At Day's Close A. Roger Ekirch, 2012-03-09 Remarkable Ekirch has emptied night's pockets and laid the contents out before us Arthur Krystal The New Yorker Bringing light to the shadows of history through a rich weave of citation and archival evidence Publishers Weekly scholar A Roger Ekirch illuminates the aspects of life most often overlooked by other historians those that unfold at night In this triumph of social history Mail on Sunday Ekirch's enthralling anthropology Harper's exposes the nightlife that spawned a distinct culture and a refuge from daily life Fear of crime of fire and of the supernatural the importance of moonlight the increased incidence of sickness and death at night evening gatherings to spin wool and stories masqued balls inns taverns and brothels the strategies of thieves assassins and conspirators the protective uses of incantations meditations and prayers the nature of our predecessors sleep and dreams Ekirch reveals all these and more in his monumental study The Nation of sociocultural history maintaining throughout an infectious sense of wonder

Booklist The Language of Liberty 1660-1832 J. C. D. Clark, 1994 This book creates a new framework for the political and intellectual relations between the British Isles and America in a momentous period which witnessed the formation of modern states on both sides of the Atlantic and the extinction of an Anglican aristocratic and monarchical order Jonathan Clark integrates evidence from law and religion to reveal how the dynamics of early modern societies were essentially denominational In a study of British and American discourse he shows how rival conceptions of liberty were expressed in the conflicts created by Protestant dissent's hostility to an Anglican hegemony The book argues that this model provides a key to collective acts of resistance to the established order throughout the period The book's final section focuses on the defining episode for British and American history and shows the way in which the American Revolution can be understood as a war of religion

The New Eighteenth Century Felicity Nussbaum, Laura Brown, 2025-05-01 First published in 1987 The New Eighteenth Century now with a new preface by Felicity Nussbaum and Laura Brown examines eighteenth century English literature's resistance to the application of new theoretical approaches and presents new work by leading scholars which both challenges this resistance and demonstrates the usefulness of feminist Marxist new historicist and psychoanalytic approaches to the analysis of eighteenth century texts This book reinterprets and resituates canonical works by such writers as Fielding Goldsmith and Sterne but also explores areas and figures increasingly important to eighteenth century study It opens questions about the canon and about the nature of canonicity itself as it considers texts by women working class literature guidebooks for bourgeois tourists and aspects of the cultural and social terrain including problems of race and colonialism capitalism and penal institutions The New Eighteenth Century not only provides new ways of looking at the literature of the period but serves as a model for future work in eighteenth century studies Town and Countryside in Western Berkshire, C.1327-c.1600 Margaret Yates, 2007 A fresh examination of how society and economy changed at the end of the middle ages comparing urban and rural experience The traditional boundary between the medieval and early modern periods is challenged in this new study of social and economic change that bridges the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries It addresses the large historical questions what changed when and why through a detailed case study of western Berkshire and Newbury integrating the experiences of both town and countryside Newbury is of particular interest being a rising cloth manufacturing centre that had contacts with London and overseas due to its specialist production of kerseys The evidence comes from original documentary research and the data are clearly presented in tables and graphs It is a book alive with the actions of people famous men such as the clothier John Winchcombe known as Jack of Newbury but more notably by the hundreds of individuals such as William Eyston or Isabella Bullford who acquired property cultivated their lands or in the case of Isabella managed the mill complex after her husband's death MARGARET YATES is Lecturer in History at the University of Reading

