should like to thank the European University Institute and its Academy of European Law most warmly for giving me this opportunity. You are fortunate to have had the opportunity of following a week long general course on the protection of human rights in Europe given by my colleague and friend Carl Aage Nørgaard the President of the European Commission of Human Rights. To speak after him in order to bring to a close your study programme makes my task in some respects easier because I can take it for granted that you now have a clear and comprehensive understanding of the guarantees and the functioning of the European Convention on Human Rights. On the other hand it is I must confess not without a certain apprehension that I take the floor at this juncture because I am very well aware of how difficult it is to keep the attention of an audience which has had the privilege of hearing Carl Aage Nørgaard on more or less the same subject.

The Idea and the Documents of Human Rights Ioanna Kuçuradi, 2021-01-27 The most significant achievement of 20th century is probably the importance ascribed to the idea of human rights. And perhaps the most significant endeavour of the world community in the second half of this century is its attempt to codify these ethical demands in declarations, covenants and similar instruments expected to have universal validity. Yet besides the unscrupulous violence, torture and social injustice which continue to prevail in our world we also see gaining more and more ground tendencies to promote demands and practices which constitute unnoticed obstacles to the protection of human rights. Is it not the so called herd immunity as a way to fight against a pandemic a violation of the right to life? What are our shortcomings? The present volume is an attempt to bring into focus one of these shortcomings the lack of clear knowledge of what human rights are.
