Reading Paul Valry Universe In Mind:

Reading Paul Valéry Paul Gifford, Brian Stimpson, 1998 Originally published in 1999 this was the first comprehensive account of the work of the French modernist writer Paul Valéry

Juvenescence Robert Pogue Harrison, 2014-11-21 How old are we those of us who belong to the postwar era By many measures both evolutionary and cultural we are older than ever But we are also getting startlingly younger in looks attire behavior mentality desires We belong Robert Harrison says to an age of juvenescence Juvenescence is about the ways in which the spirits of youth and age have coexisted and shaped each other both in individuals and culture from the time of antiquity to the present It is also a book that asks what it means for the future when youth gains the upper hand to the unprecedented degree it has today Our way of aging Harrison argues resembles the scientific concept of neoteny the retention of immature characteristics into adulthood We mature but with a still tenacious youthfulness driving drives toward innovation rather than reflection genius rather than wisdom At its best human maturity has its source in the youth it brings to fruition And yet our protracted youth Harrison suggests is a luxury that can be supported only by our elders and the institutions they build Although Harrison believes echoing Stephen Jay Gould that our genius as a species lies in our collective reluctance to grow up he argues that we are today in a phase of radical juvenalization that allows no space for the kind of wisdom that builds upon the past

Art and knowledge after 1900 James Fox, Vid Simoniti, 2023-12-12 This ground breaking new history of modern art explores the relationship between art and knowledge from the beginning of the twentieth century to the present day Each chapter examines artistic responses to a particular discipline of knowledge from quantum theory and theosophy to cybernetics and ethnic futurisms The authors argue that art's incursion into other intellectual disciplines is a defining characteristic of both modernism and postmodernism Throughout the volume poses a series of larger questions is art a source of knowledge If so what kind of knowledge And ultimately can it contribute to our understanding of the world in ways that thinkers from other fields should take seriously

Literature, Art and the Pursuit of Decay in Twentieth-Century France Timothy Mathews, 2006-01-19 Mathews examines work by writers and painters working in France in the twentieth century

Orientalism in French Classical Drama Michèle Longino, 2006-03-16 Michèle Longino examines the ways in which Mediterranean exoticism inflects the themes represented in French classical drama Longino explores plays by Corneille Molière and Racine Le Cid Médée and Le bourgeois gentilhomme among others She offers a consideration of the role the staging of the near Orient played in shaping a sense of French colonial identity Drawing on histories travel journals memoirs and correspondence and bringing together literary and historical concerns Longino considers these dramatisations in the context of French Ottoman relations at the time of their production

Nathalie Sarraute, Fiction and Theory Ann Jefferson, 2000-07-03 Nathalie Sarraute 1900-99 is regarded as one of the major French novelists of the twentieth century Initially hailed as a leading theorist and exemplar of the nouveau roman she has come to be regarded as an important author in her own right with her own distinctive concerns In this major 2000 study of Sarraute the first in English since her death Ann Jefferson offers a fresh perspective on Sarraute s entire oeuvre her novels her outstanding autobiography Enfance and her influential critical writings by focusing on the crucial issue of difference which emerges as one of her central preoccupations Drawing on a variety of critical approaches Jefferson explores Sarraute s fundamental ambivalence to differences of various kinds including questions of gender and genre She argues that difference is simultaneously asserted and denied in Sarraute s work and that the notion of difference so often celebrated by other writers and thinkers is shown in Sarraute s work to be inseparable from ambiguity and anxiety

God's Mirror Katherine Davies,Toby Garfitt,2014-12-01 Gathering in one place a cohesive selection of articles that deepen our sense of the vitality and controversy within the Catholic renewal of the mid twentieth century God's Mirror offers historical analysis of French Catholic intellectuals This volume highlights the work of writers thinkers and creative artists who have not always drawn the attention given to such luminaries as Maritain Mounier and Marcel Organized around the typologies of renewal and engagement editors Katherine Davies and Toby Garfitt provide a revisionist and interdisciplinary reading of the narrative of twentieth century French Catholicism Renewal and engagement are both manifestations of how the Catholic intellectual reflects and takes position on the relationship between the Church personal faith and the world and on the increasingly problematic relationship between intellectuals and the Magisterium A majority of the writings are based on extensive research into published texts with some occasional archival references and they give critical insights into the tensions that characterized the theological and political concerns of their subjects

Skepticism and Impersonality in Modern Poetry V. Joshua Adams,2025-06-12 Modern literature is often described in terms of its impersonality What is the significance of this fact In Skepticism and Impersonality V Joshua Adams follows the history of impersonality in modern poetry from Mallarm and Eliot through to the present engaging with work by major poets and critics but also contemporary philosophers Rather than seeing impersonality exclusively as a literary historical phenomenon Adams argues that we should understand it as an attempt to address skeptical problems arising from the limitations of first person experience Defending impersonality as a response to skeptical problems including doubts about the publicity of our experiences our knowledge of other minds the capacity of our language to describe the world the relationship between mind and body and the fictionality and continuity of our sense of self Adams analyzes what he calls experiments in impersonality as means of working through skeptical doubt The writers discussed transform this doubt into art whilst also ironizing it as corrosive and self defeating Ultimately this leads Adams to reinterpret literary impersonality as a therapeutic philosophical project Skepticism and Impersonality promises a new theoretical justification for our practical interest in literary texts to renovate our conception of how those texts might do philosophical work and to expand our sense of what a philosophical poem can be

