Elinor Ostrom and the Bloomington School of Political Economy Daniel H. Cole, Michael D. McGinnis, 2015-09-04 In addition to winning the 2009 Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences for her path breaking research on economic governance especially the commons Elinor Lin Ostrom also made important contributions to other fields of political economy and public policy This four volume compendium of papers written by Lin often with coauthors most notably her husband Vincent along with papers by others expanding on her work brings together the strands of her entire empirical analytical theoretical and methodological research program Together with Vincent's important theoretical contributions they defined a distinctive Bloomington School of political economic thought Volume 2 examines Lin's work on the commons in which she demonstrated that in many cases local resource users can solve collective action problems through common property management regimes It comprises papers including some that are not well known related to and building on the findings of Governing the Commons 1990 Part I focuses on key attributes of biophysical resources and the institutions human communities have designed to govern them Part II shows how in various social and ecological circumstances different sets of institutions facilitate or impede the long run sustainability of resources Part III highlights Ostrom's first major research project on water resources in Southern California It was a topic she and her students returned to with the specific intention of gathering data more than 50 years worth for longitudinal analyses of combined institutional and ecological change In sum this volume contextualizes what is at present thought to be Lin's greatest legacy to social science the conditions under which resources can be sustainably managed over very long periods of time by the collective action of ordinary people beyond markets and states

Political Ecology Paul Robbins, 2019-10-08 An accessible focused exploration of the field of political ecology The third edition of Political Ecology spans this sprawling field using grounded examples and careful readings of current literature While the study of political ecology is sometimes difficult to fathom owing to its breadth and diversity this resource simplifies the discussion by reducing the field down into a few core questions and arguments These points clearly demonstrate how critical theory can make pragmatic contributions to the fields of conservation development and environmental management The latest edition of this seminal work is also more closely focused with references to recent work from around the world Further Political Ecology raises critical questions about traditional approaches to environmental questions and problems This new edition Includes international work in the field coming out of Europe Latin America and Asia Explains political ecology and its tendency to disrupt the environmental research and practice by both advancing and undermining associated fields of study Contains contributions from a wide range of diverse backgrounds and expertise Offers a resource that is written in highly accessible straightforward language Outlines the frontiers of the field and frames climate change and the end of population growth with the framework of political ecology An excellent resource for undergraduates and academics the third edition of Political Ecology offers an updated edition of the guide to this diverse quickly growing field that is at the heart of how humans shape the world and in turn are shaped by it

Handbook of Globalization and the Environment Khi V. Thai, Dianne Rahm, Jerrell D. Coggburn, 2017-09-25 Proponents of globalization argue that it protects the global environment from degradation and promotes worldwide sustainable economic growth while opponents argue the exact opposite Examining the local national and international impacts of globalization the Handbook of Globalization and the Environment explores strategies and solutions that support healthy economic growth protect the environment and create a more equitable world The book sets the stage with coverage of global environmental issues and policies It explores international sustainable development the evolution of global warming policy transborder air pollution desertification space and the global environment and human right to water Building on this foundation the editors discuss global environmental organizations and institutions with coverage of the UN's role in globalization the trade environment nexus the emergence of NGOs and an analysis of the state of global environmental knowledge and awareness from an international and comparative perspective Emphasizing the effects of increasingly integrated global economy on the environment and society the book examines environmental management and accountability It addresses green procurement provides an overview of U S environmental regulation and the current range of voluntary and mandatory pollution prevention mechanisms in use explores a two pronged approach to establishing a sustainable procurement model and examines a collaborative community based approach to environmental regulatory compliance The book concludes with an analysis of controversial issues such as eco terrorism North South disputes environmental justice the promotion of economic growth through globalization in less developed countries and the ability of scientists to communicate ideas so that policy makers can use science in decision making Environmental Adaptation and Eco-cultural Habitats Johannes Schubert,2015-10-23 In this challenging and highly original book the author tackles the dynamic relationships between physical nature and societies over time It is argued that within each eco cultural habitat the relationship between physical nature and society is mediated by specific entanglements between technologies institutions and cultural values These habitat specific entanglements are neither ecologically nor culturally predetermined but result from mutual adaptation based on variation trial and error and selection It is shown how a variety of eco cultural habitats evolves from this coevolutionary process The book explores how these varieties come into being and how their specific characteristics affect the capacity to cope with environmental or social problems such as flooding or unemployment There are two case studies illustrating the potential of a coevolutionary understanding of the society nature nexus In the first rural and urban settlement structures are conceptualized as distinct paths of eco cultural adaptation It is shown that each of these paths is characterized by predictable spatial correspondences between