

An aerial photograph of a suburban neighborhood. In the foreground, there are several large, modern-looking buildings, possibly schools or community centers, surrounded by green lawns and parking lots. The middle ground is filled with a dense residential area with many houses and streets. In the background, a large, calm blue lake stretches across the horizon under a clear sky. The overall scene is peaceful and well-maintained.

Power And The Promise The Elliot Lake Story:

The Power and the Promise Catharine Dixon,1996 Little Man in a Big Hurry Gene LePere,2009 The remarkable story of Joseph H Hirshhorn who donated the largest private art collection ever accumulated to the people of the United States The Nature of Empires and the Empires of Nature Karl S. Hele,2013-09-28 Drawing on themes from John MacKenzie's Empires of Nature and the Nature of Empires 1997 this book explores from Indigenous or Indigenous influenced perspectives the power of nature and the attempts by empires United States Canada and Britain to control it It also examines contemporary threats to First Nations communities from ongoing political environmental and social issues and the efforts to confront and eliminate these threats to peoples and the environment It becomes apparent that empire despite its manifestations of power cannot control or discipline humans and nature Essays suggest new ways of looking at the Great Lakes watershed and the peoples and empires contained within it Boom Town Blues: Elliot Lake Anne-Marie Mawhiney,Jane Pitblado,1999-09-01 Boom Town Blues Collapse and Revival in a Single Industry Community tells of the Northern Ontario city of Elliot Lake once the uranium capital of the world which was devastated by the closing of the uranium mines operated by Denison and Rio Algom The closures and mass layoffs were first announced in 1990 with the layoffs occurring from then until June 1996 Throughout the period after the layoffs were announced several major research projects were undertaken One the Elliot Lake Tracking and Adjustment Study follows approximately 1 000 of the laid off miners and 530 of their spouses through their adjustment processes Another the Seniors Needs Assessment examines the human resource and service needs of the increasing numbers of seniors moving to Elliot Lake as part of the community's economic strategy In addition to these social scientific studies several land and environmental reclamation research projects have been undertaken Boom Town Blues Collapse and Revival in a Single Industry Community tells the reader about the results of these studies and gives a variety of community based perspectives on the Elliot Lake story The book highlights the struggles and successes of families and of the community as a whole Boom Town Blues is about one community's struggle to survive to shift its economic base from mining to one where retirement living for seniors mine decommissioning and a community based research facility would be among several economic survival strategies The book is of interest to readers throughout Northern Ontario and indeed wherever single industry towns are threatened by major shifting in their economic base and are struggling to survive The book also provides an excellent case study for teachers students policy makers and politicians Serpent River Resurgence Lianne C. Leddy,2022-01-27 Serpent River Resurgence tells the story of how the Serpent River Anishinaabek confronted the persistent forces of settler colonialism and the effects of uranium mining at Elliot Lake Ontario Drawing on extensive archival sources oral histories and newspaper articles Lianne C Leddy examines the environmental and political power relationships that affected her homeland in the Cold War period Focusing on Indigenous settler relations the environmental and health consequences of the uranium industry and the importance of traditional uses of land and what happens when they are compromised Serpent River Resurgence explores how settler colonialism and Anishinaabe resistance remained potent forces in Indigenous communities throughout the second half of the twentieth century

Configurations of Rape in the Hebrew Bible Frank M. Yamada, 2008 In Configurations of Rape in the Hebrew Bible Frank M Yamada explores the compelling similarity among three rape narratives found in the Hebrew Scriptures These three stories the rape of Dinah Genesis 34 the rape of an unnamed concubine Judges 19 and the rape of Tamar daughter of David 2 Samuel 13 move through the same plot progression an initial sexual violation of a woman leads to escalating violence among men resulting in some form of social fragmentation In this intriguing study Yamada draws from the disciplines of literary and narrative criticism feminist biblical interpretation and cultural anthropology to argue for a family resemblance among these three stories about rape

The Postcolonial Eye Alison Ravenscroft, 2016-03-03 Informed by theories of the visual knowledge and desire The Postcolonial Eye is about the eye and the I in contemporary Australian scenes of race Specifically it is about seeing where vision is taken to be subjective and shaped by desire and about knowing one another across the cultural divide between white and Indigenous Australia Writing against current moves to erase this divide and to obscure difference Alison Ravenscroft stresses that modern Indigenous cultures can be profoundly even bewilderingly strange and at times unknowable within the terms of white cultural forms She argues for a different ethics of looking in particular for aesthetic practices that allow Indigenous cultural products especially in the literary arts to retain their strangeness in the eyes of a white subject The specificity of her subject matter allows Ravenscroft to deal with the broad issues of postcolonial theory and race and ethnicity without generalising This specificity is made visible in for example Ravenscroft s treatment of the figuring of white desire in Aboriginal fiction film and life stories and in her treatment of contemporary Indigenous cultural practices While it is located in Australian Studies Ravenscroft s book in its rigorous interrogation of the dynamics of race and whiteness and engagement with European and American literature and criticism has far reaching implications for understanding the important question of race and vision The Financial Post Survey of Mines ,1959 Precambrian ,1958 The Land is the Source of the Law C.F. Black,2010-10-04 The Land is the Source of Law brings an inter jurisdictional dimension to the field of indigenous jurisprudence comparing Indigenous legal regimes in New Zealand the USA and Australia it offers a dialogical encounter with an Indigenous jurisprudence in which individuals are characterised by their rights and responsibilities into the Land Though a relatively new field indigenous jurisprudence is the product of the oldest continuous legal system in the world Utilising a range of texts films novels poetry as well as law stories CF Black blends legality and narrative in order to redefine jurisprudential in indigenous terms This re definition gives shape to the jurisprudential framework of the book a shape that is not just abstract but physical and metaphysical a shape that is circular and concentric at the same time The outer circle is the cosmology so that the human never forgets that they are inside a universe a universe that has a law This law is found in the second circle which whilst resembling the ancient Greek law of physis is a law based on relationship This is a relationship that orders the placing of the individual in the innermost circle and which structures their rights and responsibilities into the land The jurisprudential texts which inform the theoretical framework of this book bring to our attention the urgent message that the Djang primordial energy is out of balance and that the rebalancing of that Djang is up to the individual through their lawful behaviour a behaviour which patterns them back into land Thus The Land is the Source of the Law concludes not only with a diagnosis of the cause of climate change but a prescription which offers an alternative legal approach to global health
