Ammunition and Explosives Ashore , 1990 The American Exporter , 1928 Black Cultural Production after Civil Rights Robert J Patterson, 2019-08-30 The post civil rights era of the 1970s offered African Americans an all too familiar paradox Material and symbolic gains contended with setbacks fueled by resentment and reaction African American artists responded with black approaches to expression that made history in their own time and continue to exercise an enormous influence on contemporary culture and politics This collection s fascinating spectrum of topics begins with the literary and cinematic representations of slavery from the 1970s to the present Other authors delve into visual culture from Blaxploitation to the art of Betye Saar to stage works like A Movie Star Has to Star in Black and White as well as groundbreaking literary works like Corregidora and Captain Blackman A pair of concluding essays concentrate on institutional change by looking at the Seventies surge of black publishing and by analyzing Ntozake Shange s For colored girls in the context of current controversies surrounding sexual violence Throughout the writers reveal how Seventies black cultural production anchors important contemporary debates in black feminism and other issues while spurring the black imagination to thrive amidst abject social and political conditions Contributors Courtney R Baker Soyica Diggs Colbert Madhu Dubey Nadine Knight Monica White Ndounou Kinohi Nishikawa Samantha Pinto Jermaine Singleton Terrion L Williamson and Lisa Woolfork

Re-Membering and Surviving Shirley A. James Hanshaw, 2020-10-01 The first book length critical study of the black experience in the Vietnam War and its aftermath this text interrogates the meaning of heroism based on models from African and African American expressive culture It focuses on four novels Captain Blackman 1972 by John A Williams Tragic Magic 1978 by Wesley Brown Coming Home 1971 by George Davis and De Mojo Blues 1985 by A R Flowers Discussions of the novels are framed within the historical context of all wars prior to Vietnam in which Black Americans fought The success or failure of the hero on his identity quest is predicated upon the extent to which he can reconnect with African or African American cultural memory He is engaged therefore in re membering a term laden with the specificity of race that implies a cultural history comprised of African retentions and an interdependent relationship with the community for survival The reader will find that a common history of racism and exploitation that African Americans and Vietnamese share sometimes results in the hero s empathy with and compassion for the so called enemy a unique contribution of the black novelist to American war literature

Race and Utopian Desire in American Literature and Society Patricia Ventura, Edward K. Chan, 2019-10-12 Bringing together a variety of scholarly voices this book argues for the necessity of understanding the important role literature plays in crystallizing the ideologies of the oppressed while exploring the necessarily racialized character of utopian thought in American culture and society Utopia in everyday usage designates an idealized fantasy place but within the interdisciplinary field of utopian studies the term often describes the worldviews of non dominant groups when they challenge the ruling order In a time when white supremacy is reasserting itself in the US and around the world there is a growing need to understand the vital relationship between race and utopia as a resource for resistance Utopian literature opens up that relationship by envisioning and negotiating the prospect of a better future while acknowledging the brutal past The collection fills a critical gap in both literary studies which has largely ignored the issue of race and utopia and utopian studies which has said too little about race
