Black Intellectual Thought in Modern America Brian D. Behnken, Gregory D. Smithers, Simon Wendt, 2017-09-07 Contributions by Tunde Adeleke Brian D Behnken Minkah Makalani Benita Roth Gregory D Smithers Simon Wendt and Danielle L Wiggins Black intellectualism has been misunderstood by the American public and by scholars for generations Historically maligned by their peers and by the lay public as inauthentic or illegitimate black intellectuals have found their work misused ignored or discarded Black intellectuals have also been reductively placed into one or two main categories they are usually deemed liberal or less frequently as conservative The contributors to this volume explore several prominent intellectuals from left leaning leaders such as W E B Du Bois to conservative intellectuals like Thomas Sowell from well known black feminists such as Patricia Hill Collins to Marxists like Claudia Jones to underscore the variety of black intellectual thought in the United States Contributors also situate the development of the lines of black intellectual thought within the broader history from which these trends emerged The result gathers essays that offer entry into a host of rich intellectual traditions     A Companion to Critical and Cultural Theory Imre Szeman, Sarah Blacker, Justin

Sully, 2017-09-25 This Companion addresses the contemporary transformation of critical and cultural theory with special emphasis on the way debates in the field have changed in recent decades Features original essays from an international team of cultural theorists which offer fresh and compelling perspectives and sketch out exciting new areas of theoretical inquiry Thoughtfully organized into two sections lineages and problematics that facilitate its use both by students new to the field and advanced scholars and researchers Explains key schools and movements clearly and succinctly situating them in relation to broader developments in culture society and politics Tackles issues that have shaped and energized the field since the Second World War with discussion of familiar and under theorized topics related to living and laboring being and knowing and agency and belonging     National Races Richard Eoin McMahon, 2019-08-01 National Races explores how politics interacted with transnational science in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries This interaction produced powerful racialized national identity discourses whose influence continues to resonate in today s culture and politics Ethnologists anthropologists and raciologists compared modern physical types with ancient skeletal finds to unearth the deep prehistoric past and true nature of nations These scientists understood certain physical types to be what Richard McMahon calls national races or the ageless biological essences of nations Contributors to this volume address a central tension in anthropological race classification On one hand classifiers were nationalists who explicitly or implicitly used race narratives to promote political agendas Their accounts of prehistoric geopolitics treated national races as the proxies of nations in order to legitimize present day geopolitical positions On the other hand the transnational community of race scholars resisted the centrifugal forces of nationalism Their interdisciplinary project was a vital episode in the development of the social sciences using biological race classification to explain the history geography relationships and psychologies of nations National Races goes to the heart of tensions between nationalism and transnationalism politics and science by examining transnational science from the perspective of its peripheries Contributors to the book supplement the traditional focus of historians on France Britain and Germany with myriad case studies and examples of nineteenth and early twentieth century racial and national identities in countries such as Russia Italy Poland Greece and Yugoslavia and among Jewish anthropologists reinvented the legacy of ancient Greece and Rome in order to create consensus and historical legitimation for the Fascist and National Socialist dictatorships The memory of the past is a powerful tool to justify policy and create consensus and under the Fascist and Nazi regimes the legacy of classical antiquity was often evoked to promote thorough transformations of Italian and German culture society and even landscape At the same time the classical past was constantly recreated to fit the ideology of each regime

White Male

Nostalgia in Contemporary North American Literature Tim Engles, 2018-07-13 White Male Nostalgia in Contemporary North American Literature charts the late twentieth century development of reactionary emotions commonly felt by resentful yet often goodhearted white men Examining an eclectic array of literary case studies in light of recent work in critical whiteness and masculinity studies history geography philosophy and theology Tim Engles delineates five preliminary forms of white male nostalgia as dramatized in novels by Sloan Wilson Richard Wright Carol Shields Don DeLillo Louis Begley and Margaret Atwood demonstrating how literary fiction can help us understand the inner workings of deluded dominance These authors write from identities outside the defensive domain of normalized white masculinity demonstrating via extended interior dramas that although nostalgia is primarily thought of as an emotion felt by individuals it also works to shore up entrenched collective power

We are the Revolutionists Mischa Honeck, 2011 A Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Title Widely remembered as a time of heated debate over the westward expansion of slavery the 1850s in the United States was also a period of mass immigration As the sectional conflict escalated discontented Europeans came in record numbers further dividing the young republic over issues of race nationality and citizenship The arrival of German speaking Forty Eighters refugees of the failed European revolutions of 1848 49 fueled apprehensions about the nation s future Reaching America did not end the foreign revolutionaries pursuit of freedom it merely transplanted it In We Are the Revolutionists Mischa Honeck offers a fresh appraisal of these exiled democrats by probing their relationship to another group of beleaguered agitators America s abolitionists Honeck details how individuals from both camps joined forces in the long dangerous battle to overthrow slavery In Texas and in cities like Milwaukee Cincinnati and Boston this cooperation helped them find new sources of belonging in an Atlantic world unsettled by massive migration and revolutionary unrest Employing previously untapped sources to write the experience of radical German migr s into the abolitionist struggle Honeck elucidates how these interethnic encounters affected conversations over slavery and emancipation in the United States and abroad Forty Eighters and abolitionists Honeck argues made creative use not only of their partnerships but also of their disagreements to redefine notions of freedom equality and humanity in a transatlantic age of racial construction and nation making