dwelling technologies modes of social reproduction cultural preferences and related patterns in energy consumption i e social metabolism The second case study deals with flood protection in liberal and coordinated eco welfare and production regimes drawing on lessons from the Netherlands and Hurricane Katrina in New Orleans As a contribution to theory in environmental sociology the coevolutionary perspective developed provides deeper insights into the intricate interplay between physical and social nature Ecology and the Sacred Roy A. Rappaport,2001 A meaningful homage to an extraordinary anthropologist Property Law and Economics Boudewijn Bouckaert,2010-01-01 This book contains illuminating and carefully written literature reviews on the central topics of the economics of property rights and institutions As a bonus it includes two fascinating chapters on topics off the beaten path slavery and new types of property rights in environmental goods This book will be indispensable for students and experienced scholars alike Eric Posner University of Chicago Law School US This study covers property law and property rights providing a full summary and comprehensive bibliography of the existing law together with discussion from an economic perspective on the most important aspects of property law Leading experts have brought together their knowledge and insight on a full range of issues including comparative property law and the history of property law to create a truly autonomous interdisciplinary resource This essential reference work will strongly appeal to scholars and students enrolled in academic programmes of law and economics Academic lawyers involved in research and teaching of private common law practicing lawyers in the field of real estate law as well as economists involved in researching development economics and transition economics will also find this an invaluable resource General Technical Report PNW-GTR ,2002 Landscape, Process and Power Serena Heckler,2012 In recent years the field of study variously called local indigenous or traditional environmental knowledge TEK has experienced a crisis brought about by the questioning of some of its basic assumptions This has included reassessing notions that scientific methods can accurately elicit and describe TEK or that incorporating it into development projects will improve the physical social or economic well being of marginalized peoples The contributors to this volume argue that to accurately and appropriately describe TEK the historical and political forces that have shaped it as well as people s day to day engagement with the landscape around them must be taken into account TEK thus emerges not as an easily translatable tool for development experts but as a rich and complex element of contemporary lives that should be defined and managed by indigenous and local peoples themselves Fish, Markets, and Fishermen Suzanne Iudicello,Michael L. Weber,Robert Wieland,2012-06-22 A significant number of the world s ocean fisheries are depleted and some have collapsed from overfishing Although many of the same fishermen who are causing these declines stand to suffer the most from them they continue to overfish Why is this happening What can be done to solve the problem The authors of Fish Markets and Fishermen argue that the reasons are primarily economic and that overfishing is an inevitable consequence of the current sets of incentives facing ocean fishermen This volume illuminates these incentives as they operate both in the aggregate and at the level of day to day decision making by vessel skippers The authors provide a primer on fish population biology and the economics of fisheries under various access regimes and use that information in analyzing policies for managing fisheries The book provides a concise statistical overview of the world s fisheries documents the decline of fisheries worldwide gives the reader a clear understanding of the economics and population biology of fish examines the management issues associated with regulating fisheries offers case studies of fisheries under different management regimes examines and compares the consequences of various regimes and considers the implications for policy making The decline of the world s ocean fisheries is of enormous worldwide significance from both economic and environmental perspectives This book clearly explains for the nonspecialist the complicated problem of overfishing It represents a basic resource for fishery managers and others fishers policymakers conservationists the fish consuming public students and researchers concerned with the dynamics of fisheries and their sustenance Environmental Health Perspectives ,1993 Reservoir Eutrophication Charles Carneiro,Cleverson Vitorio Andreoli,Cynara de Lourdes da Nobrega Cunha,Eduardo F. Gobbi,2014-10-14 The overall objective of Reservoir Eutrophication Preventive Management is to present the environmental and anthropogenic factors associated with the process of eutrophication and algal blooms in the Rio Verde reservoir and propose lake use and management technologies in order to minimize the problem Eutrophication process in Rio Verde reservoir with the occurrence of intense algal blooms is a consequence of the interconnection of different climatological hydrological morphological physico chemical and biological factors which occur not only in the watershed but also in the reservoir Reservoir Eutrophication Preventive Management compiles the information gathered from the development of a broad research program in Rio Verde watershed from 2008 until 2010 Rio Verde reservoir which was built in 1976 is located in the Metropolitan Region of Curitiba capital of the state of Paran in South Brazil This reservoir is mainly used for supplying water to one of PETROBRAS Refinery However the reservoir is to be used for supplying drinking water to the population and that is why better understanding this system dynamics is a great concern The book is the result of an interdisciplinary research program which has involved more than 150 researchers with the aim of defining a watershed management preventive system in order to prevent eutrophication processes This way the book combines academic rigor with practical applicability and is of interest for both researchers and technologists working in watershed management Reservoir Eutrophication Preventive Management is of interest to researchers and technologists that wish to examine specific characteristics of tropical climates It is of specific interest to developing countries and for researchers interested in knowing the developed methodology adapted for temperate conditions Environmental Literacy in Science and Society Roland W. Scholz, Claudia R.
