Power By Design Constitution Making In Nationalist China:

Power by Design Suisheng Zhao, Power by Design Suisheng Zhao, 1995-12-01 First established as a cabinet system in Guangzhou in 1925 the Nationalist Government of China was replaced three years later by a presidential system under a unified Nationalist government in Nanjing The cabinet government was restored in 1931 and existed until the presidential system was again installed by the 1936 constitution Why did presidential and cabinet systems exist alternately during this formative period of the Nationalist government Why was the presidential system finally adopted in 1936 Suisheng Zhao answers these and other questions fundamental to understanding authoritarian regimes in this pioneering study of the design of the Nationalist Government of China from 1925 to 1937 although scholars of comparative politics have shown great interest in the institutional choice between parliamentarianism and presidentialism in democratic countries they have paid little attention to the study of constitutional frameworks in authoritarian settings By offering a clear and original re interpretation of the history of this power struggle between Chiang Kai shek and his rivals over institutional design Zhao challenges the conventional wisdom that has underestimated the importance of formal institutions in non democratic regimes Borrowing ideas from public choice theory Zhao proposes that political actors who design governmental institutions are driven by power maximization strategies just as business firms are driven by wealth maximization strategies Constitution making reflects the underlying distribution of power among authoritarian leaders who attempt to design political institutions that will consolidate their personal power and position Thus Zhao argues if political actors possess more power resources than their rivals and anticipate themselves becoming dominant they will choose the singular leadership of the presidential system If they are in a weaker position and do not anticipate becoming dominant they will prefer the collective leadership of the cabinet form of government Notable for its persuasive integration of political science theory and the historical evidence Power by Design is an insightful re interpretation of Chinese history that will be welcomed by scholars of modern China and those interested in the consequences of the nationalist politics that continue to reverberate in contemporary China as well as by comparative political scientists studying constitution making and institutional design Constitutionalism in Asia Wen-Chen Chang, Li-ann Thio, Kevin YL Tan, Jiunn-rong Yeh, 2014-02-19 This book of text cases and materials from Asia is designed for scholars and students of constitutional law and comparative constitutional law The book is divided into 11 chapters arranged thematically around key ideas and controversies enabling the reader to work through the major facets of constitutionalism in the region The book begins with a lengthy introduction that critically examines the study of constitutional orders in Asia highlighting the histories colonial influences and cultural particularities extant in the region This chapter serves both as a provisional orientation towards the major constitutional developments seen in Asia both unique and shared with other regions and as a guide to the controversies encountered in the study of constitutional law in Asia Each of the following chapters is framed by an introductory essay setting out the issues and succinctly highlighting critical perspectives and themes The approach is one of challenge and response whereby questions of constitutional importance are posed and the reader is then led by engaging with primary and secondary materials through the way the various Asian states respond to these questions and challenges Chapter segments are accompanied by notes comments and questions to facilitate critical and comparative analysis as well as recommendations for further reading The book presents a representative range of Asian materials from jurisdictions including Bangladesh China Hong Kong India Japan Mongolia Nepal Pakistan South Korea Sri Lanka Taiwan Timor Leste and the 10 ASEAN states

Asian Comparative Constitutional Law, Volume 2 Ngoc Son Bui, Mara Malagodi, 2024-08-22 This is the second in a 4 volume set that provides the definitive account of the major issues of comparative constitutional law in Asian jurisdictions Volume 2 looks at constitutional amendments and offers answers to questions about the formal rules for amending the constitution such as Who initiates an amendment proposal How is the amendment proposal adopted How are the amendments codified and the neo institutional questions regarding amendment practices such as Why is the constitution amended Who engages in the amendment process How does the amendment affect the political system and the society Volume 2 covers 17 Asian jurisdictions including Bangladesh Cambodia mainland China Hong Kong India Indonesia Japan Malaysia Mongolia Myanmar North Korea the Philippines Singapore South Korea Sri Lanka Taiwan and Thailand

Central-Local Relations in Asian Constitutional Systems Andrew Harding, Mark Sidel, 2015-12-17 This book examines territorial governance in Asia in the context of central local relations In an era of attempts to deal with issues such as decentralisation conflict involving ethnic and religious enclaves and demands for regional autonomy it is timely to examine central local relations in a pan Asian perspective assessing the attempts in a range of different constitutional systems from Japan to Myanmar to re order constitutional structures for local government The book looks at the constitutional systems for organising central local relations in Asia and attempts to draw conclusions from contemporary experiences

The Constitutional Identity of Contemporary China Han Zhai, 2019-12-16 In The Constitutional Identity of Contemporary China The Unitary System and Its Internal Logic Han Zhai offers a profound understanding of China's constitutional history with her account of constitutional identity of multi layered states in other parts of the world This book successfully bridges China's constitutional complex and the emerging common theory of constitutional law with methodological innovations In constitutional comparison this work's treatment of the Kingdoms of Spain and the Netherlands provides effective structural and historical analysis This book does not only awaken China's constitutional identity in contemporary scholarship but also presents rich possibilities in the constitutional study and the way we understand a country's fundamental arrangements in its national context

Gender, Politics, and Democracy, 2008 This is the first exploration of women's campaigns to gain equal rights to political participation in China The dynamic and successful struggle for suffrage rights waged by Chinese women activists through the first half of the twentieth century challenged fundamental and centuries old principles of political power By demanding a public political voice for women the activists promoted new conceptions of democratic representation for the entire political structure not simply for women. Their movement created the space in which gendered codes of virtue would be radically transformed for both men and women.

