Poetic Voices Of America Fall 1995:

Be Encouraged Richard C. "Dick" Mattock Jr.,2010-12-29 Each of us has experienced difficult times when we question our self worth or perhaps battle with confusion disappointment despair or frustration Are you going through a struggle that makes you feel like you are stuck in murky quicksand unable to break free or begin anew I ve lived through times when days seem to be painted a dull drab gray and it appeared I d closed myself off in a human capsule unable to relate to the world around me Many times I ve come to realize that my perceptions of things have created nonexistent monsters like those created in our minds as children However I am learning that God doesn t leave me alone to work through difficult situations by myself like a shipwrecked sailor on a deserted island I find that my poor judgment or bad decision often further complicates the dilemma I m confronting Relief comes to me when I stop blaming God for whatever nightmare I am facing and devote quiet time in prayer with Him God s response doesn t come like a light streaming from the heavens or a bright colorful rainbow shining outside my window it s more like an Alaskan ice cap that slowly begins to thaw and break up with the warmth of the spring rain As I pour out my heartfelt problems to God creative solutions spring forth in my mind like an arrow shot from the quiver of a bow destined to find its mark in the very heart of my problem A new idea and hope emerges that propels me to make a sound decision to rejoin the imperfect human race fight the good fight and run the race of life Through the years I have come to know that God loves us more deeply than we love ourselves God never abandons us but waits patiently and lovingly for us to call out for His help I admit there are times I don t understand His ways However as I put my trust in God by earnestly and honestly seeking His guidance and grace for my life all the difficulties I m having seem to become easier with which to deal Complex issues seem to melt like ice cream on a hot summer day By inviting God to be the rudder of my ship each day my life has taken on a bright new meaning It can be like the excitement of starting to read an exciting new novel wondering what wonderful surprise and blessing God has in store for me in the next pages In sacred scriptures we read that God inhibits the praises and answers the prayers of His people He can and will move the mountains and obstacles that often feel like handcuffs upon our wrists God will bring us comfort peace and joy as we put our trust in Him and give God the freedom to work in our lives May this collection of poems be a source of inspiration to each reader and foster renewed hope in your heart Poetic Voices of America, Fall 1995 Patricia Hamilton,1995-10-01 Afterimages Carrie E. American Writers Elizabeth H. Oakes, 2004 American Writers focuses on the rich diversity of American novelists The Lyric Myth of Voice Jessica Gabriel Peritz, 2022-11-15 How did voice become a metaphor for selfhood in the Western imagination The Lyric Myth of Voice situates the emergence of an ideological connection between voice and subjectivity in late eighteenth century Italy where long standing political anxieties and new notions of cultural enlightenment collided in the mythical figure of the lyric poet singer Ultimately music and literature together shaped the singing voice into a tool for civilizing modern Italian subjects Drawing on a range of approaches and frameworks from historical musicology to gender studies disability studies anthropology and literary theory Jessica Gabriel Peritz shows how this ancient yet modern myth of voice attained interpretable form flesh and sound The publisher gratefully acknowledges the generous support of the AMS 75 PAYS Fund of the American Musicological Society supported in part by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Andrew W Mellon Foundation From the Sin-é Café to the Black Hills Eamonn Wall, 1999 Eamonn Wall arrived in the United States in the 1980s as part of a wave of young educated immigrants who became known as the New Irish In this book he comments on his own experiences and those of his generation who identify as much with contemporary ethnic and immigrant America as they do with the long settled Irish American community Wall s starting point is the now closed Sin Caf in New York s East Village which was a hangout in the early 1990s for expatriate Irish musicians actors and writers He comments on the poetry fiction essays and memoirs of both the New Irish and Americans of Irish heritage locating them within a literary and historical context But this is also a deeply personal book in which Wall wrestles with his own identity as an Irishman living in America raising his children as Americans and learning to love the American landscape from the streets of Manhattan to the western hills of Nebraska Pathways to Independence Jo Worthy, Karen Broadus, Gay concentrating on Left writers whose historical consciousness was profoundly shaped by the Depression World War II and the Cold War Lowney articulates the Left's challenges to national collective memory and redefines the importance of late modernism in American literary history The late modernist writers Lowney studies most closely Muriel Rukeyser Elizabeth Bishop Langston Hughes Gwendolyn Brooks Thomas McGrath and George Oppen are not all customarily associated with the 1930s nor are they commonly seen as literary peers By examining these late modernist writers comparatively Lowney foregrounds differences of gender and sexuality race and ethnicity and social class and region while emphasizing how each writer developed poetic forms that responded to the cultural politics and socioaesthetic debates of the 1930s In so doing he calls into question the boundaries that have limited the scholarly dialogue about modern poetry No other study of American poetry has considered the particular gathering of careers that Lowney considers As poets whose collective historical consciousness was profoundly shaped by the turmoil of the Depression and war years and the Cold War's repression or rewriting of history their diverse talents represent a distinct generational impact on U S and international literary history

Kinnahan, 2005-05 Lyric Interventions explores linguistically innovative poetry by contemporary women in North America and Britain whose experiments give rise to fresh feminist readings of the lyric subject The works discussed by Linda Kinnahan explore the lyric subject in relation to the social and I as a product of social discourse and as a conduit for change Contributing to discussions of language oriented poetics through its focus on women writers and feminist perspectives this study of lyric experimentation brings attention to the cultural contexts of nation gender and race as they significantly shift the terms by which the experimental is produced defined and understood This study focuses upon lyric intervention in distinct but related spheres as they link public and ideological norms of identity Firstly lyric innovations with visual and spatial realms of cultural practice and meaning particularly as they naturalize ideologies of gender and race in North America and the post colonial legacies of the Caribbean are investigated in the works of Barbara Guest Kathleen Fraser Erica Hunt and M Nourbese Philip Secondly experimental engagements with nationalist rhetorics of identity marking the works of Carol Ann Duffy Denise Riley Wendy Mulford and Geraldine Monk are explored in relation to contemporary evocations of self in Britain And thirdly in discussions of all of the poets but particularly accented in regard to Guest Fraser Riley Mulford and Monk formal experimentation with the lyric I is considered through gendered encounters with critical and avant garde discourses of poetics Throughout the study Kinnahan seeks to illuminate and challenge the ways in which visual and verbal constructs function to make readable the subjectivities historically supporting white male centered power within the worlds of art poetry social locations or national policy The potential of the feminist innovative lyric to generate linguistic surprise simultaneously with engaging risky strategies of social intervention lends force and significance to the public engagement of such poetic experimentation This fresh energetic study will be of great interest to literary critics and womens studies scholars as well as poets on both sides of the Atlantic

The Poetics of Enclosure Lesley Wheeler, 2002 The Poetics of Enclosure provocatively explores interconnections between Dickinson Moore H D Brooks Bishop and Dove in the dual context of their manipulations of the traditional lyric and use of shared images of enclosure With frequent reference to male as well as female influences and to poets marginalized by sexuality or race Wheeler usefully refines what she argues is particular to these poets shared lyric practices and concerns and links those concerns to other poetic traditions