The Myth of International Order Arjun Chowdhury, 2018 In February of 2011 Libyan citizens rebelled against Muammar Qaddafi and quickly unseated him The speed of the regime s collapse confounded many observers and the ensuing civil war showed Foreign Policy s index of failed states to be deeply flawed FP had in 2010 identified 110 states as being more likely than Libya to descend into chaos They were spectacularly wrong but this points to a larger error in conventional foreign policy wisdom failed or weak and unstable states are not anomalies but are instead the majority More states resemble Libya than Sweden Why are most states weak and unstable Taking as his launching point Charles Tilly s famous dictum that war made the state and the state made war Arjun Chowdhury argues that the problem lies in our mistaken equation of democracy and economic power with stability But major wars are the true source of stability only the existential crisis that such wars produced could lead citizens to willingly sacrifice the resources that allowed the state to build the capacity it needed for survival Developing states in the postcolonial era never experienced the demands major interstate war placed on European states and hence citizens in those nations have been unwilling to sacrifice the resources that would build state capacity For example India and Mexico are established democracies with large economies Despite their indices of stability both countries are far from stable there is an active Maoist insurgency in almost a quarter of India s districts and Mexico is plagued by violence drug trafficking and high levels of corruption in local government Nor are either effective at collecting revenue As a consequence they do not have the tax base necessary to perform the most fundamental tasks of modern states controlling organized violence in a given territory and providing basic services to citizens By this standard the majority of states in the world about two thirds are weak states Chowdhury maintains that an accurate evaluation of international security requires a normative shift the language of weakness and failure belies the fact that strong states are exceptions Chowdhury believes that dismantling this norm is crucial as it encourages developing states to pursue state building via war which is an extremely costly approach in terms of human lives and capital Moreover in our era such an approach is destined to fail because the total wars of the past are highly unlikely to occur today Just as importantly the non state alternatives on offer are not viable alternatives For better or worse we will continue to live in a state dominated world where most states are weak Counterintuitive and sweeping in its coverage The Myth of International Order demands that we fundamentally rethink foundational concepts of international politics like political stability and state failure Consuming Whiteness Stefanie Affeldt, 2014 The White Australia Policy the country's historical policy that favored immigration to Australia from various European countries especially Britain has largely been discussed with regard only to its political ideological perspective No account was taken of the central problem of racist societalization i.e. the everyday production and reproduction of race as a social relation doing race supported by broad sections of the population This comprehensive study of Australian racism and the historical white sugar campaign shows that the latter was only able to achieve success because it was embedded in a widespread white Australia culture that found expression in all spheres of life Series Racism Analysis Series A Studies Vol 4 Subject Social History Australian Studies Self Definition Teodros Kiros, 2019-10-10 Self Definition argues that sex gender and race are constructions by the ineffable self as it seeks to define its possibilities free of domination The self's embodiments are themselves performances of self definition Teodros Kiros supports his argument by a careful reading of the literature from both the Global South and Global North that spans figures works and eras from antiquity to our late modern present These readings demonstrate that race gender and sex are performed in the Global South radically differently from in the Global North These three notions as markers of identity are fluid open and expansive and Kiros brilliantly shows this through inquiry into thought rooted in Egypt Ethiopia India and China By the time that the Global North forges possibilities of the self in the modern period race gender and sex become fixed Biology and anatomy become understood as destinies and the possibilities of the self are deeply constrained This book approaches case studies of key figures and movements chronologically and thematically and in doing so Kiros highlights the tensions between the openness of the Global South and the rigidity of the Global North through which human possibilities as exercises of self definition become clear under conditions of freedom Our views of self definition will forever be transformed after reading this important text The Schematic State Debra Thompson, 2016-10-20 Invitation Orientation Transnational biological racialism The death and resurrection of race The multicultural moment The multiracial moment The future of counting by race Appendix A List of interviews archival sources Ralph Ellison and Kenneth Burke at the Roots of the Racial Divide Bryan Crable, 2012 Ralph Ellison and Kenneth Burke focuses on the little known but important friendship between two canonical American writers The story of this fifty year friendship however is more than literary biography Bryan Crable argues that the Burke Ellison relationship can be interpreted as a microcosm of the American racial divide Through examination of published writings and unpublished correspondence he reconstructs the dialogue between Burke and Ellison about race that shaped some of their most important works including Burke's A Rhetoric of Motives and Ellison's Invisible Man. In addition the book connects this dialogue to changes in American discourse about race. Crable shows that these two men were deeply connected intellectually and personally but the social division between white and black Americans produced hesitation, embarrassment, mystery, and estrangement where Ellison and Burke might otherwise have found unity. By using Ellison's nonfiction and Burke's rhetorical theory to articulate a new vocabulary of race the author concludes not with a simplistic healing of the divide but with a challenge to embrace the responsibility inherent to our social order.
