The Twentieth-Century Spanish American Novel Raymond Leslie Williams, 2009-07-21 A Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Book Spanish

American novels of the Boom period 1962-1967 attracted a world readership to Latin American literature but Latin American writers had already been engaging in the modernist experiments of their North American and European counterparts since the turn of the twentieth century. Indeed the desire to be modern is a constant preoccupation in twentieth century Spanish American literature and thus a very useful lens through which to view the century's novels. In this pathfinding study Raymond L. Williams offers the first complete analytical and critical overview of the Spanish American novel throughout the entire twentieth century. Using the desire to be modern as his organizing principle he divides the century's novels into five periods and discusses the differing forms that the modern took in each era. For each period Williams begins with a broad overview of many novels, literary contexts and some cultural debates followed by new readings of both canonical and significant non-canonical novels. A special feature of this book is its emphasis on women writers and other previously ignored and/or marginalized authors including experimental and gay writers. Williams also clarifies the legacy of the Boom, the Postboom and the Postmodern as he introduces new writers and new novelistic trends of the 1990s.

Machines for Living Victoria Rosner, 2020-02-04 Changes in the routines of domestic life were among the most striking social phenomena of the period between the two World Wars when the home came into focus as a problem to be solved, reimagined, streamlined, electrified and generally cleaned up. Modernist writers understood themselves to be living in an epochal moment when the design and meaning of home life were reconceived. Moving among literature, architecture, design, science and technology, Machines for Living shows how the modernization of the home led to profound changes in domestic life and relied on a set of emergent concepts including standardization, scientific method, functionalism, efficiency, science and others that form the basis of literary modernism and stand at the confluence of modernism and modernity. Even as modernist writers criticized the expanding reach of modernization into the home, they drew on its conceptual vocabulary to develop both the thematic and formal commitments of literary modernism. Rosner's work develops a new methodology for interdisciplinary modernist studies and shows how the reinvention of domestic life is central to modernist literature.