Consumption and the Country House Jon Stobart, Mark Rothery, 2016-06-02 This study explores the consumption practices of the landed aristocracy of Georgian England Focussing on three families and drawing on detailed analysis of account books receipted bills household inventories diaries and correspondence Consumption and the Country House charts the spending patterns of this elite group during the so called consumer revolution of the eighteenth century Generally examined through the lens of middling families homes and motivations this book explores the ways in which the aristocracy were engaged in this wider transformation of English society Analysis centres on the goods that the aristocracy purchased both luxurious and mundane the extent to which they pursued fashionable modes and goods the role that family and friends played in shaping notions of taste the influence of gender on taste and refinement the geographical reach of provisioning and the networks that lay behind this consumer activity and the way this all contributed to the construction of the country house The country house thus emerges as much more than a repository of luxury and splendour it lay at the heart of complex networks of exchange sociability demand and supply Exploring these processes and relationships serves to reanimate the country house making it an active site of consumption rather than simply an expression of power and taste and drawing it into the mainstream of consumption histories At the same time the landed aristocracy are shown to be rounded consumers driven by values of thrift and restraint as much as extravagant desires and valuing the old as well as the new not least as markers of their pedigree and heritage

New Statesman, 1953 Poetry, Enclosure, and the Vernacular Landscape, 1700-1830 Rachel Crawford, 2002-09-05 Publisher Description

Contagion and the State in Europe, 1830-1930 Peter Baldwin, 1999-08-19 This book is a groundbreaking study of the historical reasons for the divergence in public health policies adopted in Britain France Germany and Sweden and the spectrum of responses to the threat of contagious diseases such as cholera smallpox and syphilis In particular the book examines the link between politics and prevention Did the varying political regimes influence the styles of precaution adopted Or was it as Peter Baldwin argues a matter of more basic differences between nations above all their geographic placement in the epidemiological trajectory of contagion that helped shape their responses and their basic assumptions about the respective claims of the sick and of society and fundamental political decisions for and against different styles of statutory intervention Thus the book seeks to use medical history to illuminate broader questions of the development of statutory intervention and the comparative and divergent evolution of the modern state in Europe Food in the Novels of Thomas Hardy Kim Salmons,2017-08-31 This book examines the role of food in the life and works of Thomas Hardy analysing the social political and historical context of references to meals eating and food production during the nineteenth century It demonstrates how Hardy s personal relationship to the rustic food of his childhood provides the impetus for his fiction and provides a historical breakdown of the key factors which influenced food regulation and production from the beginning of the nineteenth century to the fin de si cle This study explores how a sub textual narrative of food references in The Trumpet Major and Under the Greenwood Tree captures the instability of the pre industrial era and how food and eating act as a means of delineating and exploring character and environment in The Mayor of Casterbridge As well as this it considers rural femininity and the myth of the feminine pastoral in Tess of the d Urbervilles and charts the anxieties brought about by the shift in population from a rural to a predominantly urban one and its impact on food production in Jude the Obscure The New Statesman and Nation ,1953 Landscape and Identity Wendy Joy Darby,2020-08-20 In England perhaps more than most places people s engagement with the landscape is deeply felt and has often been expressed through artistic media The popularity of walking and walking clubs perhaps provides the most compelling evidence of the important role landscape plays in people s lives Not only is individual identity rooted in experiencing landscape but under the multiple impacts of social fragmentation global economic restructuring and European integration membership in recreational walking groups helps recover a sense of community Moving between the 1750s and the present this transdisciplinary book explores the powerful role of landscape in the formation of historical class relations and national identity The author s direct field experience of fell walking in the Lake District and with various locally based clubs includes investigation of the roles gender and race play She shows how the politics of access to open spaces has implications beyond the immediate geographical areas considered and ultimately involves questions of citizenship The Everyday Resilience of the City J. Coaffee,D. Murakami Wood,P. Rogers,David Murakami Murakami Wood,2008-11-14 This book examines the practice of urban resilience past and present drawing on deeper global historical sources and detailed case studies of contemporary Britain It argues that resilience is neither new nor necessarily about protecting ordinary people but part of a long struggle over the control of cities The Planting of New Virginia Warren R. Hofstra,2004 An important addition to scholarship of the geography and history of colonial and early America The Planting of New Virginia rethinks American history and the evolution of the American landscape in the colonial era Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language Paul Worthington Carhart,Thomas Albert Knott,William Allan Neilson,1934 Islamic and European Expansion Michael Adas,1993-07-20 This volume of essays makes available the essential background information and methods for effective teaching and writing on cross cultural history The contributors some of the most distinguished writers of global and comparative history chart the advances in understanding in their fields of concentration revealing both specific findings and broad patterns that have emerged