The Power of the Ballot Box Christian Schafferer, 2003-01-01

The Power of the Ballot Box analyzes the impact on Taiwanese politics of the Third Wave of democratization that swept across East Asia in the last decades of the twentieth century. Christian Schafferer's work looks beyond regional and global causes to pinpoint the true indigenous foundations of Taiwan's and on a broader scale East Asia's political development and examines the pivotal importance of Taiwanese local elections in the island's democratization process. Based on extensive research and in-depth interviews with leading Taiwanese politicians and political scientists, the book provides a detailed history of Taiwan's electoral experience from the turn of the twentieth century through the Kuomintang regime to the present day. This is supplemented by a focused case study of the watershed 1997 Taiwanese local elections and their profound impact on the Taiwanese political landscape.

Constitutional Change in the Contemporary Socialist World Ngoc Son Bui, 2020-07-24

After the collapse of the Soviet bloc, there are only five socialist or communist countries left in the world: China, Cuba, Laos, North Korea, and Vietnam, which constitute about one quarter of the world's population. Yet there is little scholarship on their constitutions. These countries have seen varying socioeconomic changes in the decades since 1991, which have led in turn to constitutional changes. This book will investigate from a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective how and why the constitutional systems in these five countries have changed in the last three decades. The book then breaks the constitutional changes down into four questions: what are the substantive contents of constitutional change? what are the functions? what are the mechanisms? and what are the driving forces? These questions form a framework to process the changes the five countries have gone through, such as making new constitutions, amending current ones, introducing more rights, allowing citizens to engage in changes, enacting legislation, and defining the constitutional authority of the three state branches and their relationship with the Communist Party. While all five countries have adapted their constitutional systems, the degree, mechanisms, and influential factors are not identical and present considerable variations. This book examines and explores these differences and how they developed.

Constitutional Change in the Contemporary Socialist World offers a comprehensive and holistic view of an understudied and overlooked area of constitutional law, essential for anyone studying or working in law, politics, or policy.

The Struggle for Constitutional Power Tamir Moustafa, 2007-06-11

For nearly three decades, scholars and policymakers have placed considerable stock in judicial reform as a panacea for the political and economic turmoil plaguing developing countries. Courts are charged with spurring economic development, safeguarding human rights, and even facilitating transitions to democracy. How realistic are these expectations, and in what political contexts can judicial reforms deliver their expected benefits? This book addresses these issues through an examination of the politics of the Egyptian Supreme Constitutional Court, the most important experiment in constitutionalism in the Arab world. The Egyptian regime established a surprisingly independent constitutional court to address a series of economic and administrative pathologies that lie at the heart of authoritarian political systems. Although the Court helped the regime to institutionalize state functions and attract investment, it simultaneously opened new avenues through which rights advocates and opposition parties could challenge the regime. The book challenges conventional wisdom and provides insights into perennial questions concerning the barriers to institutional development, economic growth, and democracy in the developing world. Taiwan's Politics In Action: Struggling To Win At The Ballot Box John F. Copper, 2020-11-13. Taiwan's politics in action, struggling to win at the ballot box, is about the most interesting and exciting aspects of Taiwan's politics: political competition in the form of electioneering campaigns and voting. The author first analyzes the theories, constructs, or simply ideas about elections, especially who wins them and why. The most discussed by the pundits and the scholars are the watermelon and the pendulum theory: voting as before or not. The economic or pocketbook theory is also popular, although whether this means economic growth or greater equity has changed. Which party or candidate has the most money is also predictive. Other constructs or simply ideas are also commonplace: Divide and conquer is another approach. Another is the best campaign agenda, so too picking the most attractive candidates. Professionalism in campaigning and the use of social media are also favorite ideas. So is the appeal to voters' ethnicity, espousing liberal or conservative ideas, using protest, focusing on constant concerns such as peace and corruption, and finally the appeals of populism and progressivism. The author then examines Taiwan's two most recent elections: the 2018 mid-term or collection of local elections and the 2020 national presidential and legislative election, to apply the theories. The Nationalist Party or Kuomintang (KMT) won the former; the Democratic Progressive Party (DPP) won the latter, giving the observer a choice of evidence about how to win. The author concludes that Taiwan's democracy is being challenged but is still popular in spite of strong external forces and other worries. Constitutional Foundings in Northeast Asia Kevin YL Tan, Michael Ng, 2021-12-16. This new book in the Constitutionalism in Asia series considers the idea of origins and of change and continuity in terms of constitution making, which is an on-going process in the Northeast Asian states. The book examines the drafting, nature, core values, and roles of the first modern constitutions during the founding of the 8 modern states/territories in Northeast Asia: China 1949, Taiwan 1947, Hong Kong SAR 1997, Macau SAR 1999, Japan 1889, North Korea 1948, and 1972, South Korea 1948, and Mongolia 1924. The collection provides an exploratory description of the process and substantive inputs in the making of the first constitutions of these nations/territories, analysis of the internal and external, including intra-regional forces surrounding the making of these constitutions, and theoretical construction of models to conceptualise the nature and role of the first constitutions, including constituent documents, in the founding of the modern nation states/territories and their subsequent impact on state building in the region. The Modern Chinese State David Shambaugh, 2000-05-08.
