

DEPRIVATION OF RIGHTS

Three-quarters of citizens of Montenegro assess that deprivation of right solely on the basis of some personal feature is not justified, with no exceptions, although one-fifth (21%) tends to claim that generally it is not justified, but there are circumstances when it is. Situation is almost identical as it was in 2016, and concerning as it points that this percentage of citizens still does not understand that there is no justification for discrimination.

■ It is not justified, with no exception ■ Mostly not justified, but there are circumstances when it is justified ■ Justified in the majority of cases

In your opinion, is it justified to deprive someone of a right (for instance, right to labour, to education, health care, use of their language, etc.) only on the basis of some personal feature (for example, based on nationality, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, property status etc.)?

Rights and Deprivation Lesley A. Jacobs, 1993 Many welfare state programs redistribute resources from some citizens to others This book discusses whether such a redistribution can be justified by a theory of moral rights Lesley Jacobs maintains that while many orthodox rights based defenses of state welfare are misconceived it is nevertheless possible to defend programs such as universal access to health care and social security on the grounds that they are required to fulfill the moral rights of individual citizens

Courts in Matters Relating to the Rights and Powers of Cases Sir Dinshah Fardunji Mulla,1901 The Idea of Human Rights Charles R. Beitz,2011-07-28 Human rights have become one of the most important moral concepts in global political life over the last 60 years Charles Beitz one of the world s leading philosophers offers a compelling new examination of the idea of a human right The Rights of Roma in European Courts Kristin Henrard,Lilla Farkas,2025-05-08 The abundance of Roma rights cases before international and European courts reflects the Roma s systemic marginalization as well as their resolve to push the boundaries of human rights law The Roma have increasingly raised concerns through strategic litigation urging the courts to develop their jurisprudence and adjust the scope of human rights applications This edited volume examines these cases exploring the extent to which strategic litigation can and does push the boundaries of human rights Adopting a long needed yet untested approach the volume situates Roma rights within the broader human rights edifice and identifies its key contributions The volume focuses on the quasi jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights the Court of Justice of the EU and the European Committee of Social Rights with several chapters also drawing parallels with jurisdictions beyond Europe Its contributing authors span a broad range of disciplines including human rights law political science climate justice and ethnology Combining rich doctrinal and socio legal analysis The Rights of Roma in European Courts is an unparalleled resource for scholars and practitioners seeking to understand the systemic discrimination faced by the Roma and explore legal solutions for countering it Human Rights in Translation Michal Jan Rozbicki,2018-10-26 This volume reflects on what happens when the idea and practice of universal human rights cross the cultural borders between different communities of knowledge Although such rights are usually presumed to be founded on certain globally shared beliefs the norms and values of many cultures are often incommensurable with these universal principles and hence the need to translate and vernacularize them Any law that would successfully institutionalize them must frame human rights in a way that defers to the historically constituted cultural capital of the society in which it is to function The essays in this book seek to illuminate different cognitive contexts that produce different meanings of rights identify spaces of intercultural crossings where differences can coexist and offer usable narratives and metaphors that could help mediate between distinct cultures They show that the path forward does not lead through a unified theory of human rights that can be applied globally nor through mere repackaging of rights in a more understandable language What is needed is a deep understanding of the process of intercultural dialogue the cultural grammar involved in relationships of difference

Reconstructing Human Rights Joe Hoover,2016 We live in a human rights world The language of human rights claims and numerous human rights institutions shape almost all aspects of our political lives yet we struggle to know how to judge this development Scholars give us good reason to be both supportive and sceptical of the universal claims that human rights enable alternatively suggesting that they are pillars of cross cultural understanding of justice or the ideological justification of a violent and exclusionary global order All too often however our evaluations of our human rights world are not based on sustained consideration of their complex ambiguous and often contradictory consequences Reconstructing Human Rights argues that human rights are only as good as the ends they help us realise We must attend to what ethical principles actually do in the world to know their value So for human rights we need to consider how the identity of humanity and the concept of rights shape our thinking structure our political activity and contribute to social change Reconstructing Human Rights defends human rights as a tool that should enable us to challenge political authority and established constellations of political membership by making new claims possible Human rights mobilise the identity of humanity to make demands upon the terms of legitimate authority and challenges established political memberships In this work it is argued that this tool should be guided by a democratising ethos in pursuit of that enables claims for more democratic forms of politics and more inclusive political communities While this work directly engages with debates about human rights in philosophy and political theory in connecting our evaluations of the value of human rights to their worldly consequences it will also be of interest to scholars considering human rights across disciplines including Law Sociology and Anthropology The Rights of the Roma Celia Donert,2017-12-14 Explores the evolving human rights of Roma in Eastern Europe s recent history and the complex politics of Roma rights today Global Development and Human Rights Paul J. Nelson,2021-06-22 Global Development and Human Rights analyses global efforts to implement long term goals that seek to promote the health happiness and freedoms of individuals Human Rights, Realities and Possibilities L.J. Macfarlane,1990-06-18 Researching the problems of human rights implementation in Western and Eastern Europe this book uses Northern Ireland the Republic of Ireland Yugoslavia and Hungary as case studies Other works by the author include Violence and the State and Political Disobedience The Rights of Refugees under International Law James C. Hathaway,2021-04-22 The only comprehensive analysis of international refugee rights anchored in the hard facts of refugee life around the world (Revised Draft Of) Code of Civil Procedure Japan,1903 Civil Rights Division Activities and Programs United States. Department of Justice. Civil Rights Division,1992 Taking Economic, Social and Cultural Rights Seriously in International Criminal Law Evelyne Schmid,2015-04-02 Evelyne Schmid demonstrates how violations of economic social and cultural rights can overlap with international crimes Multinational Enterprises and Human Rights Alexandra Gatto,2011-01-01 This well researched book examines how the European Union could do more to ensure that EU based multinational enterprises MNEs respect human rights when operating in third world countries Alexandra Gatto identifies the primary obligations of MNEs as developed by international law and investigates how the EU has promoted the respect of human rights obligations by the MNEs to date The significant gap between the EU s commitment to the respect and promotion of human rights the potential to regulate the conduct of MNEs and the EU s reluctance to impose human rights obligations on MNEs is thoroughly explored It is suggested that the current human rights law should be developed and this timely book recommends that the EU should firmly link the promotion of MNEs human rights obligations to international human rights law thereby supporting the constitution of an international law framework within the UN Multinational Enterprises and Human Rights will be of very great interest to scholars of EU or international human rights as well as NGOs and policymakers in international organizations and corporations that support corporate social responsibility and human rights