The cover image The Arrival of the Dutch at Patane from Theodore de Bry India Orientals Part VIII Frankfurt W Richteri 1607 depicts the two key phases of global history that are covered by the essays Muslim inhabitants of the town of Patane on the Malayan peninsula warily confront a Dutch landing party whose bearing suggests that it is engaged in yet another episode in the saga of European overseas exploration and discovery The presence of the Muslims in Malaya reflects an earlier process of expansion that saw Islamic civilization spread from Spain and Morocco in the west to the Philippines in the east in the millennium between the 7th and 17th centuries The Dutch came by sea to an area on the coastal and island fringes of Asia the one zone where their warships gave them a decisive edge in this era The citizens of Patane had good reason to distrust the European intruders since the Portuguese who had preceded the Dutch had used force whenever possible to control the formerly peaceful trade in the region and often to persecute Muslim Peoples

Author note Michael Adas is Abraham Voorhees Professor of History at Rutgers University New Brunswick He is currently editor of the American Historical Association's series on Global and Comparative History and co editor of the Cambridge University Press series on Studies in Comparative World History He has published numerous articles and books including most recently with Peter Stearns and Stuart Schwartz World Civilization The Global Experience 1992 and Turbulent Passage A Global History of the Twentieth Century 1993

Irish Rural Interiors in Art Claudia Kinmonth, 2006-01-01 This book offers a fascinating view of many aspects of Irish rural life from the eighteenth to the mid twentieth century Illustrated with more than 250 images many of which have not been published before the book evokes the hardships and celebrations of laborers and farmers men and women the old and the young as depicted in oil paintings watercolors drawings prints postcards and cartoons Most of the illustrations show people engaged in indoor activities at home but schools shops pubs and doctors surgeries are also included Claudia Kinmonth draws on extensive knowledge of the material culture of rural life to present a new social history of Irish country people Working within a broadly chronological framework the author addresses such themes and patterns of rural life as the architecture of houses where people slept cooking over the open hearth rural dress display childcare work within the home the arrangement of marriages weddings wakes and celebrations The book also explores why Irish and foreign artists depicted rural interiors and sets their work in the context of art history

Creating Communities in Restoration England Samuel I. Thomas, Samuel S. Thomas, 2012-10-12 Through the extensive diaries of Presbyterian minister Oliver Heywood this book explores the role that individuals played in fashioning their religious communities during the Restoration as England stumbled from persecution towards a limited toleration of Protestant dissenters

A History of Leisure Peter Borsay, 2006-02-27 Leisure is a key aspect of modern living How did our ancestors experience recreation in the past and how does this relate to the present To answer these questions Peter Borsay examines the history of leisure in Britain over the past 500 years analysing elements of both continuity and change A History of Leisure Explores a range of pastimes from festive culture and music to tourism and sport Emphasises a conceptual and critical approach rather than a simple narrative history Covers a range of themes including economy state class identities place space and time Treats the constituent parts of the British Isles as a fluid and dynamic amalgam of local and national cultures and politics Authoritative and engaging this text challenges conventional views on the history of leisure and suggests new approaches to the subject Borsay draws upon the insights provided by a variety of disciplines alongside that of history anthropology the arts geography and sociology to offer an essential guide to this fascinating area of study The Encyclopædia Britannica Hugh Chisholm,1905 Reading Popular Prints

1790-1870 Brian Maidment,2001-12-07 Each chapter of this stimulating book collects a wide variety of images show the different ways that historical events can be represented Metal and wood engravings lithographs woodcuts etchings watercolors and drawings all reflect changing attitudes towards gender politics the family education and industrialization This revised second edition has many new illustrations which further assist the interpretation of popular graphic images from the 18th and 19th centuries
