Franz Werfel, the Faith of an Exile Lionel Steiman,1985-07 A study of the thought of the Austrian Jewish writer many of whose works reflect the deep ambivalence of the Jews relationship with Western culture and Christianity The Jewish characters in his books are often stereotypes influenced by Werfel s education by antisemitic monks Ch 13 p 165 188 A Special Relationship deals with Werfel s attitude to Judaism and pp 177 188 with his theory of antisemitism and Nazism While believing in Christ he viewed the rejection of Christ by the Jews and antisemitism as theologically necessary and refused to convert Court-martial Reports ,1954 Historical Truth and Lies About the Past Alan B. Spitzer,2000-11-09 Historians have long struggled with the questions of historical relativism objectivity and standards of proof and evidence Intellectual historian Alan Spitzer focuses on the contradiction between theory and practice by presenting case studies of four politically charged debates about the past the response to the report of the commission chaired by John Dewey that evaluated the accusations made against Leon Trotsky in the Moscow Purge Trials of 1937 the Dreyfus Affair in turn of the century France the allegations about the extent and meaning of literary critic Paul de Man's complicity with the German occupation forces in wartime Belgium and Ronald Reagan's justification for his 1987 visit to a German cemetery where Nazi SS officers are buried Spitzer's argument centers on the ways in which the authority of objective criteria for historical judgment are introduced in politicized disputes about the past regardless of the theoretical qualification or repudiation of such standards The higher the political stakes the more likely the antagonists are to appeal to generally warranted standards of relevant evidence and rational inference Spitzer's commentary speaks to issues that transcend the specific content of the four cases he discusses The Christian Century, 1921 Philosophers in the "Republic" Roslyn Weiss, 2012-08-22 In Plato's Republic Socrates contends that philosophers make the best rulers because only they behold with their mind's eye the eternal and purely intelligible Forms of the Just the Noble and the Good When in addition these men and women are endowed with a vast array of moral intellectual and personal virtues and are appropriately educated surely no one could doubt the wisdom of entrusting to them the governance of cities Although it is widely and reasonably assumed that all the Republic's philosophers are the same Roslyn Weiss argues in this boldly original book that the Republic actually contains two distinct and irreconcilable portrayals of the philosopher According to Weiss Plato's two paradigms of the philosopher are the philosopher by nature and the philosopher by design Philosophers by design as the allegory of the Cave vividly shows must be forcibly dragged from the material world of pleasure to the sublime realm of the intellect and from there back down again to the Cave to rule the beautiful city envisioned by Socrates and his interlocutors Yet philosophers by nature described earlier in the Republic are distinguished by their natural yearning to encounter the transcendent realm of pure Forms as well as by a willingness to serve others at least under appropriate circumstances In contrast to both sets of philosophers stands Socrates who represents a third paradigm one however that is no more than hinted at in the Republic As a man who not only loves what is but is also utterly devoted to the justice of others even at great personal cost Socrates surpasses both the philosophers by design and the philosophers by nature By shedding light on an aspect of the Republic that has escaped notice Weiss's new interpretation will challenge Plato scholars to revisit their assumptions about Plato's moral and political philosophy Truth, 1901 Moral Vision Duane L. Cady, 2005-03-29 What is moral reasoning Are we being reasonable when we make moral decisions if we cannot supply compelling arguments criteria necessary and sufficient conditions decisive empirical evidence and the like In Moral Vision Duane L. Cady critiques the contemporary inclination to model reason after textbook natural science noting that our values are not conclusions of proofs or derivations but frameworks in which such reasoning may take place frameworks that we struggle to understand and explain Cady goes on to suggest a rich conception of reason beyond that of stereotypical science one that reflects aesthetic historical experiential and pluralistic aspects of moral thinking one that widens and deepens descriptions of how moral thinking typically happens This book will be of interest to anyone wondering what philosophy may contribute to our contemporary struggle with conflicting values and value collisions both personal as well as cultural The Truth Seeker ,1918 Waverley Novels Walter Scott,1866 Sixteen Walter Scott novels in their original paper wrappers Living the King Jesus Gospel Nijay K.