Disarming Intelligence Zakir Paul,2024-08-13 A critical account of the idea of intelligence in modern French literature and thought In the late nineteenth century psychologists and philosophers became intensely interested in the possibility of quantifying measuring and evaluating intelligence and using it to separate and compare individuals Disarming Intelligence analyzes how this polyvalent term was consolidated and contested in competing discourses from fin de siècle psychology and philosophy to literature criticism and cultural polemics around the First World War Zakir Paul examines how Marcel Proust Henri Bergson Paul Valéry and the critics of the influential Nouvelle revue française registered negotiated and subtly countered the ways intelligence was invoked across the political and aesthetic spectrum For these writers intelligence fluctuates between an individual sovereign faculty for analyzing the world and something collective accidental and contingent Disarming Intelligence shows how literary and critical styles questioned suspended and reimagined what intelligence could be by bringing elements of uncertainty and potentiality into its horizon The book also explores interwar political tensions from the extreme right to Walter Benjamin's engaged essays on contemporary French writers Finally a brief coda recasts current debates about artificial intelligence by comparing them to these earlier crises of intelligence By drawing together and untangling competing conceptions of intelligence Disarming Intelligence exposes its mercurial but influential and urgent role in literary and cultural politics

Voice in Later Medieval English Literature David Lawton, 2017 David Lawton approaches later medieval English vernacular culture in terms of voice As texts and discourses shift in translation and in use from one language to another antecedent texts are revoiced in ways that recreate them as public interiorities without effacing their history or future The approach yields important insights into the voice work of late medieval poets especially Langland and Chaucer and also their fifteenth century successors who treat their work as they have treated their precursors It also helps illuminate vernacular religious writing and its aspirations and it addresses literary and cultural change such as the effect of censorship and increasing political instability in and beyond the fifteenth century Lawton also proposes his emphasis on voice as a literary tool of broad application and his book has a bold and comparative sweep that encompasses the Pauline letters Augustine's Confessions the classical precedents of Virgil and Ovid medieval contemporaries like Machaut and Petrarch extra literary artists like Monteverdi later poets such as Wordsworth Heaney and Paul Valéry and moderns such as Jarry and Proust What justifies such parallels the author claims is that late medieval texts constitute the foundation of a literary history of voice that extends to modernity The book's energy is therefore devoted to the transformative reading of later medieval texts in order to show their original and ongoing importance as voice work

Unselfing Michaela Hulstyn, 2022-08-31 Altered states of consciousness including experiences of deprivation pain hallucination fear desire alienation and spiritual transcendence can transform the ordinary experience of selfhood Unselfing explores the nature of disruptive self experiences and the different shapes they have taken in literary writing The book focuses on the tension between rival conceptions of unselfing as either a form of productive self transcendence or a form of alienating self loss Michaela Hulstyn explores the shapes and meanings of unselfing through the framework of the global French literary world encompassing texts by modernist figures in France and Belgium alongside writers from Algeria

Rwanda and Morocco Together these diverse texts prompt a re evaluation of the consequences of the loss or the transcendence of the self Through a series of close readings Hulstyn offers a new account of the ethical questions raised by altered states and shows how philosophies of empathy can be tested against and often challenged by literary works Drawing on cognitive science and phenomenology Unselfing provides a new methodology for approaching texts that give shape to the fringes of conscious experience

Writing Marginality in Modern French Literature Edward J. Hughes, 2001-04-23 Writing Marginality in Modern French Literature first published in 2001 explores how cultural centres require the peripheral the outlawed and the deviant in order to define and bolster themselves It analyses the hierarchies of cultural value which inform the work of six modern French writers the exoticist Pierre Loti Paul Gauguin whose Noa Noa enacts European fantasies about Polynesia Proust who analyses such exemplary figures of exclusion and inclusion as the homosexual and the xenophobe Montherlant who claims to subvert colonialist values in La Rose de sable Camus who pleads an alienating detachment from the cultures of both metropolitan France and Algeria and Jean Genet Crucially Genet who was typecast as France's moral pariah in charting Palestinian statelessness in his last work Un Captif amoureux 1986 reflects ethically on the dispossession of the Other and the violence inherent in the West's marginalization of cultural difference

Gender, Rhetoric, and Print Culture in French Renaissance Writing Floyd Gray, 2000-05-25 In this book Floyd Gray explores how the treatment of controversial subjects in French Renaissance writing was affected both by rhetorical conventions and by the commercial requirements of an expanding publishing industry Focusing on a wide range of discourses on gender issues misogynist feminist autobiographical homosexual and medical Gray reveals the extent to which these marginalized texts reflect literary concerns rather than social reality He then moves from a close analysis of the rhetorical factor in the Querelle des femmes to consider ways in which writing as a textual phenomenon inscribes its own sometimes ambiguous meaning Gray offers richly detailed readings of writing by Rabelais Jean Flore Montaigne Louise Lab Pernet du Guillet and Marie de Gournay among others challenging the inherent anachronism of those forms of criticism that fail to take account of the rhetorical and cultural conditions of the period

Women's Writing in Nineteenth-Century France Alison Finch, 2000-08-10 This is the most complete critical survey to date of women's literature in nineteenth century France Alison Finch's wide ranging analysis of some 60 writers reflects the rich diversity of a century that begins with Mme de Staël's cosmopolitanism and ends with Rachilde's perverse eroticism. Finch's study brings out the contribution not only of major figures like George Sand but also of many other talented and important writers who have been unjustly rejected including Flora Tristan, Claire de Duras and Delphine de Girardin. Her account opens new perspectives on the interchange between male and female authors and on women's literary traditions during the period. She discusses popular and serious writing: fiction, verse, drama, memoirs, journalism, feminist polemic, historiography, travelogues, children's tales, religious and political thought, often brave innovative texts linked to women's social and legal status in an oppressive society. Extensive reference features include bibliographical guides to texts and writers.
