Reading Hollywood Spaces And Meanings In American Film:

Reading Hollywood Deborah Thomas, 2019-07-25 This book examines the treatment of space and narrative in a selection of classic films including My Darling Clementine, It's a Wonderful Life and Vertigo. Deborah Thomas employs a variety of arguments in exploring the reading of space and its meaning in Hollywood cinema and film generally. Topics covered include the importance of space in defining genre such as the necessity of an urban landscape for a gangster film to be a gangster film, the ambiguity of offscreen space and spectatorship, how an audience reads an unseen but inferred setting, and the use of spatially disruptive cinematic techniques such as flashback to construct meaning. Spaces Mapped and Monstrous Nick

Jones, 2020-04-21 Digital 3D has become a core feature of the twenty-first century visual landscape. Yet 3D cinema is a contradictory media form producing spaces that are highly regimented and exhaustively detailed; it simultaneously relies upon distortions of vision and space that are inherently strange. Spaces Mapped and Monstrous explores the paradoxical nature of 3D cinema to offer a critical analysis of an inescapable part of contemporary culture. Considering 3D's distinctive visual qualities and its connections to wider digital systems, Nick Jones situates the production and exhibition of 3D cinema within a web of aesthetic, technological, and historical contexts. He examines 3D's relationship with computer interfaces, virtual reality, and digital networks, as well as tracing its lineage to predigital models of visual organization. Jones emphasizes that 3D is not only a technology used in films but also a tool for producing, controlling, and distorting space within systems of surveillance, corporatization, and militarization. The book features detailed analysis of a wide range of films, including Avatar (2009), Goodbye to Language (2014), Love (2015), and Clash of the Titans (2010), demonstrating that 3D is not merely an augmentation of 2D cinema but that it has its own unique properties. Spaces Mapped and Monstrous brings together media archaeology, digital theory, and textual analysis to provide a new account of the importance of 3D to visual culture today.

Silent Cinema Lawrence Napper, 2017-09-05 Since the spectacular success of The Artist (2011), there has been a resurgence of interest in silent cinema, and particularly in the lush and passionate screen dramas of the 1920s. This book offers an introduction to the cinema of this extraordinary period, outlining the development of the form between the end of the First World War and the introduction of synchronized sound at the end of the 1920s. Lawrence Napper addresses the relationship between film aesthetics and the industrial and political contexts of film production through a series of case studies of national cinemas. It also focuses on film going as the most popular leisure activity of the age. Topics such as the star system, cinema buildings, musical accompaniments, film fashions, and fan cultures are addressed, all the elements that ensured that the experience of the pictures was big. The international dominance of Hollywood is outlined, as are the different responses to that dominance in Britain, Germany, and the USSR. Case studies seek to move beyond the familiar silent canon and include The Oyster Princess (1919), It (1927), Shooting Stars (1927), and The Girl with the Hatbox (1927). The Language and Style of Film Criticism Andrew Klevan, Alex Clayton, 2011-04-26 The Language and Style of Film Criticism brings together original essays from an international range of academics and film critics highlighting the achievements complexities and potential of film criticism In recent years in contrast to the theoretical historical and cultural study of film film criticism has been relatively marginalised especially within the academy This book highlights the distinctiveness of film criticism and addresses ways in which it can take a more central place within the academy and develop in dynamic ways outside it The Language and Style of Film Criticism is essential reading for academics teachers students and journalists who wish to understand and appreciate the language and style of film criticism

Wilson, 2011-10-27 What happens when we view a movie Do we actually see the fiction and if so how Literary fiction is recounted by a voice of some sort the narrator George M Wilson explores the strategies of cinematic narration and argues that this prompts viewers to imagine seeing and hearing events in the fictional world From Tinseltown to Bordertown Celestino Deleyto, 2017-04-03 Close readings that look for the real Los Angeles in a selection of contemporary movies Los Angeles is a global metropolis whose history and social narrative is linked to one of its top exports cinema L A appears on screen more than almost any city since Hollywood and is home to the American film industry Historically conversations of social and racial homogeneity have dominated the construction of Los Angeles as a cosmopolitan city with

Hollywood films largely contributing to this image At the same time the city is also known for its steady immigration social inequalities and exclusionary urban practices not dissimilar to any other borderland in the world The Spanish names and sounds within the city are paradoxical in relation to the striking invisibility of its Hispanic residents at many economic social and political levels given their vast numbers Additionally the impact of the 1992 Los Angeles riots left the city raw yet brought about changing discourses and provided Hollywood with the opportunity to rebrand its hometown by projecting to the world a new image in which social uniformity is challenged by diversity It is for this reason that author Celestino Deleyto decided to take a closer look at how the quintessential cinematic city contributes to the ongoing creation of its own representation on the screen From Tinseltown to Bordertown Los Angeles on Film starts from the theoretical premise that place matters Deleyto sees film as predominantly a spatial system and argues that the space of film and the space of reality are closely intertwined in complex ways and that we should acknowledge the potential of cinema to intervene in the historical process of the construction of urban space as well as its ability to record place The author asks to what extent this is also the city that is being constructed by contemporary movies From Tinseltown to Bordertown offers a unique combination of urban cultural and border theory as well as the author's direct observation and experience of the city's social and human geography with close readings of a selection of films such as Falling Down White Men Can't Jump and Collateral Through these textual analyses Deleyto tries to situate filmic narratives of Los Angeles within the city itself and find a sense of the real place in their fictional fabrications While in a certain sense Los Angeles movies continue to exist within the rather exclusive boundaries of Tinseltown the special borderliness of the city is becoming more and more evident in cinematic stories Deleyto's monograph is a fascinating case study on one of the United States most enigmatic cities Film scholars with an interest in history and place will appreciate this book

BOOK JACKET Religion and Film Melanie Wright, 2006-10-27 From silent films to contemporary blockbusters religion has always proved a popular theme for the cinema However all too often religion and film are discussed from narrowly confessional perspectives with the result that the field has long been dominated by the question of a film's fidelity to a religious text or worldview or its value as a tool in ministry and mission Religion and Film An Introduction seeks to redress this balance and argues for a new holistic approach to the subject that draws on work from cultural studies religious studies and film studies alike Wright argues that the meanings of a film are not encoded by its textual organisation but are bound up with its interpretation by viewers in specific contexts Focusing on religiously diverse films like The Ten Commandments La Passion de Jeanne d Arc Kadosh Lagaan My Son the Fanatic Keeping the Faith The Wicker Man and Mel Gibson's The Passion of The Christ the author looks at varied screen representations of religion at films shaped by strong convictions about the place of religion in society and at the roles that audiences play as consumers of film The book will have strong appeal to students as well as general readers interested in all aspects of the inter relationship of religion and the cinema
