered the trading post business and concludes with the post's transition to its present status as a National Park Service historic site

A Diné History of Navajoland Klara Kelley, Harris Francis, 2019-10-22 For the first time a sweeping history of the Diné that is foregrounded in oral tradition Authors Klara Kelley and Harris Francis share Diné history from pre-Columbian time to the present using ethnographic interviews in which Navajo people reveal their oral histories on key events such as Athabaskan migrations trading and trails Diné clans the Long Walk of 1864 and the struggle to keep their culture alive under colonizers who brought the railroad coal mining trading posts and finally climate change The early chapters based on ceremonial origin stories tell about Diné forebears Next come the histories of Diné clans from late pre-Columbian to early post-Columbian times and the coming together of the Diné as a sovereign people Later chapters are based on histories of families individuals and communities and tell how the Diné have struggled to keep their bond with the land under settler encroachment relocation loss of land based self-sufficiency through the trading post system energy resource extraction and climate change Archaeological and documentary information supplements the oral histories providing a comprehensive investigation of Navajo history and offering new insights into their twentieth-century relationships with Hispanic and Anglo settlers For Diné readers the book offers empowering histories and stories of Diné cultural sovereignty In short the authors say it may help you to know how you came to be where and who you are How the World Moves Peter Nabokov, 2016-11-01 A compelling portrait of cultural transition and assimilation via the saga of one Acoma Pueblo Indian family Born in 1861 in New Mexico's Acoma Pueblo Edward Proctor Hunt lived a tribal life almost unchanged for centuries But after attending government schools he broke with his people's ancient codes to become a shopkeeper and controversial broker between Indian and white worlds As a Wild West Show Indian he travelled in Europe with his family and saw his sons become silversmiths painters and consultants on Indian Lore In 1928 in a life culminating experience he recited his version of the origin myth of Acoma Pueblo to Smithsonian Institution scholars Nabokov narrates the fascinating story of Hunt's life within a multicultural and historical context Chronicling Pueblo Indian life and Anglo Indian relations over the last century and a half he explores how this entrepreneurial family capitalized on the nation's passion for Indian culture In this rich book Nabokov dramatizes how the Hunts like immigrants throughout history faced anguishing decisions over staying put or striking out for economic independence and experienced the pivotal passage from tradition to modernity Books in Print, 1991 Navajo Land, Navajo Culture Robert S. McPherson, 2003-01-01 In Navajo Land Navajo Culture Robert S. McPherson presents an intimate history of the Din or Navajo people of southeastern Utah Moving beyond standard history by incorporating Native voices the author shows how the Dine s culture and economy have both persisted and changed during the twentieth century As the dominant white culture increasingly affected their worldview these Navajos adjusted to change took what they perceived as beneficial and shaped or filtered outside influences to preserve traditional values With guidance from Navajo elders McPherson describes varied experiences ranging from traditional deer hunting to livestock reduction from bartering at a trading post to acting in John Ford movies and from the coming of the automobile to the burgeoning of the tourist industry Clearly written and richly detailed this book offers new perspectives on a people who have adapted to new conditions while shaping their own destiny
