comprehensive A to Z compilation of authoritative information on the education of those with special needs Language Development George V. Iwald, 2008 Language development is a process that starts early in human life when a person begins to acquire language by learning it as it is spoken and by mimicry Children's language development moves from simplicity to complexity Infants start without language Yet by four months of age babies can read lips and discriminate speech sounds Usually language starts off as recall of simple words without associated meaning but as children age words acquire meaning and connections between words are formed In time sentences start to form as words are joined together to create logical meaning As a person gets older new meanings and new associations are created and vocabulary increases as more words are learned Infants use their bodies vocal cries and other preverbal vocalisations to communicate their wants needs and dispositions Even though most children begin to vocalise and eventually verbalise at various ages and at different rates they learn their first language without conscious instruction from parents or caretakers It is a seemingly effortless task that grows increasingly difficult with age Of course before any learning can begin the child must be biologically and socially mature enough This book presents recent important research in the field from around the world Classroom Communication and Diversity Robert G. Powell, Dana L. Powell, 2015-09-16 Classroom Communication and Diversity provides a useful framework for helping both new and experienced teachers and instructors navigate the communication challenges in today's diverse classroom It encourages teachers to reflect on how their personal cultures influence their expectations regarding classroom communication This textbook is distinctive in its distillation of research from numerous sources to provide the best viewpoint and systems for focusing on the needs of the individual learner Dana L Powell and Robert G Powell draw on research in both the communication and education disciplines and provide useful strategies for improving teaching practices alongside theoretical models regarding diversity in the classroom Much of the information found in this text is also inspired by the authors direct experience in schools and from the experience they have gleaned from other first line instructors as well as from parents and children Among the many updates to this Third Edition are Expanded coverage of students with diverse needs Discussion on working effectively with parents Coverage of cultural influences and the impact of race and ethnicity on disciplinary actions Examination of the role of social media and its impact on instructional communication The increase of educational technology use Teachers and scholars in the communication and education fields will find this text practical and valuable for their teaching efforts and it is appropriate for instructional communication courses in both disciplines
